andy, this well, gone by ure has gone by
ost. I see no like been best friends
ar ago, but actually shared even a year. I have not some my most treasured secrets with you and I guess I sound out common than most friends. I sincerely wish next year won't be as messed up as this year. I seemed like we all were in Dumplingsville. But I guess like parents always say "that's adolescence" Right? Right. Well, it's a blast.
seems like this summer is really gonna be a blast.
especially with two beautiful babes. I'm usually up with good a girls we can be. Well, I'm usually up with your space. But from the bottom of my heart I wish you the best of luck, happiness, and wisdom all of way through High School.

That's right son.
I'm still in

The Mixture . . . As Before

A schedule in the mail, first day appearances, new faces, old faces, the naive and the experienced, the "not-so-bad-after-all" teacher, locker combinations, school buses, the madness at 2:30 . . .

. . . crisp wind, a kaleidoscope of falling leaves, crowds gathering, cheers, the gun sounds, the match begins . . .

The Homecoming Court: Charlynn Bennett, Senior Attendant; Peggy Dowling, Queen; Arline Camm, Junior Attendant; Jane Babbitt, Sophomore Attendant.

... hectic preparation, the first dance, the Fall play, nominations, elections, pep rallies, assemblies, queens ...

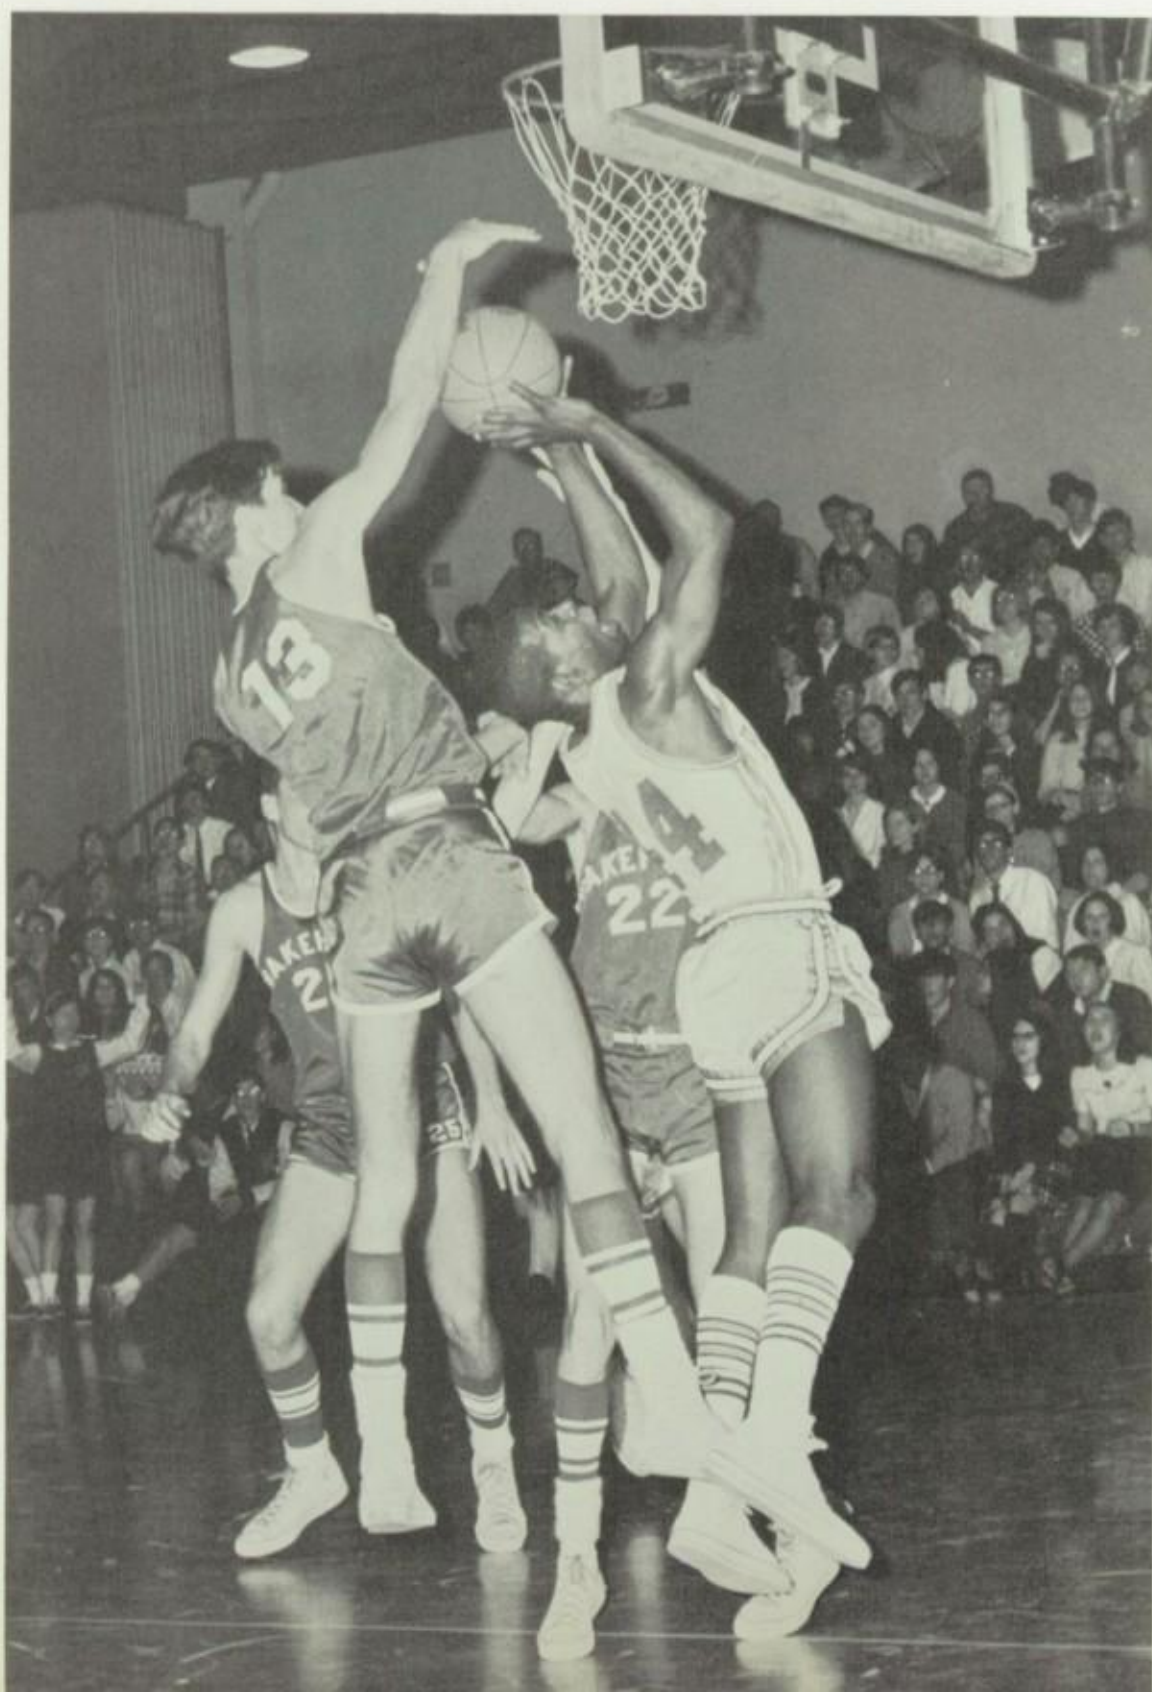

Cindy Vanden Heuval, Queen of W-L Pep Rally.

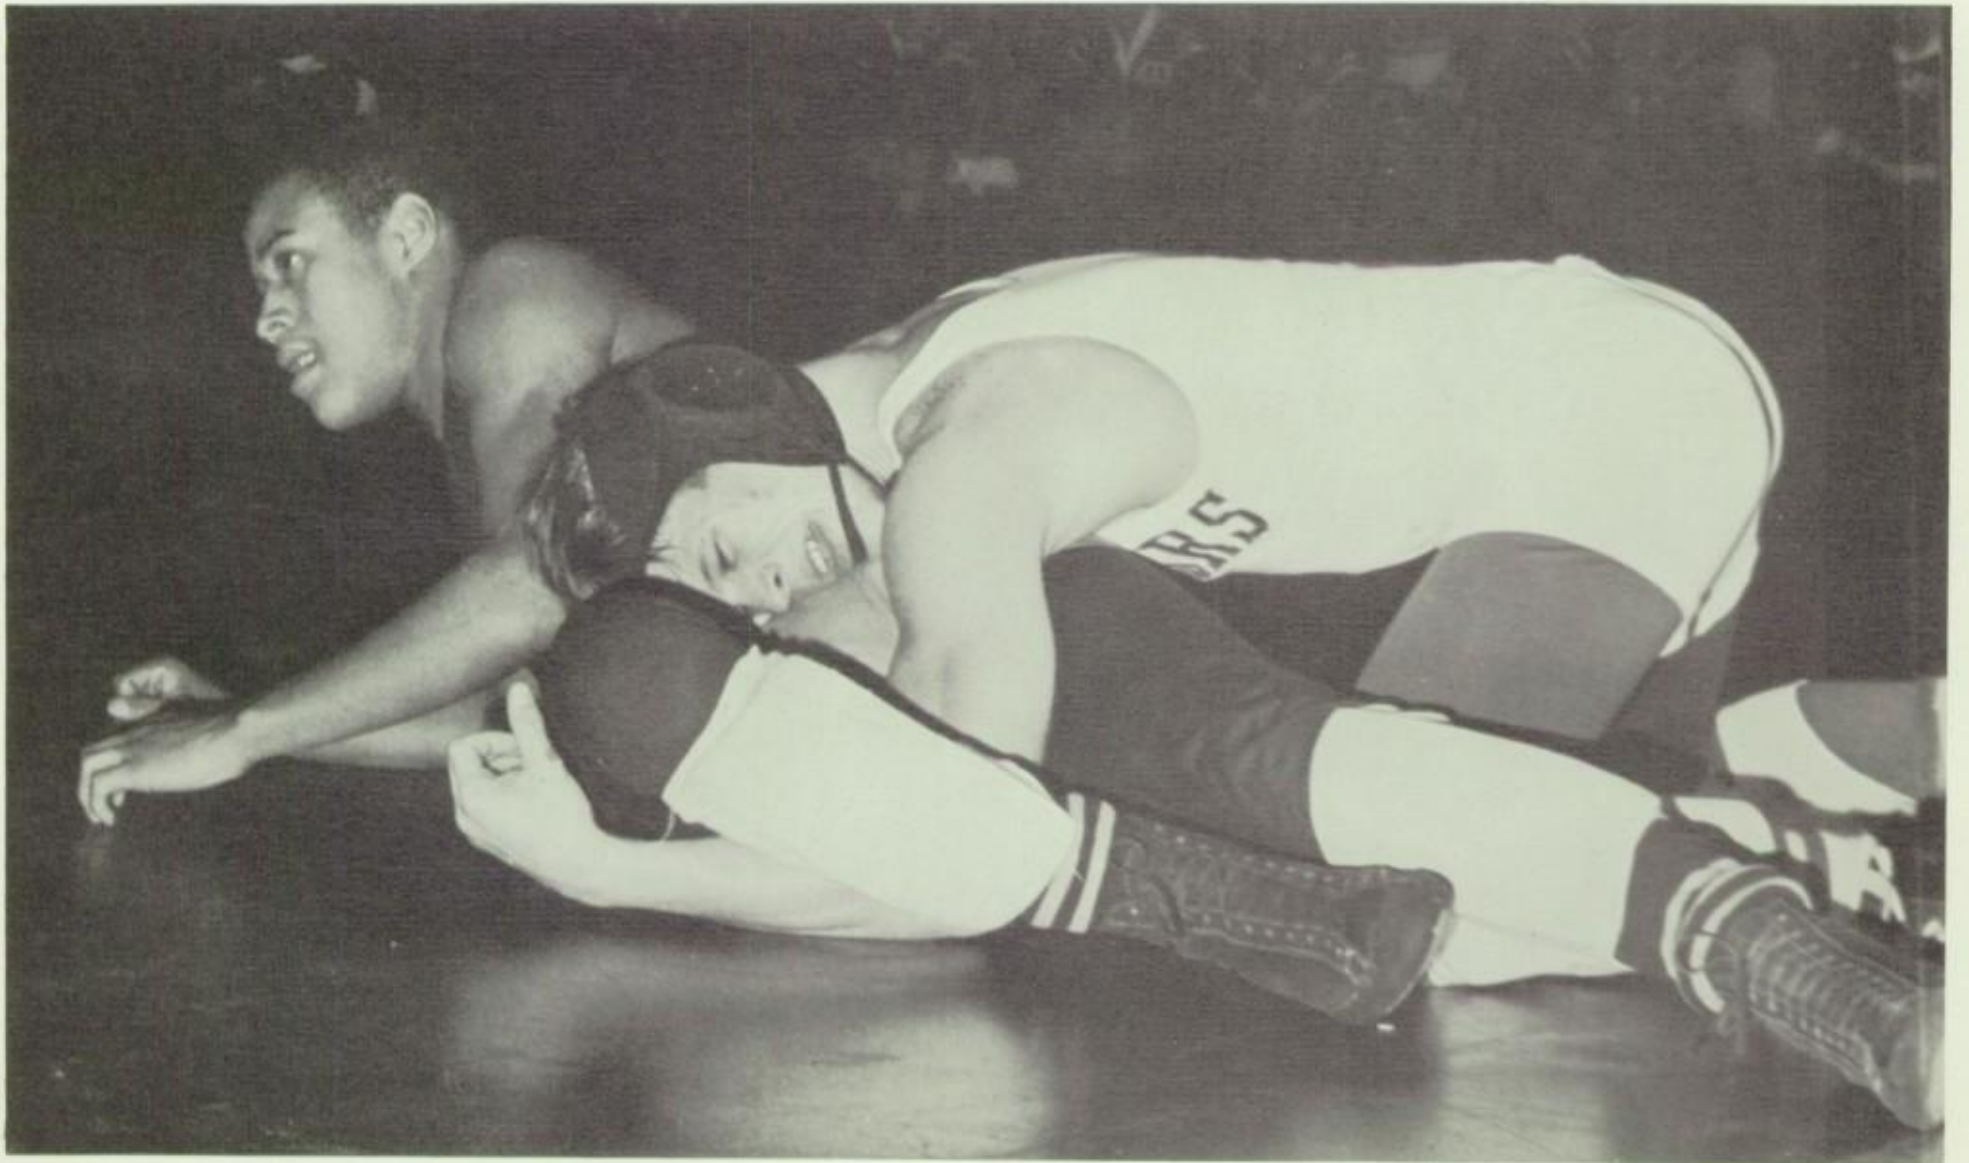

Bitter mornings at the bus stop, casual acquaintances now good friends, a smiling Santa Claus on a door, anticipation of that week out of school, midyear monotony, the thought of a "new year" . . .

The thundering sound of a fast break, silence of floor exercises, muscles tensed against man or apparatus, the clean sound of a swish, silence one moment, pandemonium the next, a race against the clock, the win secured . . .

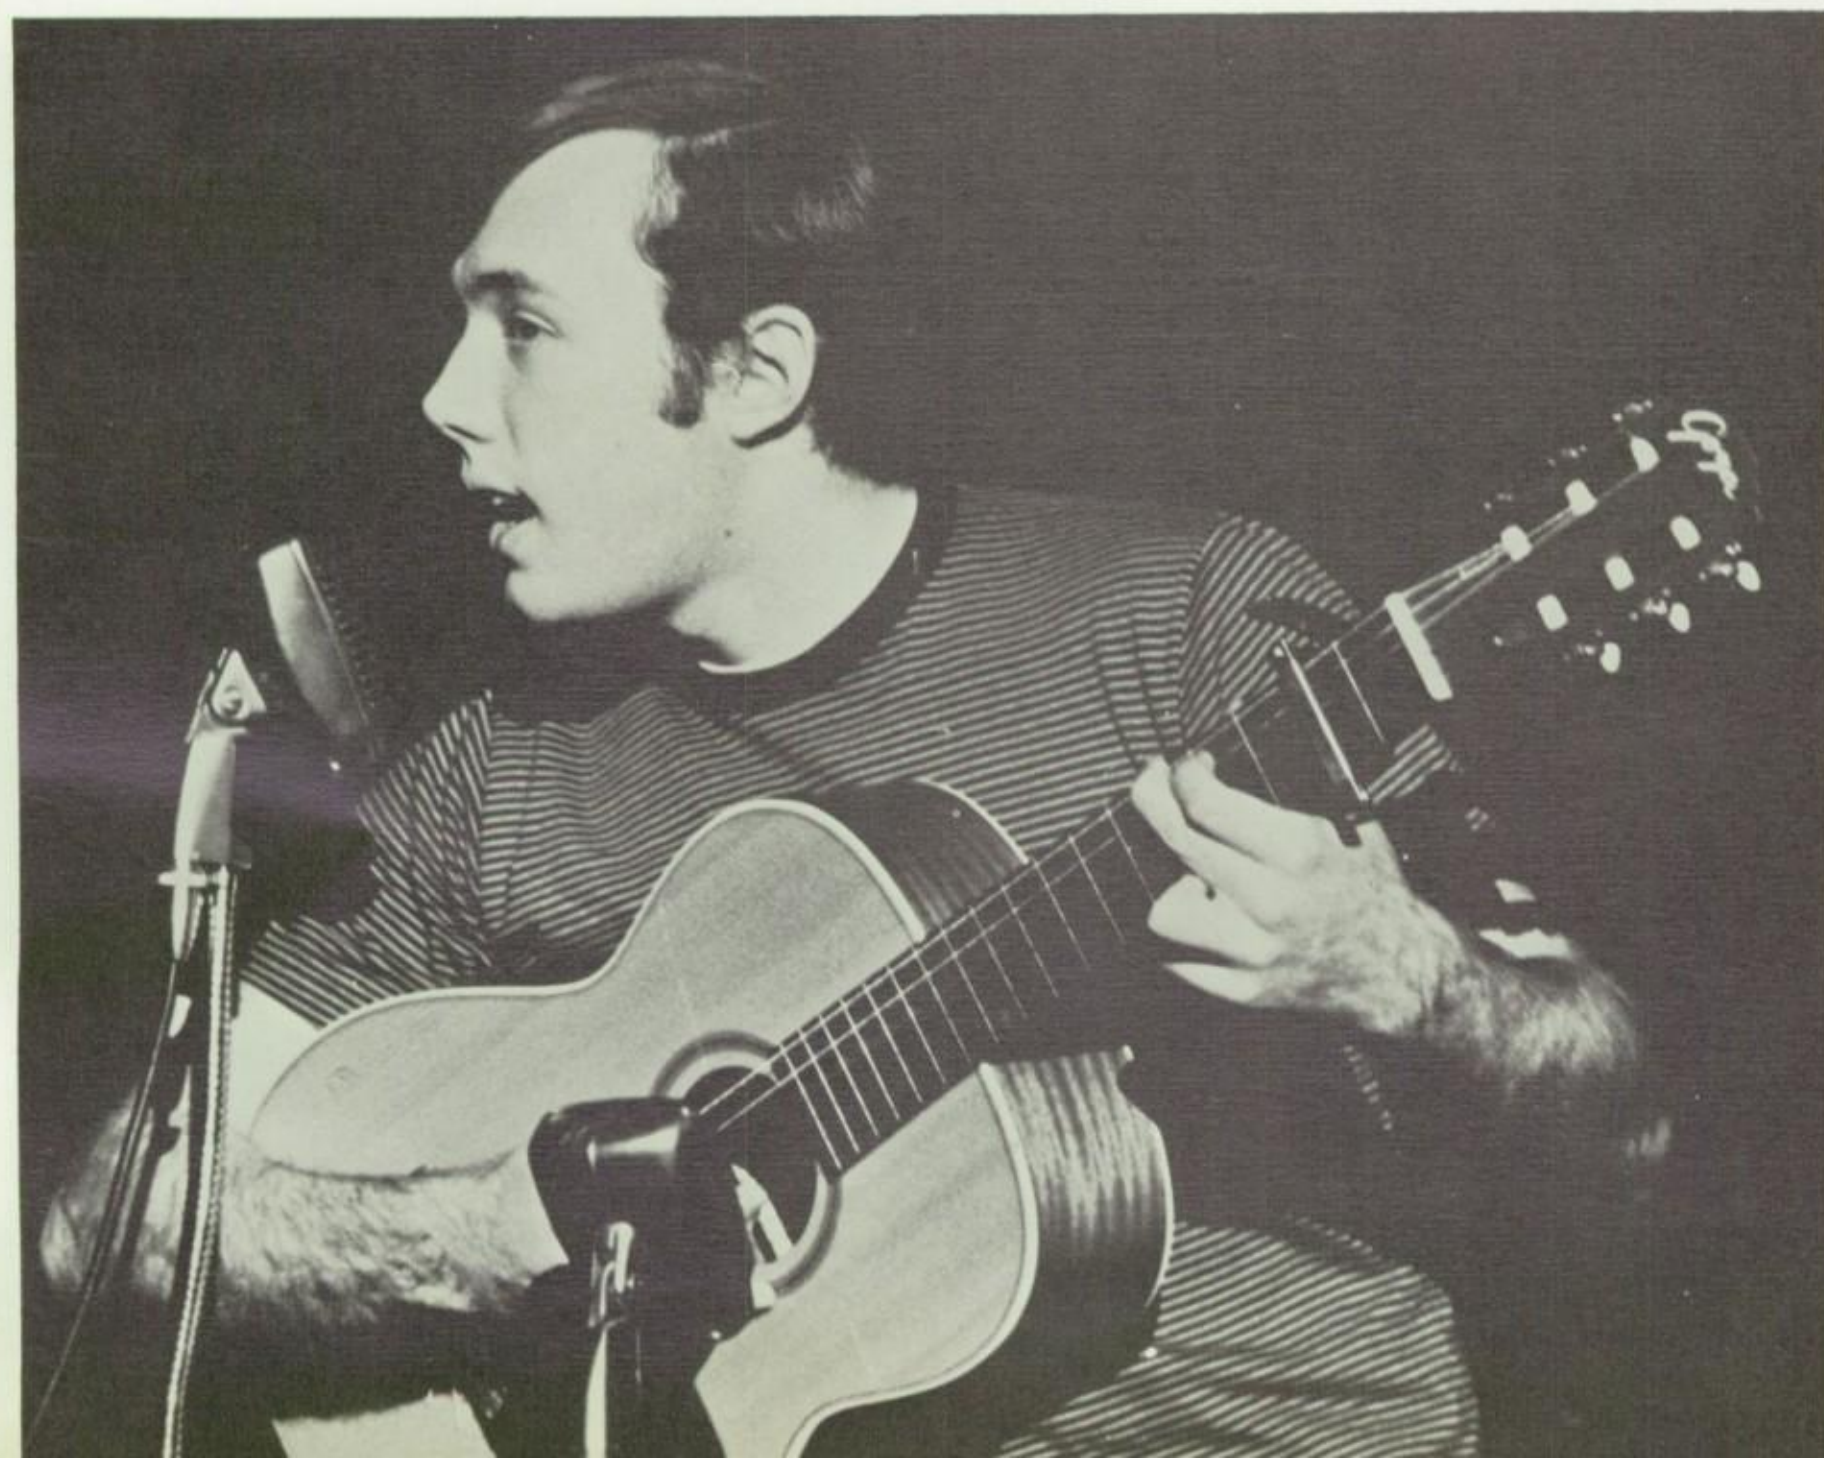

Wakefield's sweethearts — Jenni Castle, 1st runner up; Peggy O'Halloran, Queen; and Nancy Lee, 2nd runner-up.

After-game-dances, the excitement of a turn-on song, election of Wakefield's first sweetheart, the antics of "Varsity Tomfoolery," the annual talent show . . .

. . . the first snow, the exciting possibility of a snow day, the discouragement of having to go to school anyway . . . routine schooldays, will summer ever come?

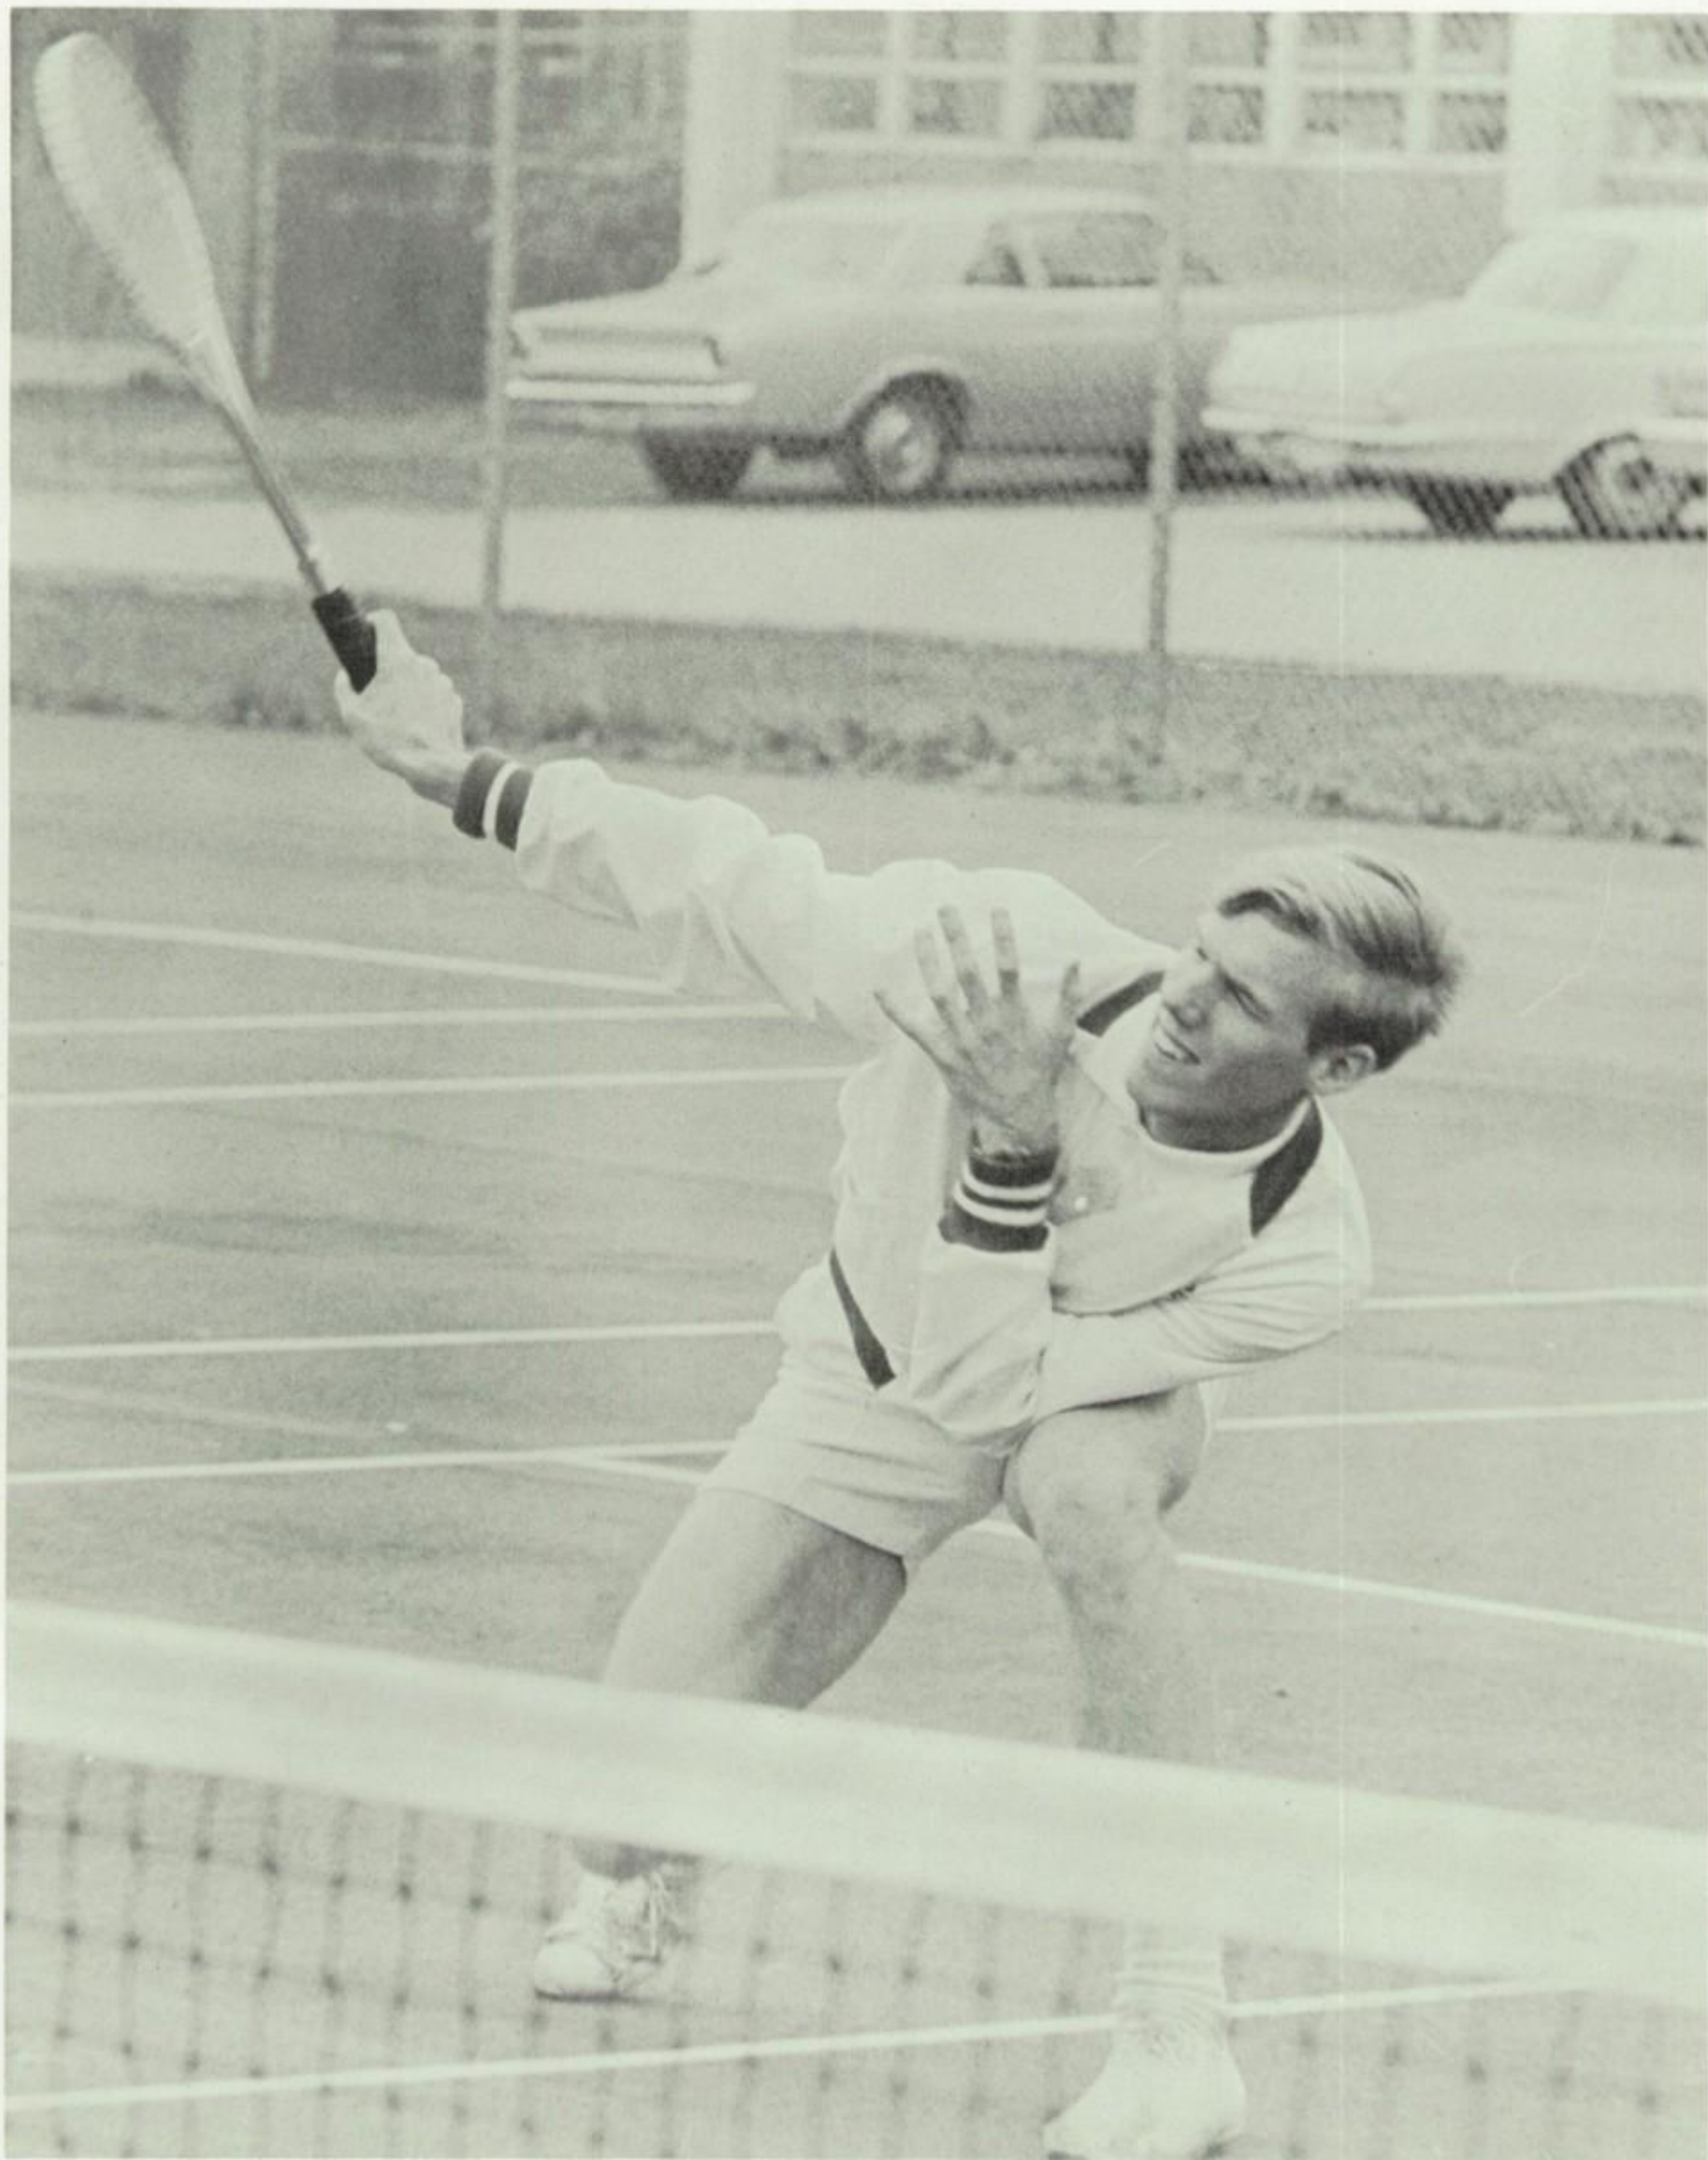

Ah, Spring! Wakefield feels the breezes and the draft, flower power in full bloom, court proves barometer of weather, sandals and shorts and the rules get in each other's way . . .

General Louis B. Hershey

A cloud of dust . . . safe or out?
"Love" is their racket, speed on the cinders, or blisters on feet, faults on asphalt, dead heat on a cinder track, gopher balls bound . . .

Seniors "desoul" Juniors, curtains up on sleeping George, Optimi sponsors a game of tag and a ritual dance to celebrate the winners . . .

CLASS OF 1968

A Senior is

- . . . underwhelmed over Senior privileges
- . . . someone who has memorized Lovejoy's College Guide
- . . . someone who builds a snowman in the court
- . . . an expert at legally skipping
- . . . someone who wishes Macbeth would murder Hamlet
- . . . stunned at the thought of graduation
- . . . broke from dues
- . . . taking off for Ocean City after the Senior Prom
- . . . headed to the bottom of a new totem pole

The End To A Long Road

As they do to all classes, the rewards and responsibilities of being Seniors finally came to the class of 1968. "Can W-L" was the Senior Class motto as their float took an honorable mention in the annual W-L Pep Rally.

Hoping to start a new tradition, the class established the first class flag. To supply Senoir Prom funds a spaghetti dinner and an after the game dance were held. In June, the enchanted wand of Merlin touched the Girl's Gym and transformed it into a courtyard scene from Camelot, which provided the scenery for their prom.

Wayne Richardson "hems and haws" as one Senior questions the true value of the Class of '68's privileges at their annual fall assembly.

We Look To Our Leader...

Wakefield High School serves as an effective laboratory in which students learn to cope with some of the complex problems of today. The program of the school is rich and varied—the student body is diverse. It is our hope that each student, as a result of his experiences here, will be better prepared to meet the challenges of the future.

In the year just past I have been well pleased by the increased awareness by students of the problems of the school and the community. I hope that this concern will become the pattern of your lives.

To the class which is graduating, I say, thank you. The success of this year would not have been possible without your active leadership and support.

To those who remain, I look forward to our continued association.

I am confident that we shall continue to develop more effective means for student participation in the programs of school. It is our hope to provide increased opportunity for self direction on the part of the student as he searches for excellence in education. In the coming year we will explore some of the implications of the concept in depth and hope to develop new approaches to the problems of learning.

DR. HENRY A. RENZ, Principal
The George Washington University

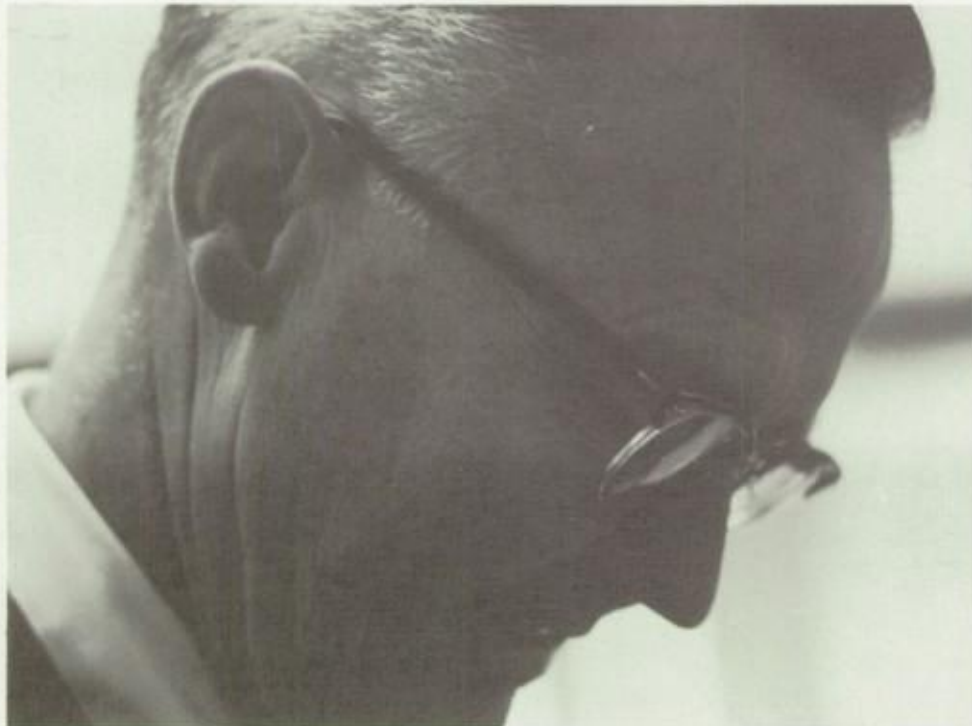

Wakefield's Principal, Dr. Henry Renz, attained his position through a series of local achievements. After graduation from Arlington's Washington-Lee High School, he went on to George Washington University to receive his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1954. The next six years were spent as a history teacher here at Wakefield. During this period, he found time to return to George Washington and receive his Masters Degree in Administration. 1960 saw Dr. Renz appointed Assistant Principal and five years later he was named Wakefield's principal.

And His Outstanding Assistants.

MRS. MARY STOUT

Mrs. Natalie Hawk, Wakefield's switchboard operator, has been of invaluable service. She had the responsibility of receiving all calls which came into the school, and of being certain they reached their proper destination.

Mrs. P. Pascoe once again was in charge of the Central Attendance Office. Wakefield's many students came to this office when in need of an admittance card or an early departure from school.

This year our Registrar, Mrs. Stout, had the task of keeping an account of all college transcripts. This task was coupled with handling the records of all transfer students.

There was never a dull moment for Wakefield's Secretarial Staff. Many of the administrative details were taken care of by the secretaries.

Mrs. Davies was secretary to the Principal, Dr. Renz, while Mrs. Lokey was responsible for the work of Mr. Cabelus, Associate Principal.

In the grade level offices, Mrs. Parker handled the matters of the Seniors, under Mr. Kulick; the work of the Junior class Administrator, Mr. Lewis was done by Mrs. Adams, and Mrs. Fowler took care of work for Mr. Blue, Assistant Principal for the Sophomores.

Mrs. Bigelow was the secretary in the Guidance Office, and Mrs. Morgan was the Guidance secretary in the main office.

Guidance Department Gets Reshuffled

Mr. Francis Washington, Catholic University.

A little friendly guidance is given to Mitch Moorehead from Mrs. Stough.

As always the Guidance Department was kept busy this past year. It was responsible for administering both the PSAT and the College Boards. College Night, which was planned jointly with Washington-Lee and was held at Washington-Lee in October, was organized by the Guidance Department. This program gave students an opportunity to speak with various College representatives from many schools throughout the country.

Cupid caused havoc in the Department this year when Miss Georgie Blackwell got married, and resigned as the Director of Guidance in December. Her duties were taken on by Mrs. Margery Edson, who has been at Wakefield since September, 1958, first as a Physical Education and Health teacher, then later as a counselor.

Students Explore and Research

The library at Wakefield was constantly expanding its book supply. In this way, it kept up with progress and advancements concerning the entire world. In addition to books, Wakefield's Library offered a multitude of educational films, magazines, newspapers and records.

The Librarians at Wakefield were known to enforce strict discipline regarding talking. An unknowing student caught talking may have faced a temporary suspension from the Library.

Did you feel full, depressed? Did tension put nerves on end? Did you get Excedrin headache number 24 (the pop quiz)? At times like this the clinic proved to be a welcome relief to Wakefield's students. Mrs. Marjorie Kent, a registered nurse, her aide, Mrs. Helen Hammond supervised the clinic. They were able to treat those who were slightly ill or those who needed emergency first-aid. Aside from their daily work, these women were also in charge of the height, weight, vision, and audiometer hearing tests.

Bulletin Boards and display cases filled with creations ranging from collages to oil paintings exemplified the talent of many students. These reflected the creativity and imagination of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Through the media of chalk, paints, charcoals, and various other techniques, the classes were able to generate enthusiasm to the student body.

A knowledge of the fundamentals of business is allegedly an essential part of every aspiring business tycoon's education. The Business Education Department provides the means for junior "execs" who wish to develop vocational skills in such creative areas as shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, data processing and office machines. Business Law, Economics and General Business were available for students who wished to get hip on developing a better understanding of our economic system as well as on managing their private enterprises. Many students enrolled in Notehand and Personal Typing in order to develop their personal use skills. College-bound students who aspire to a major in accounting, business administration or who plan to teach business subjects enrolled in many of the Business Education courses. Vocational Office Training was an important work-training program for students who wished to gain experience in offices while still in high school.

"I don't care if the fastest man in the world does type with just two fingers, you're not!" responds Mrs. Lilla Marsh.

From Silas And Heathcliff To Hamlet

The English Department has more teachers and more classes than any other department in the school. Already armed with AP, AEM, and other innovative schemes, the department, under Miss Richmond, spent much of its spare time this year seeking even newer and even more diabolical ways of making our language useful and meaningful to us. If such devotion and energy are allowed to continue, future students will be faced with the horrible prospect of liking to take English!

Reading is another important skill for success in later life. This Sophomore and Junior course given without credit enabled students to improve and strengthen their ability in this field.

Through courses in Journalism and Creative Writing, students were able to develop writing skills they will be able to use later in life. Students in the Journalism class learned the mechanics of newspaper and other publication work. These students may possibly go on to work on the SIGNAL or STARSTONE Staffs.

Under Mr. Boyd's leadership and guidance students were able to study acting, directing, design, and make-up. In addition, the classes had the opportunity to write plays. Also, many of these students become active in the fall and spring plays.

To Speak In Many Tongues

The Foreign Language Department at Wakefield has had a busy year. The language student was able to choose from French, Spanish or German taught in the Audio-Lingual Method, or Latin taught by the traditional method. Developing skills in speaking, reading, and writing the language were stressed. This year the French classes went to see "A Man and A Woman" as one of their outside activities. During the year, a variety of attractive bulletin boards, done in the language, custom and styles of the countries decorated the halls. One of the highlights of the year, was the participation of the foreign language classes, clubs and honor societies in the annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony. At this time traditional Christmas songs of the countries were sung.

"Más despacio por favor" (slower please) says Mr. Ascunce as he leads the class in drills.

"How do I say that in French?" muses Miss Elwell.

Clothing And Food Set The Mood

Home Economics offered many opportunities at Wakefield, since the Department is the largest in the county. The courses, ranging from Child Development and Housing to the traditional courses in Foods and Clothing all gave students an opportunity to develop skills and attitudes which will help them in every area of homemaking and family relations. The Senior Home-making course was unique in the way in which it touched on almost all phases of the study of Home Economics. The students gained knowledge in such fields as consumer education, home and money management, and furniture design and style. Wakefield is the only high school offering this kind of course.

Also, this year the Department was no longer for girls only. It was invaded by almost 40 boys who enrolled in the foods classes alone.

"I'm really hooked on you!" proclaims Mr. Charles Hall.

The World Of Tools And Crafts

Diversity was the key word in the Industrial Arts Department. The teachers endeavored to stimulate an interest in this field in all students involved in the world of tools and crafts.

Through a varied program students had the opportunity to engage in such courses as printing, wood or metal working, and electronics. Boys even had the chance to make unusual rings and other jewelry for their best girls.

Printing as an Art form and a profession is being more and more widely recognized. Several universities and colleges throughout the nation now offer degree - programs in Printing.

Donnie Bladen cheerfully digs in and gets his hands dirty while working in the print shop.

Math Is A World Of Numbers

The Mathematics program consisted of various academic, and non-academic courses. The academic program was composed of the following sequences: The advanced placement program consisted of Algebra-Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry, Matrix Algebra, and Calculus. Algebra-Trigonometry, Elementary Functions, and Mathematical Analysis made up the accelerated course of study. The regular program consisted of Geometry, Algebra-Trigonometry, and Elementary Functions. For those students who were not college bound, or who were unable to meet the requirements to continue in the academic program, Senior Mathematics was given.

Music Program: Varied And Lively!

The aim of the Music Department was to develop in the student proficiency in performance, perception in listening and a genuine understanding of the literature of music of all periods and styles. This year, the Festival Chorus and Orchestra performed at various school assemblies to provide entertainment for the students. Wakefield's Music Department also contributed to concerts around the community.

The Choral Department gave students the opportunity to learn about music theory, and sight reading, while those participating in the Instrumental Department were able to perfect their talents, and show their abilities at the State String Meet in Richmond.

Release Through Activity

Individual physical fitness was again the goal being stressed in the Girls Physical Education Department this year. Teachers urged the importance of team work to the girls while still maintaining individual leadership and responsibilities.

Juniors engaged in a long awaited Modern Dance unit. For about six weeks their gym attire consisted of leotards, tights, and many aching muscles. Their other activities included Golf, Tennis, Archery, and Volleyball. The Juniors were also treated to a Health Unit with a study of First Aid, Mental Health, and Family Living.

For the unsuspecting sophomores, Body Mechanics was one of their livelier courses. This consisted of an exercise program in which mechanics of posture were stressed. Also, Volleyball, Badminton, Gymnastics, and Softball were part of the curriculum. The Sophomore's study of Health led them into the fields of alcohol, narcotics, and tobacco.

This year Boys Physical Education provided a much needed release from the mental rigors of the lead and pulp world. The program included such alleged team activities as football, speedball, soccer, basketball, and volleyball. Individual heroics were seen in gymnastics, track, handball, and wrestling. Physical education was a required hardship for Sophs and Juniors. With it came Health, which consisted of a study of narcotics, tobacco, alcohol, and mental health. The second year men were assaulted with the principles of human anatomy and reinforced their misconceptions with a quick round of first aid.

The six teachers offered instruction in all these areas and many coached varsity and junior varsity sports besides supervising an extensive intra-mural program. The overriding goal of Physical Education was, however, in addition to attaining skill in athletics, the promotion of good sportsmanship and friendship among the boys.

"Hark! What light through yon window breaks?" quoth Shakespearian great Mr. Edward Minton.

Mr. Lee gives his Sophomore Health class the benefits of his pearls of wisdom.

Mock Election Parallels State Results

There was little change in the program of the Social Studies Department this year. Required courses in American History and United States and Virginia Government were taken by all Juniors and Seniors, while the American Civilization Seminar continued to be popular. There are also electives in Psychology, World History, and the History of the Far East. Department members have helped students with clubs and related student activities.

Political candidates for the Arlington County Board and for the Virginia Legislature spoke to students prior to the November, 1967 elections. As a follow-up, mock elections were held in government classes. The results paralleled the outcome of the official state and county elections. Other guest speakers have talked to classes on such topics as the Viet-Nam war and Civil Rights.

Wakefield's Mad Scientists

"You doubt my theory?" says Mr. Harvey Wynn, (College of William and Mary; Rocket Society Sponsor).

Although vitamins, volumes and valances may have caused some problems for future scientists, it was not due to the teaching methods. New instructional materials were purchased and new teaching methods were perfected in order to keep up with the growing field of science. The Chemical Education Material Study Program and the Biological Science Curriculum Study Program were both being used for the second year at Wakefield. The new Physics program, PSSC physics, and Applied Chemistry were also offered. These courses, will help to prepare the student for work in college and to better understand the world he lives in.

Officers Spark Junior Spirit

The elemental forces seemed to be working against the Junior Class this year. A car wash was scheduled to raise money for the Junior Prom, but due to hurricane warnings, it had to be cancelled. A Junior Fun Night was planned in December, but because it snowed, it also was cancelled.

Finally, in January, a Junior Soul Day was held. Members of the class wore blue and white and attended a Junior assembly. The New Found Sound and the Shades performed and the Juniors were introduced to their class mascot, a bunny rabbit. The class sold "Soulrier Than Thou" ribbons to raise money for the Prom, which was held in May and climaxed the year.

Sophomores Invade Halls Of Wakefield

For the first time ever, Sophomores became oriented to Wakefield with the help of the upperclassmen before school started. At the end of August, Sophomores toured the school and participated in small group discussions.

Sophomores began their social activities by having a mix-in. The combination of play-day and dance was a big success. Their next success was a Christmas food drive. They went door to door collecting cans of food and money. The class collected over 600 cans of food for the Salvation Army and they even gained local recognition in the newspapers.

The Sophomore class also sponsored an after game dance, and they ended the year with a splash party.

Sophs First Year Comes To An End

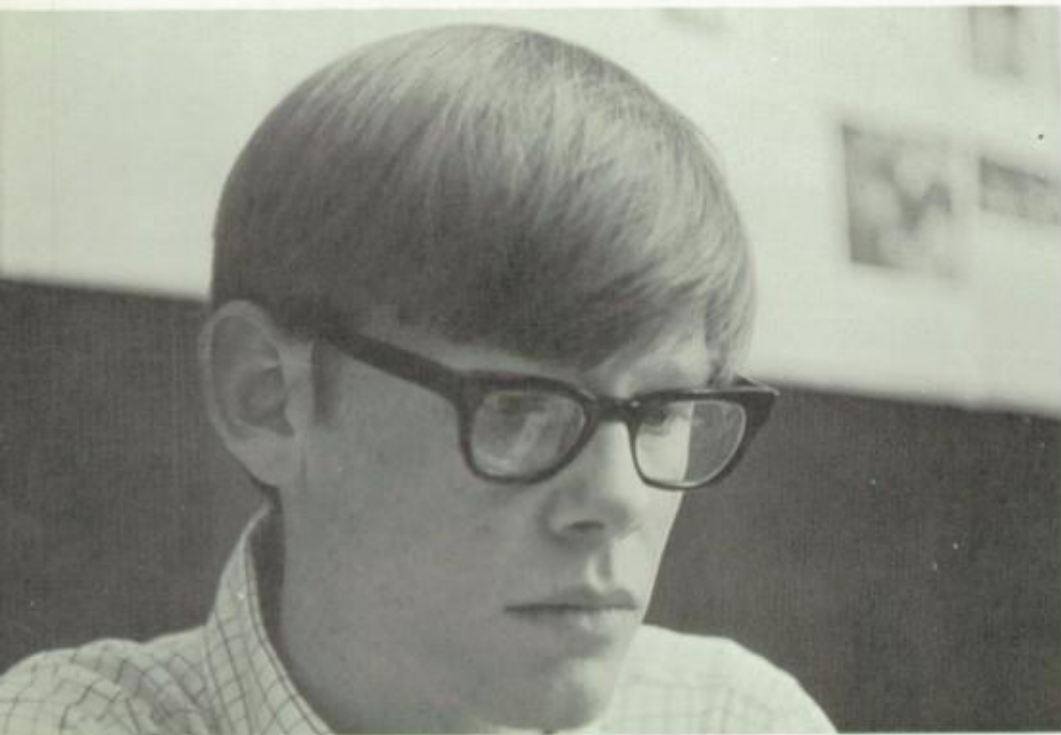

ACTIVITIES

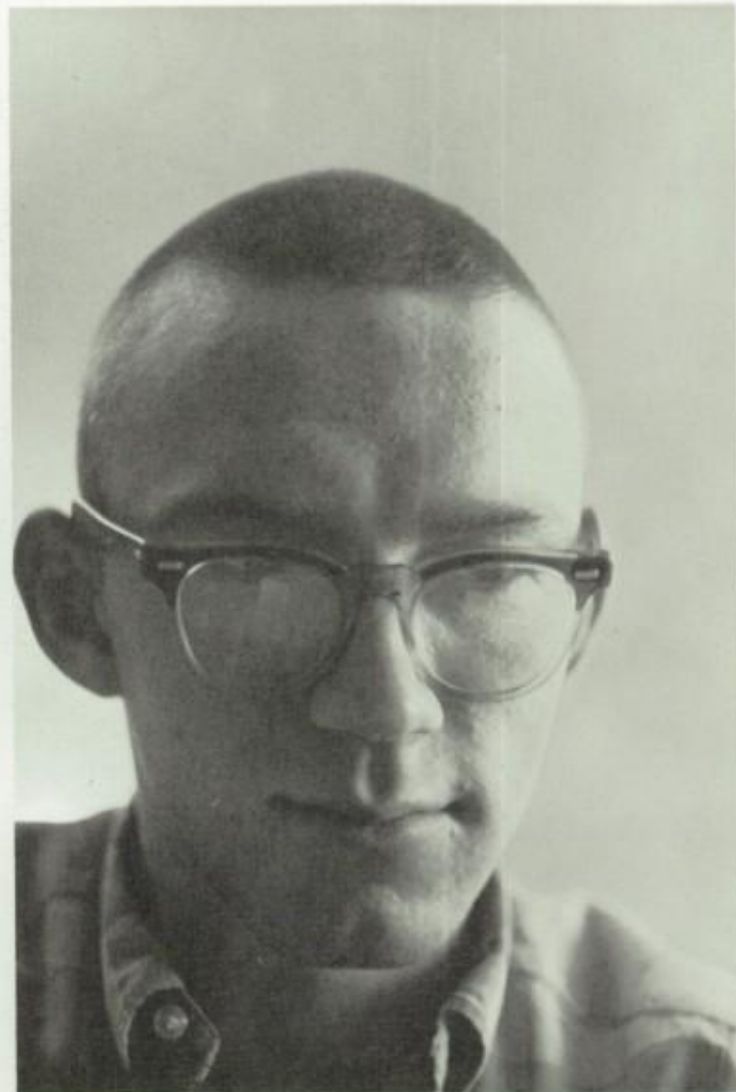

An Activity is

- . . . a rehearsal that lasts until 30 seconds after the late bus leaves
- . . . finding out that you're the chairman of a committee—and the only member
- . . . getting the hiccups in the middle of a concert
- . . . a banquet that serves ham sliced thin enough to read your homework through
- . . . trying not to crack up while lighting an induction candle
- . . . something that you get kicked out of for not attending meetings
- . . . practicing three weeks for the talent show and having your act cancelled
- . . . something that looks good on a college application

Merit Semi-Finalists

Having received high scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, ten Wakefield students were named National Semi-Finalists. They, and over 14,000 other semi-finalists, who represent less than one per cent of all high school seniors, compete for the 2,900 Merit Scholarships to be offered in 1968.

For the first time, Wakefield has four finalists in the National Achievement Scholarship Program, which is affiliated with the Merit Scholarship Program. They are: Charlynn Bennett, Jaci Coachman, Cheryl Hall, and Oliver Lewis.

SYLVIA ROBINSON

Sylvia, quiet but dynamic art student, has been back of many art projects in her three years at Wakefield. Her talent, combined with a lot of hard work, won her the Presidency of the Art Honor Society. Sylvia's other interests include WIP and the Swim Club.

DAN ADAMS

Dan excels in the fine arts in general. He is business manager of the Choir, and is a member of Wakefield Singers. Also a Thespian, he has sung in "Here Come the Warriors" and in Guys and Dolls.

HOP KOENIG

Hop is both a talented music student and an excellent cross country runner. As President of the Choir and head of Wakefield Singers, his responsibilities include overseeing officers and committees, and managing all trips by the group.

CLESTA SNOOTS

During her three years at Wakefield, Clesta has become known for her enthusiasm. It is one of her major assets working as an office assistant and PBX operator. She is also a Majorette, and is active in the Arlington County Recreation Program.

Recognition of Service

NANCY HARTKE

An active member of WIP, GAA, and the French Honor Society, Nancy also works in the school library. Always willing to help, she stays after school to operate the language laboratory, and has spent many afternoons tutoring students who are having difficulty with French.

PAT MILLER

Pat, one of Wakefield's outstanding music students, received a scholarship last summer to the Reston Music Center. With this experience, she has served as student director of Wakefield Singers, in addition to being Vice President of the Choir.

TOM BRANTLEY

This year's Co-Chairman of WIP, Tom has shown an avid interest in school politics. A key man on the varsity Debate Team, he was an SCA representative twice, and as Secretary of Finance, the SCA showed a profit for the first time in years.

JOHN SHULTZ

A member of the French Honor Society, John sacrifices his study hall time for tutoring. He teaches small groups of students who are having trouble with French, giving them a better understanding of the language.

SCA: Something Old, Something New ...

Culminating a movement that began several years ago, the Student Cooperative Association finally got photo ID cards for every student, making it possible to have after-game dances, and to buy tickets at the door. The SCA sponsored two dances itself—Homecoming and Senior-Alumni, as well as perpetuating such traditional events as the Powder Puff football game, the Leadership Conference at Prince William Forest, and Wakefield Day.

Not limiting its scope to social events, the assembly stirred up controversy among the students at the suggestion of a dress code, and within the administration when it looked at the school's ineffectual smoking policy. It wasn't as easy to arouse interest in the Futures for Children drive, or the Scholarship Fund. The newly-innovated SCA column in the Signal represented the goal of this year's assembly—to close the gap between it and the students.

AFS International was designed to bring the United States closer to other nations, through a program of exchange students. In the 1967-68 school year alone, under this program over 3,000 teenagers visited countries other than their own. All of the exchange students will meet in Washington, D.C., in July, to evaluate their year away from home. In addition to the usual sight-seeing, the itinerary will include a special tour of the White House, where the group will meet President Johnson.

Exchange students in the American Field Service program are given the opportunity to travel and gain first hand knowledge about other countries. Raquel Filippini of Uruguay, who lived this year with Sharon and Barbara Davis, was most impressed with the interest taken in each student by such a large organization.

In addition to being given an allowance and money to cover expenses, a member of AFS acted as her personal advisor during her stay in Arlington.

To increase interest in their organization, Wakefield's chapter of the American Field Service sponsored several after-school programs featuring speakers who have traveled abroad. The main purpose of the group, however, was to support Raquel, and Wakefield's exchange program in general. During Club Week, they held an international bake sale, and at Christmas they sold holiday note paper, designed by foreign artists. In the Spring, the group held an assembly, in which Raquel and other AFS-sponsored exchange students attending local schools spoke about their countries and their experiences in the United States.

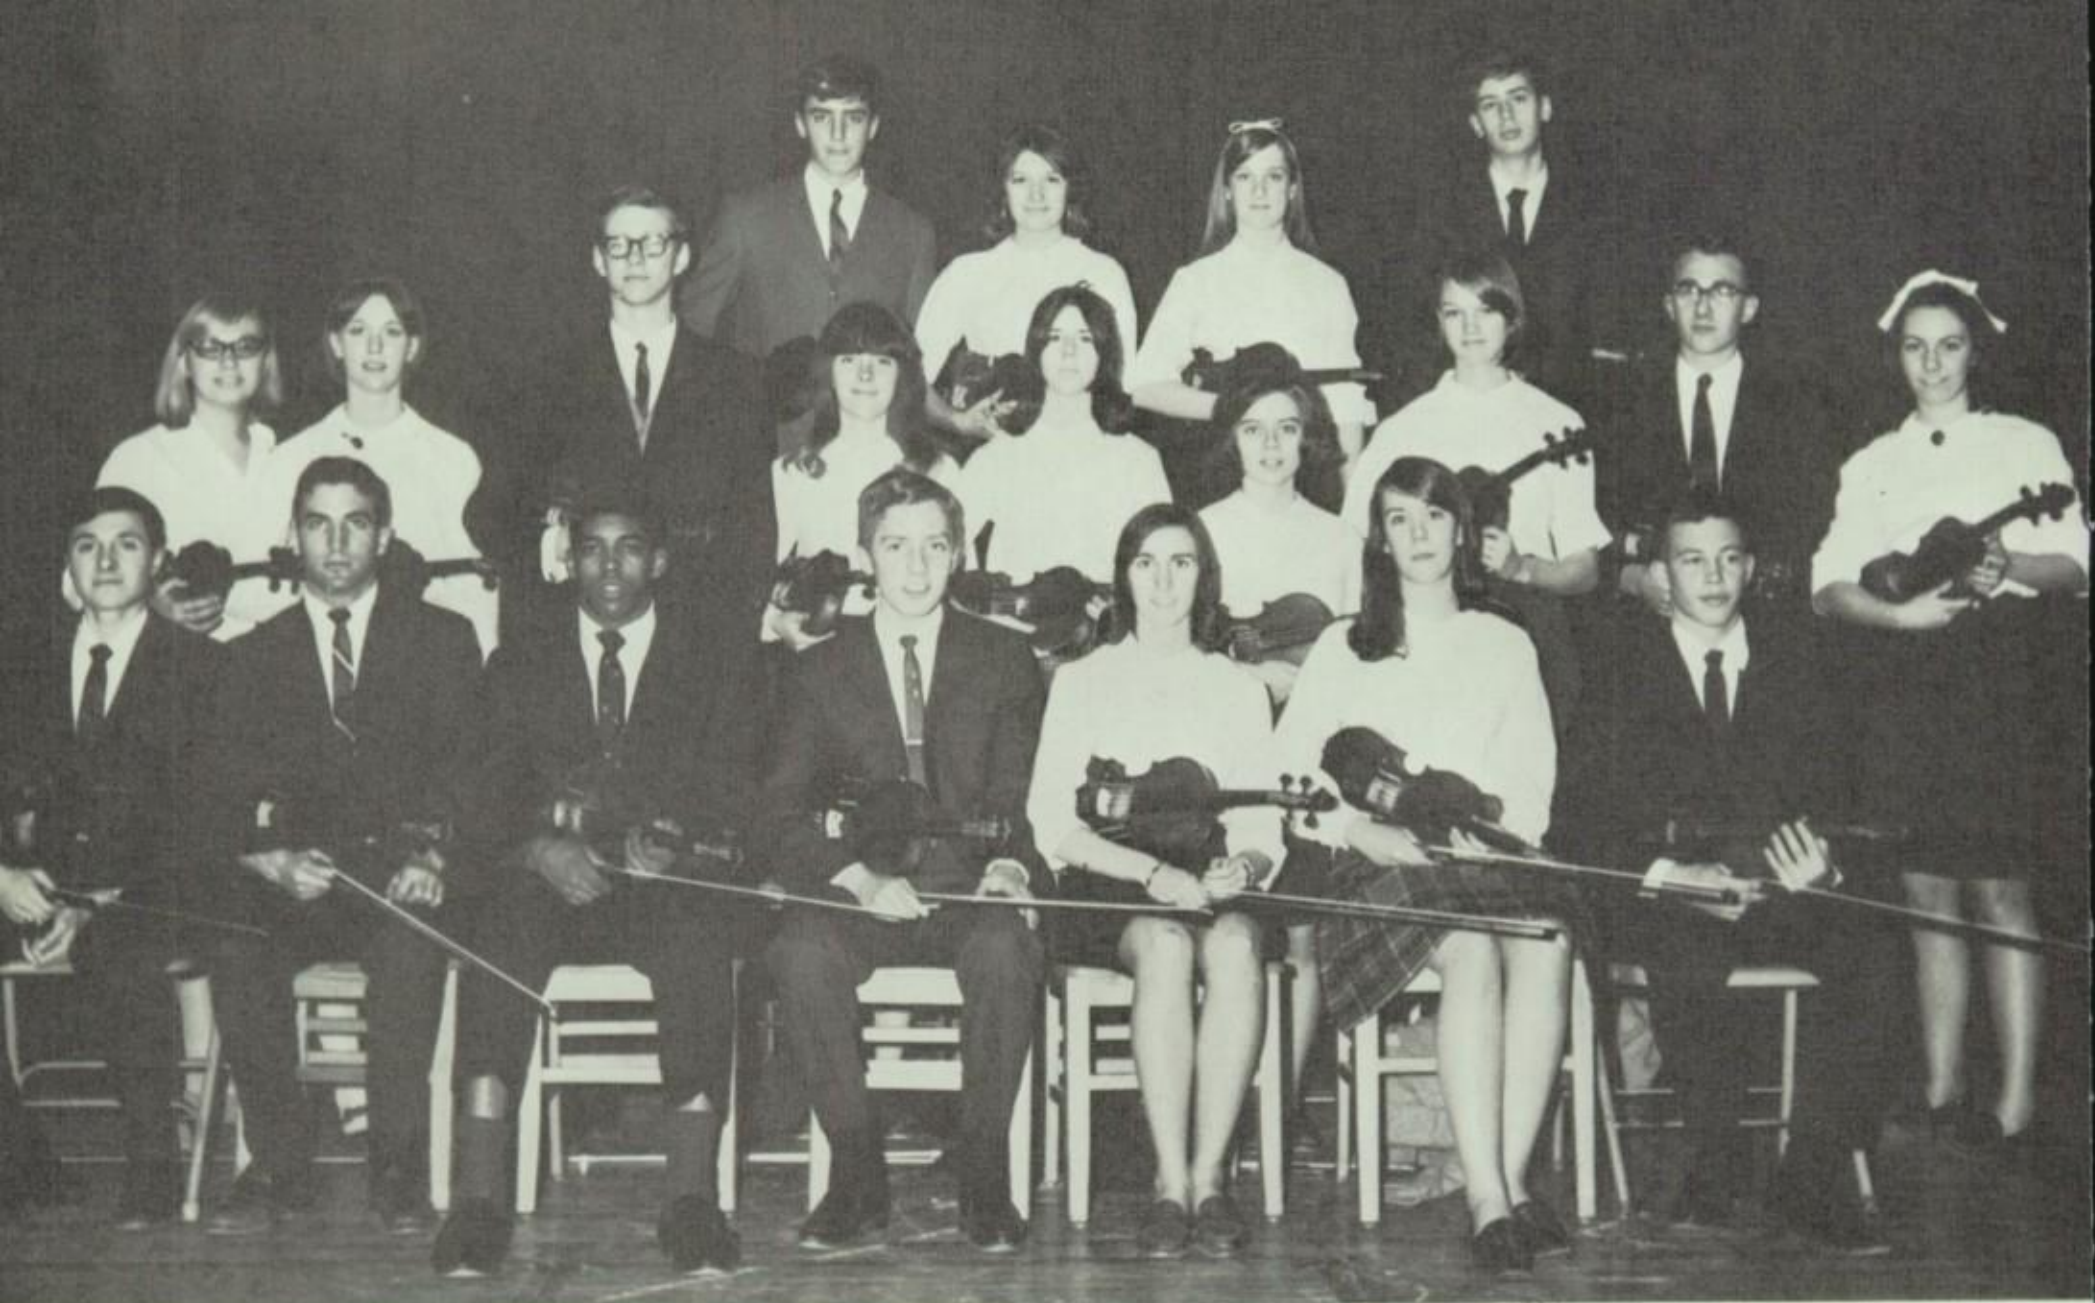

"Come now, there must be more volunteers!"

"Who says you can't put a square peg in a round hole?" Pat Lohman and Bill Terry tune up the bass.

Under the direction of Mr. Krasney, the Orchestra was a musical experience for those who play string and wind instruments. Numbering around fifty, the Orchestra also provided entertainment for the public; they played at the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, Pops Concert, Christmas Concert, and Baccalaureate. The highlights of the year were the Spring Concert and the District Festival. More advanced members performed in the Virginia State String Festival. The Orchestra played music from various eras and cultures. To further the advancement of the Orchestra, Mr. Krasney gave each student individual attention as to the correct way to play and the finer aspects of music.

Band: Move over, Sousa!

Under the direction of Mr. John Pickerall, new to Wakefield's music staff this year, the Bands grew and flourished. The 87 member concert band entertained the student body with contemporary as well as traditional numbers at the annual holiday concerts. The pride of the instrumental music department was the Marching Band. Although they lost all but 23 experienced members, a bigger and better Marching Band was organized. After gaining 54 new members, proof of their achievement was demonstrated at the halftime shows at home football games. Many of these intricate formations were originated by colleges and universities. The Marching Band was particularly honored to participate in Band Day at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. Participation in Winchester's Apple Blossom Festival, the Dogwood festival in Charlottesville, and the Safety Patrol Festival in Washington were three of their many activities. Ensemble and solo performances were also new this year. Perhaps the biggest thrill was the arrival of the long awaited new uniforms. Even though this year's accomplishments rate high merit, improving ideas still keep materializing. Plans for a Reserve Band next year have already begun. The enthusiasm of these groups contributes much to Wakefield spirit and school pride.

Mixed Chorus

Open to all students who enjoy singing, the Mixed Chorus provides an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of vocal music and an experience of singing in a choral group. Meeting daily first period, the Chorus rehearsed selections from many styles of music—everything from old folk songs to contemporary music. They performed at the Christmas and Spring concerts. This year, for the first time, select group of 20 members—the Chanticleers—was formed. Under the direction of Mr. Morgan, they practiced every Thursday afternoon.

Choir and Singers: Debut at the Pageant of Peace

Chosen each year by personal audition, the Wakefield Choir is a group of some of the finest singers in the school. Most of the 25 members have taken music in Wakefield for one or two years prior to entering the Choir.

Christmas was the highlight of the year. During this busy time, the Choir sang at the Christmas Pageant of Peace, Union Station, Walter Reed Hospital, the Wakefield Tree Lighting Ceremony, and gave its annual Christmas Concert.

During the course of the year, the Choir sang with the Arlington Civic Symphony, at local junior high schools, assemblies, churches, Pan American Union, at the Pops Concert, at the Spring Concert, and at Graduation.

Selected from the Choir in the fall, through strict competition, the 30 Wakefield Singers are the choice vocal group at school. Backbone of the Choir, the Singers represent the school where it is impractical to take the entire choir. The Singers meet every Monday afternoon and practice hard to achieve high quality. They provided entertainment for the Washington area's cultural programs, church services, professional dinners and conventions, and government concerts.

Both the Choir and Wakefield Singers are under the direction of Mrs. Krout, through whom they have achieved renown in the area as two of its finest choral groups.

Composed of students from all three grade levels, the Girls Chorus is open to any girl who has an interest in vocal music. Under the direction of Mrs. Krout, the girls studied, in the course of the year, both music theory and the fundamentals of singing. Each of the 74 members received individual attention from Mrs. Krout to learn correct diction and breathing processes. Singing selections from a wide variety of music, the chorus' repertoire included everything from early madrigals to contemporary show tunes. The girls provided entertainment at assemblies throughout the year, and sang in the annual Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert.

Wakefield's literary magazine, the Pendulum, published an issue in the Spring, edited by Lloyd Cole and sponsored by Miss Marguerite Crawford. By analyzing contributions of prose and poetry, and printing the year's best student work, the magazine encouraged students to develop their creative talents. Miss Crawford and the staff tried to emphasize originality of thought and clarity of expression in evaluating material. To do this, each contributor was given a specific written evaluation of his work. Many students were asked to explain their contributions in conference, thus clarifying their thought and enriching the creative process. The Pendulum also encouraged writers with the annual Prose and Poetry Contest, whose winners received cash awards for their efforts.

Believe it or not, the major project of the STARSTONE Staff was producing the STARSTONE. In an endless cycle, staff members worked themselves to death to meet a deadline, then collapsed for a week, and then had to rush to meet the next deadline. Most of the kids survived, but they wore out two sponsors. Mrs. Cashman only lasted a few weeks, and Mr. Holbrook came just in time to take the editors (Simon Legree & Company) to a yearbook convention in New York, where they (hopefully) accomplished something besides sight-seeing. Whatever they learned was applied as this yearbook was being written; only time will tell.

SIGNAL: The Student Voice

"Tomorrow? I can't have that story in by tomorrow!" Reporter Ann Middleton is startled when Managing Editor Bill Bailey confronts her with a deadline.

STAFF: Gary Sheehan, Ann Middleton, Meredith Johnson, Carol Speed, Kathy Bradford, Debbie Dunstan, Dale Carlton.

Realizing that past formats did not satisfy the needs of today's student, the Signal tried to create a new image this year. Pooling all of their ingenuity and inventiveness, the staff added several features to encourage student awareness of various facets of Wakefield life. New features included: Joseph Jock's "By the Way," a humorous look at the sports scene, "Moore on the SCA," giving hindsight into current SCA projects, and "Personality Plus," spotlighting typical and not-so-typical people around Wakefield. Even though these new features added quite a bit to last year's Signal, the staff sees a need for more changes next year. This was pointed out by the formation of an underground newspaper, Smut. A sneak preview of the Signal of 1968-69 showed eight pages of Wakefield news on standard sized paper. This year's staff must be commended on their constructive response to the need for change and their desire to satisfy the student body.

Faced by superior logic, Mr. Holbrook does what any male must—give up.

Guides: Lost? So Are They!

Robbie Sparkes, dressed for a blizzard, checks to see who can guide him home through the snow.

If some people think that Wakefield Guides did not do much this year, it is because for the most part, their efforts went unpublicized. Guides is an exclusive service organization consisting of approximately 35 students whose job has been to usher at school activities, and show visitors around the school. Some of the events at which the Guides offered their services were: the Sophomore Orientation, Back to School Night, the Christmas Concert, Baccalaureate, and Commencement exercises. In order to be considered for membership, a student must have a "B" average, and be in good standing with the administration (faculty recommendation is required). Without the efforts of the Guides, parents would still be trying to locate classes from Back to School Night, and the halls of Wakefield would be cluttered with hapless visitors wandering forlornly in search of the door they came in.

Advisors: Personalized Orientation

"Welcome to Wakefield! I'm your Wakefield Advisor." Sound familiar, sophomores? Upperclassmen probably won't recognize the phrase, but with these words incoming sophomores were greeted their first day at Wakefield. The newly organized group of carefully selected juniors and seniors was concerned with the sophomore's problems in adjusting to high school.

After completing a three week training program, each of the 110 Advisors was ready to contact his group of approximately eight sophomores. In late August, the Advisors met with their groups for a special orientation day. On the agenda was a tour of Wakefield, a skit portraying school life, and an informal talk. The SCA ended the affair with free cokes for all.

Fall Play:

"The Mouse That Roared"

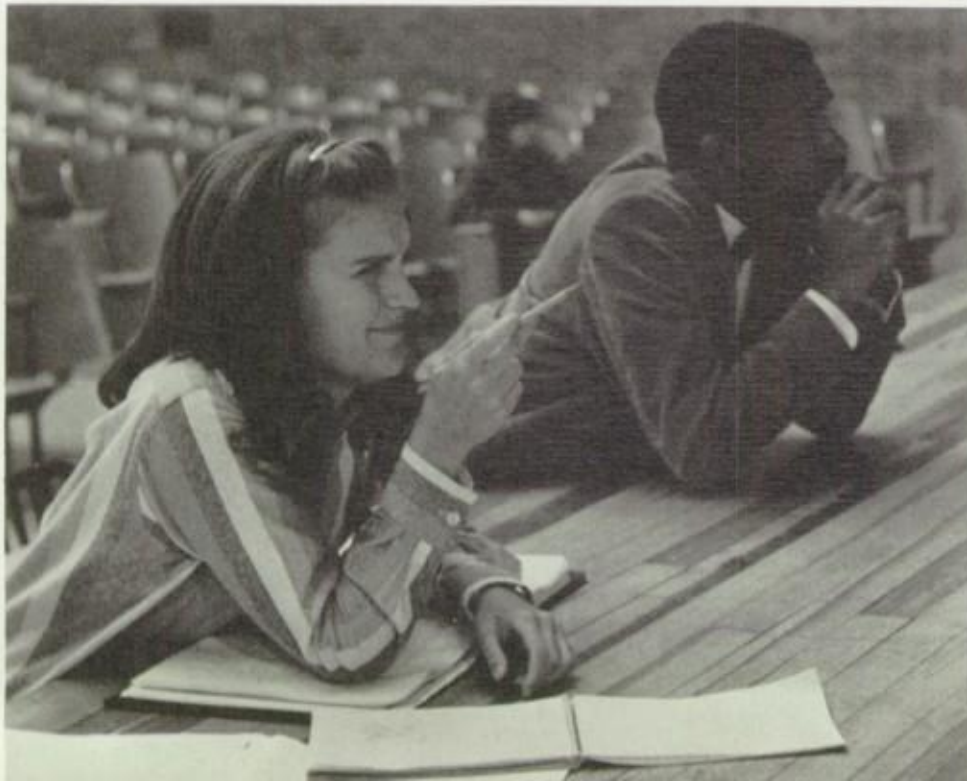

Richard Rivera, Jim Jacobs, and Randy Nesseler wait for Peter Howe to unveil his formula for the Q-bomb.

Ever been attacked by a "ferocious" mouse? The United States was in the fall production of "The Mouse That Roared". The "mouse" was a miniscule European country, Grand Fenwick, with its entire economy dependent on the export of a native wine. When a cheap imitation wine in California endangered Grand Fenwick's economy, the Duchy, headed by Queen Gloriana XII (Diane Linton), Count Mountjoy (Pete Exton), and Mr. Benter (Jim Howard), repeatedly sent declarations of grievances to the United States. As a last resort, the Duchy declared war, intending to lose and thereby receive the financial aid that the United States customarily gives to the countries it defeats. However, due to an unforeseen civil defense drill, Tully Bascom (Bill Kaffenberger) and his expeditionary force of bowmen captured a scientist (Peter Howe) and his powerful "Q-bomb", and won the war. The United States was anxious to get back the bomb (and the Duchy was anxious to get rid of it), so a peace settlement was arranged, including the hoped-for financial aid.

"Over to the right, stupid!" Dick McConchie indicates where the spotlight needs to be directed.

Mr. Boyd and student director Ann Dyer help the play through one of the rougher moments of rehearsal.

Grand Fenwick's intrepid army prepares to attack New York City.

Diane Linton gives Bill Kaffenberger her scarf to wear as he marches off to war.

Spring Play: George Washington Slept Here

"And in the future, it would be appreciated if you would keep your skunk OUT OF MY POOL!"

As the play opens, Newton Fuller (Randy Nesseler) is showing his family around an incredibly decrepit old house where George Washington once slept. After his wife Annabelle (Emerald Erickson) declares that she wouldn't stay in the old wreck another minute if paid to, Newton tells her that he has sold their apartment in the city and bought the place. They soon discover that there is no water, and they spend the summer drilling for it and fighting hordes of bugs. With the help of the caretaker (Bill Newman), they gradually bring the property into a decent condition. On top of all the trouble their daughter (Nancy Heasley) and Newton's pseudo-rich Uncle Stanley (Jim Howard) bring the bank to decide to repossess the property. However, through a strange set of circumstances, the original deed, and a false check from "rich" Uncle Stanley, the Fullers bluff Mr. Prescott (Bill Kaffenberger), president of the bank, into letting them keep the house.

Here Come the Warriors: Talent Galore

Wakefield's annual talent show, "Here Come the Warriors," was presented in January this year. Under the direction of Nancy Lee and faculty advisor Mr. Chester Boyd, the SCA produced a memorable occasion for all who attended.

Displaying the talents of various Wakefield students, "Here Come the Warriors" included a variety of acts. Singing was the most popular act, including folk and popular songs. Dance routines, monologues, and comedy skits rounded out the evening.

NHS: The Society With "Brains"

Sue Montgomery registers Carol Burnett for the PSAT.

Membership in the National Honor Society is a high attainment for any student. After careful selection by their teachers on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character, about one hundred students were inducted in the Fall and Spring. The Society sponsored several activities this year; one of its biggest responsibilities was planning the annual Pow-Wow Day in December. This provided an opportunity for Alumni to talk with present students, giving personal insight on college life throughout the country. Members served refreshments and were on hand to coordinate the program. Operation of the college mailing and registering students for the PSAT were other NHS projects.

"Mu Alpha Theta" sounds like a fraternity or sorority, but it is actually Wakefield's Math Honor Society. To be considered for membership, a student must have all "A"s in both Algebra I and Geometry (or "B"s with the teacher's recommendation), and must maintain an overall 3.0 average. This Fall, 38 members were inducted. Throughout the year, members of Mu Alpha Theta offered a free tutoring service for those students having difficulty in math.

LHS: Ancient Romans Reincarnated

"The Romans never had it so good." Elsie Davis is convinced, but Walter May looks a little dubious as he takes the food Betsy Clarke is offering.

Highlighting a year of projects organized by the Latin Honor Society, was the Roman Orgy. Although it was postponed by the season's first big snow, the dinner was well-received by students, who enjoyed both the food and the entertainment. Aside from carrying on the Orgy tradition, the "Romans" visited the National Gallery of Art in November. Their induction took place in February, and the new members had to meet stiff requirements for eligibility; the year ended with a picnic in May. Wakefield is expecting even more from this group next year—after all, Rome wasn't built in a day.

FHS: Paris Comes to Wakefield

Under the leadership of sponsor Mrs. Ophelia Pinkard and President Reggie Krasney, the French Honor Society has actively participated in several projects this year. It was the Honor Society's French carols that gave Christmas cheer to shivering Wakefield students at the Christmas tree lighting. In addition to their vocal talents, members demonstrated both their originality, and knowledge of French culture and cuisine by sponsoring a French dinner; this knowledge was the result of a field trip to a local French restaurant. An annual custom was perpetuated with the production, by the Society, of a play presented entirely in French. Completing the year, the organization had a booth at Wakefield Day.

Thespians: All the World's Their Stage

Thespian Troupe 1214, Wakefield's honor society of the dramatic arts, was founded over ten years ago to recognize outstanding participants in the Drama Department. To become a member, a student must work a specified number of hours, either backstage on one of the crews, or as part of the cast of a Wakefield production.

Members of the Society were active in the plays and other programs put on by the Drama Department during the year. They worked on both the Fall and Spring plays, and presented Amahl and the Night Visitors at Christmas.

WIP: From Underdog to Monopoly

Since its formation in 1963, the Wakefield Independent Party has grown in popularity to the point that this year it was the only party in Wakefield politics. Membership, open to any student, provided an excellent opportunity to become involved in the activities of the Student Cooperative Association. WIP, striving to improve the SCA through outstanding leadership and by contributing ideas, lived up to its slogan, "The Action Party." Members of the party were consistently responsible for much of the SCA's legislation, including such projects as the Powder Puff Football Game, and Wakefield Day.

Did you ever wonder who coordinated all those activities such as Wakefield Day, the Christmas Basket contest, and the Wakefield Sing? The representatives to the Inter-Club Council, directed by the S.C.A. Secretary of Clubs, were there to help make these projects a success. The organization was made up of a club representative from each club in the school. From this group an advisory board was elected to help organize activities of the clubs as well as review and evaluate the progress of each. The organization, used as a clearinghouse for ideas, reviewed projects submitted by clubs and administrators. New rules for clubs were outlined by the members and more responsibilities were delegated to the representatives. The group continued its support of a child in Viet Nam under the auspices of the "Foster Parent's Plan." Each club contributed five dollars for supplies for this child. Winding up the year, the group displayed their creativity and ingenuity by helping to organize Wakefield Day.

Wouldn't you like some Christmas cookies made by Delta girls?

Delta Service Club, newly formed this year, chose its members on the basis of their willingness to work and because of their creativity. To promote holiday spirit, they made paper turkeys for the classroom doors at Thanksgiving, and made a Christmas basket for the Salvation Army. Delta collected for UNICEF at Halloween, and raised club funds by having a shopping center bakesale. For the G.W. basketball game they sold nutty "Crunch G.W." cards displaying Crunchy Candy. Delta participated in many school and community projects. The Club looks forward to another great year.

Kappa: A New Year, A New Club

Kappa, a new service club which started in late October, has thirty ambitious and hard working girls to represent it. Being newly formed and lacking needed time, they were unable to have a float for the W-L pep rally but sold confetti to promote school spirit. Kappa also sold tags with Tootsie Roll Pops and "Lick De-Matha" on them, which were a big success. The girls planned a party for mentally retarded children at Christmas; but realizing the need to remember these children at other times in the year, it was postponed until Valentine's Day. Kappa hopes for continuous progress next year.

Jill Chapman, president of Kappa, is up on her toes as she attempts to get the jump ball.

MELANIE HALL, BIG MOUTH,

Key Club: A New Day Unfurls

Key club members prepare to unfurl the Stars and Stripes above Wakefield.

The Key Club is an organization that enjoys providing community services and school projects. At times, even though it did not take on any major projects, it attempted to do those small, but not insignificant jobs that make Wakefield's students and teachers appreciate their school even more.

This year the Key Club, under the leadership of Andy Joosten, President, painted the football press box, inside and out, maintained the school flags, served refreshments and checked coats at most of the school dances, passed out programs at the Powder Puff game, and put together a float for the W-L Pep rally.

In addition, this year, the Key Club, with twenty five members, performed community services in order to raise money for worthwhile school projects. Although troubled by a lack of sponsorship when Mr. George Davis left, the Key Club continued to perform its vital role as a leader in student affairs throughout the 1967-68 school year.

Keyettes once again was one of the most active service clubs at Wakefield. The club's 42 girls, including foreign exchange student Raquel Filippini as an honorary member, started the year off by receiving first runner-up for their "Warriors Are Grrreat" float in the W-L pep rally. Next came the club's traditional Great Pumpkin Dance, which was the first and one of the most original dances of the year. Keyettes supported the soccer team in the Fall as well as selling football tickets during lunch periods. The club received the grand prize for their Kangaroo Christmas basket, which went to the poor families of Washington. As Spring approached, the girls supported the gymnastics team by attending the meets and making posters. The club, as a service to the community, visited its traditional ward at St. Elizabeth's several times during the year, sold fruit cake for the Civitan club, and collected for the March of Dimes.

Keyettes shun the formal procedures of a service club induction and break out in uncontrollable laughter.

Jan Kelly, President, listens intently to a creative idea suggested by an Omega member.

Omega worked for Project Headstart this year, and donated cans of food and stuffed animals to the Salvation Army in the Annual Christmas Basket Contest. They gave bags of candy to the Children's Hospital at Halloween, and ushered for "Here Come the Warriors." In the Fall, the girls sponsored D.R.O.N.D., or "Drive Right Or No Date." This was a campaign to promote better driving habits. The money for these services was raised by balloon sales at the football games, bake-sales, car washes, and the sponsorship of a dance in the Spring entitled the "Barefoot Ball." In addition to these things, Omega entered a float, "Put W-L in the Dutch" at the W-L Pep Rally in the Fall.

All in all, it was a very prosperous and enjoyable year for the Omega girls.

Optimi: Have You Been Tagged?

A game of hide-and-seek was played at Wakefield during the week of April 1 to April 5. With the tables turned on the girls, giving them a chance to treat a favorite guy to a night out, adoring females pursued their victims and asked them to the Optimi Tag Dance. Guys draped with ribbons and balls and chains and a tag, to show that they had been hooked, had the doors opened for them and their every wish obeyed. Optimi is one of the oldest clubs at Wakefield and has carried on the tradition of the open season dance, the highlight of the club's activities. Under the name of the Boomer Brothers, the Optimi members played in intramurals b-ball games and made a good showing. The boys, about 30 in number, occasionally met to plan their coming events for the year.

Phi: Roll Over Beethoven!

The "Mosaic Virus" erupts in an epidemic of psychedelia at Phi's "Beethoven's Birthday" Dance.

Beethoven turned over in his grave after Phi's "Beethoven's Birthday" psychedelia. The Mosaic Virus (a band, not a plague) spread contagious fun and made everybody swing! Phi also showed their appreciation of our hardworking teachers by spending an afternoon washing the faculty's cars.

School spirit soared at the games with the attendance of the Phi guys! They built the bon-fire at Wakefield's traditional Pep-Rally, with their "Beat the 'L' out W-L" float thrown in to add to the blaze. With excellent officers, Phi looks forward to continual service to Wakefield and the community.

Psi has been an active service club ever since Wakefield began and has grown with the school. This year Psi continued one of the major traditions by holding the annual Snow Queen Ball in mid-January. Glittering and romantic, the dance was a highlight of the year. At Christmas time, Psi girls took orphans Christmas shopping at Murphy's in D.C. to share some of the joy of Christmas. They gave the special gift of Christmas themselves and their time, and got in return the privilege of sharing in the children's lives. To make Christmas even more meaningful, Psi also sang Christmas carols at the tree lighting ceremony of Arlington Forest Methodist Church.

Under the leadership of Sharman Bradshaw, Psi's "Wise up to Warriors" float tied with Keyettes for first runner-up at the W-L pep rally. In order to raise money to carry out their services for the school and community, the Club held car washes last summer and bake sales throughout the year.

President Sharon Davis and Becky Lindall discuss how they will attract new members into Rho during Club Week.

Rho got off to an energetic start this summer by painting yardline markers for the football field, typing student activity cards, and painting Calijha. Calijha was the forgotten totem pole mascot of Wakefield who had been gathering dust in an old storage closet. This year, thanks to Rho, he has been duly honored at all home games.

They also "Rhoed" their club to victory and won third place at the W-L pep rally. During the Christmas season, Rho won second place in the Christmas basket contest. To celebrate team victories, Rho gave a triumphant after the B-ball Game Dance, featuring the "New Found Sound." Although Rho is a new club, it is well on its way in establishing a permanent place in Wakefield.

San: Success—From Sophomores to Seniors

San was started three years ago by Sophomores, and the girls, now Seniors, are proud of the way their club has grown. San's creative bulletin boards reminded students of upcoming events and promoted school spirit. This was the first year that San entered a float in the W&L pep rally, and they worked on it enthusiastically. Although the float received no special recognition, they enjoyed participating. Under the leadership of their president, Fran Nettles, the twenty-eight members of San worked on projects to help the community and were active in many phases of school life. Their car washes and bakesales helped to raise money for many activities.

Sigma: Welcome Exchange Students With A Tea

The cafeteria is not always for eating. Cindy Vanden Heuvel, President, bites into another nourishing Sigma meeting.

Sigma Service Club, led by president Cindy Vanden Heuvel, held a tea for all foreign students at the beginning of the year. The 30 girls, who met about 3 times a month, served the student body, faculty, and the community by undertaking beneficial tasks. Throughout the year the girls could often be seen in the cafeteria selling bus tickets to the away b-ball games or decorating for different holidays. Raquel Fillippini was fortunate enough to have Sigma buy her yearbook as a remembrance of her Senior year at Wakefield. In the W-L pep rally their float entitled "Squash 'em" won first place. Other service projects consisted of marching for Alsac and a can drive for the Art Dept., as well as participating in the Christmas basket contest.

The highlight of Sigma's year was their sweetheart Ball held on February 10.

Xi service club has emerged as one of the major clubs in Wakefield. It helped greatly in promoting school spirit at various sport activities. To start things off the boys participated in the W-L pep rally with a float presenting the unique theme "W-L is Stiff." Their "giant hand," pointing out the way to a touchdown, gave spirit to the football team and spectators.

In order to aid the community, Xi has developed a plan to clean up a designated area around Wakefield. This, the club hopes, will boost the pride of the Wakefield student in addition to benefitting the entire area.

Xi has proven itself as a worthwhile member of the school and demonstrates fair play and sportsmanship through its continuing participation in school functions and activities.

Members of XI are enthralled by Sloan Coleman's wit and wisdom.

Alpha-Omega: What is Life?

The members of Alpha-Omega wanted to gain insight into the questions that man has asked for centuries. They investigated the Bible, world religions, and universal philosophic concepts. "Is God dead?" and "Evolution" were some of the provocative subjects debated. Well qualified speakers were invited to discuss these ideas. To supplement study, thoughtful color films were shown at several of the meetings.

This year's important and challenging subject kept the debaters interested and busy during the debate season. Debaters began research in the Fall and held practice debates until inter-school competition started in February. This highly skilled sport requires a logical mind and an ability to reason. Many of the speeches were impromptu and often the debates became heated, adding to the excitement.

The Varsity and JV teams contested successfully against the other schools of the Potomac District as well as many Virginia, District of Columbia, and Maryland schools in the University of Richmond, George Washington University, and College of William and Mary tournaments. The team continued the high quality of debate at Wakefield and brought additional honors to the school.

Careers in the fields of marketing and distribution are the ultimate objectives of students who participate in the Distributive Education Club of America.

The only national youth organization concerned with such areas as merchandising and management, DECA's 73 members meet monthly to pursue these objectives. DECA strives to develop respect for Distributive Education, with an eye towards occupational preparation, and, of course, to encourage better citizenship within America's free enterprise system.

A common goal, that is, studying towards a specific career, helps unify the members. DECA is for many the only way to develop a true sense of responsibility and citizenship, so in this respect, the club's activities have a great effect on the individual as well as the community.

F.H.A.: Choose A Tasty Recipe

Instead of picketing the nation's capital, F.H.A. put on various homemaking demonstrations. This year F.H.A., headed by Diane Culhane, displayed their talent in making a Christmas basket for the Salvation Army. The club, made up of 30 girls, used their own creative ideas in planning their activities and took an active interest in school projects. They also sold cook-books to raise money and spread the joy of cooking.

Folk Society: Benefit Concert for Fund Drive

The Folk Society was a smash hit when it made the scene at several area Coffee-houses. The society didn't "sing for its supper," but gave instead a benefit concert for Futures for Children. At their meetings, the singers got together, talked, laughed, and then broke up into groups.

It was not unusual to see trios of the folk singers in the stair wells or lonely corners of Wakefield singing to their hearts content. Strains of their music could be heard throughout the school.

History Society: Speakers Delve Into The Past

Eye-opening discussions about current protest groups as well as thought-provoking speakers from the Cambodian and Russian Embassies highlighted History Society meetings. Interest in history is the primary requirement for membership in the society, but a "B" average in History and "C" in English are also necessary.

Exploring the field of teaching, its problems, opportunities, and techniques, is the goal of Future Teachers of America. Members learn the true trials of teaching, realizing that teaching is not as easy as it looks. Observing and aiding teachers at Claremont Elementary School is part of the experience the group receives. They planned such field trips as visiting the National Education Association building. Bright colored name tags were seen around Wakefield as the clubs honored all Wakefield teachers during American Education Week.

As an active organization for service to the school and community, the Red Cross Club has undertaken numerous worthwhile projects during the 1967-68 year. They gave a party-picnic for Junior Village, and their "friendships" album was once again given to a Red Cross Club in a foreign country. Past activities included a membership drive, a Christmas basket, and hospital decorating. This organization was a welcome contribution to Wakefield life.

French Club: C'est Une Très Bonne, Annee

This was a good year for the French Club. The members wanted to gain insight and understanding of the people and customs of the French speaking countries. To become more familiar with French culture and make their meetings enjoyable, the members sang French songs and saw French slides and films. The casual atmosphere of the club intrigued many members. To top off a most fruitful year, the club had dinner at a French restaurant.

Spanish Club: Era Un Mui Buen Ano

It was also a good year for the Spanish Club. Their enthusiastic members showed their interest in the language and culture by visiting the Pan-American Union. From this trip they developed an appreciation of Spanish architecture. They also saw a collection of Latin American art, thereby cultivating a better understanding of international art.

VICA: Club That Employs Good Sense

VICA, the Vocational Industrial Club of America, is a national organization for young people. Created for the purpose of developing "well-rounded" teenage citizens, the members participate in social and leadership activities as well as job skills. Besides regularly scheduled club meetings, district dances, regional and state conventions, industrial field trips and the annual employer-employee banquet were held during the year. Although VICA is a fairly young organization, since it was founded in 1965, there are now more than 1400 clubs in thirty-one states with a membership of over 42,000.

Designed to promote school spirit, the Monogram Club enjoyed one of its most successful years. To help boost team spirit and good sportsmanship in the school, Monogram Club performed its usual services to the school, including the concession stand at the football games, checking coats at basketball games, and monitoring the halls during lunch. This year, the boys also entered their "Dump W-L" float for the W-L pep rally and ushered for the State Wrestling Tournament at Wakefield. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Epperly, the Monogram Club held several club parties and enjoyed giving their annual Spring dance for the school. All varsity lettermen and cheerleaders are eligible for membership if they have a keen interest in promoting school spirit.

Modern Dance Club: Unspoken Communication

Michelle Lovett, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. Dando, Sponsor; Pam Pugh, President. Not Shown: Giti Zarnegar, Vice-President; Lori Latham, Historian.

To the members of the Modern Dance Club, dance is a way of expressing physically what they feel inside themselves.

The club provided an opportunity for students who were interested and talented in dance to learn technique and discover their own thoughts, feeling, and ideas. The dancers performed for various hospitals the G.A.A. Tea, and were the hit of a senior assembly. They became belly dancers for the "Latin Orgy" and participated in the talent show, "Here Come the Warriors!" The club supports itself by its traditional Wakefield Nightie Sale and the annual May Spring Concert proceeds. Under Mrs. Wilma Dando, the club danced their way to become one of the most popular clubs at Wakefield.

Whiz skillfully down a slick, snow covered mountain slope or be a snow-bunny and just watch. Under the direction of Miss Sharon Bartlett, forty to fifty of these ski enthusiasts joined forces and formed the Wakefield Ski Club. Lectures and ski movies were featured at the meetings. Anyone could come to the informal meetings and become a member. "Pray for Snow" was their password as weekends of skiing at near-by slopes highlighted the club's busy year.

President Diane Dickenson descends upon unsuspecting Jeff Hanson to prove to fellow members that skiing can be fun.

Theatrephiles: Drama is Their Forte

Become a drama expert and a connoisseur of the theater. The best and most enjoyable way to do this is to be a member of the Theatrephiles. This past year Theatrephile members were privileged to see such outstanding plays as "The Fantastics" and the controversial "The Great White Hope." The only special requirements necessary for membership is an interest in drama and in attending dramatic productions at area theaters. Perhaps there was an opening for you in Theatrephiles.

Karate Club: Sock It To Me!

Wakefield students have found it is not wise to aggravate a member of the Wakefield Karate Club. This is the first time such a club has been formed at Wakefield and the first of its kind to be sponsored by an Arlington County school. The aim of the club is to teach self-defense, self-discipline, and to develop will power. By accomplishing these goals, the boys keep physically fit and improve their coordination.

The Vocational Office Training Club is comprised of the students enrolled in the Vocational Office Training Classes. The club, sponsored by Miss Bette Browning, is a combination business and service club.

Vocational Office Training equips our newer generation of business with promising prospects and a dependable source of clerical recruitment. It puts the jobs of today within reach; which makes the jobs of tomorrow much closer.

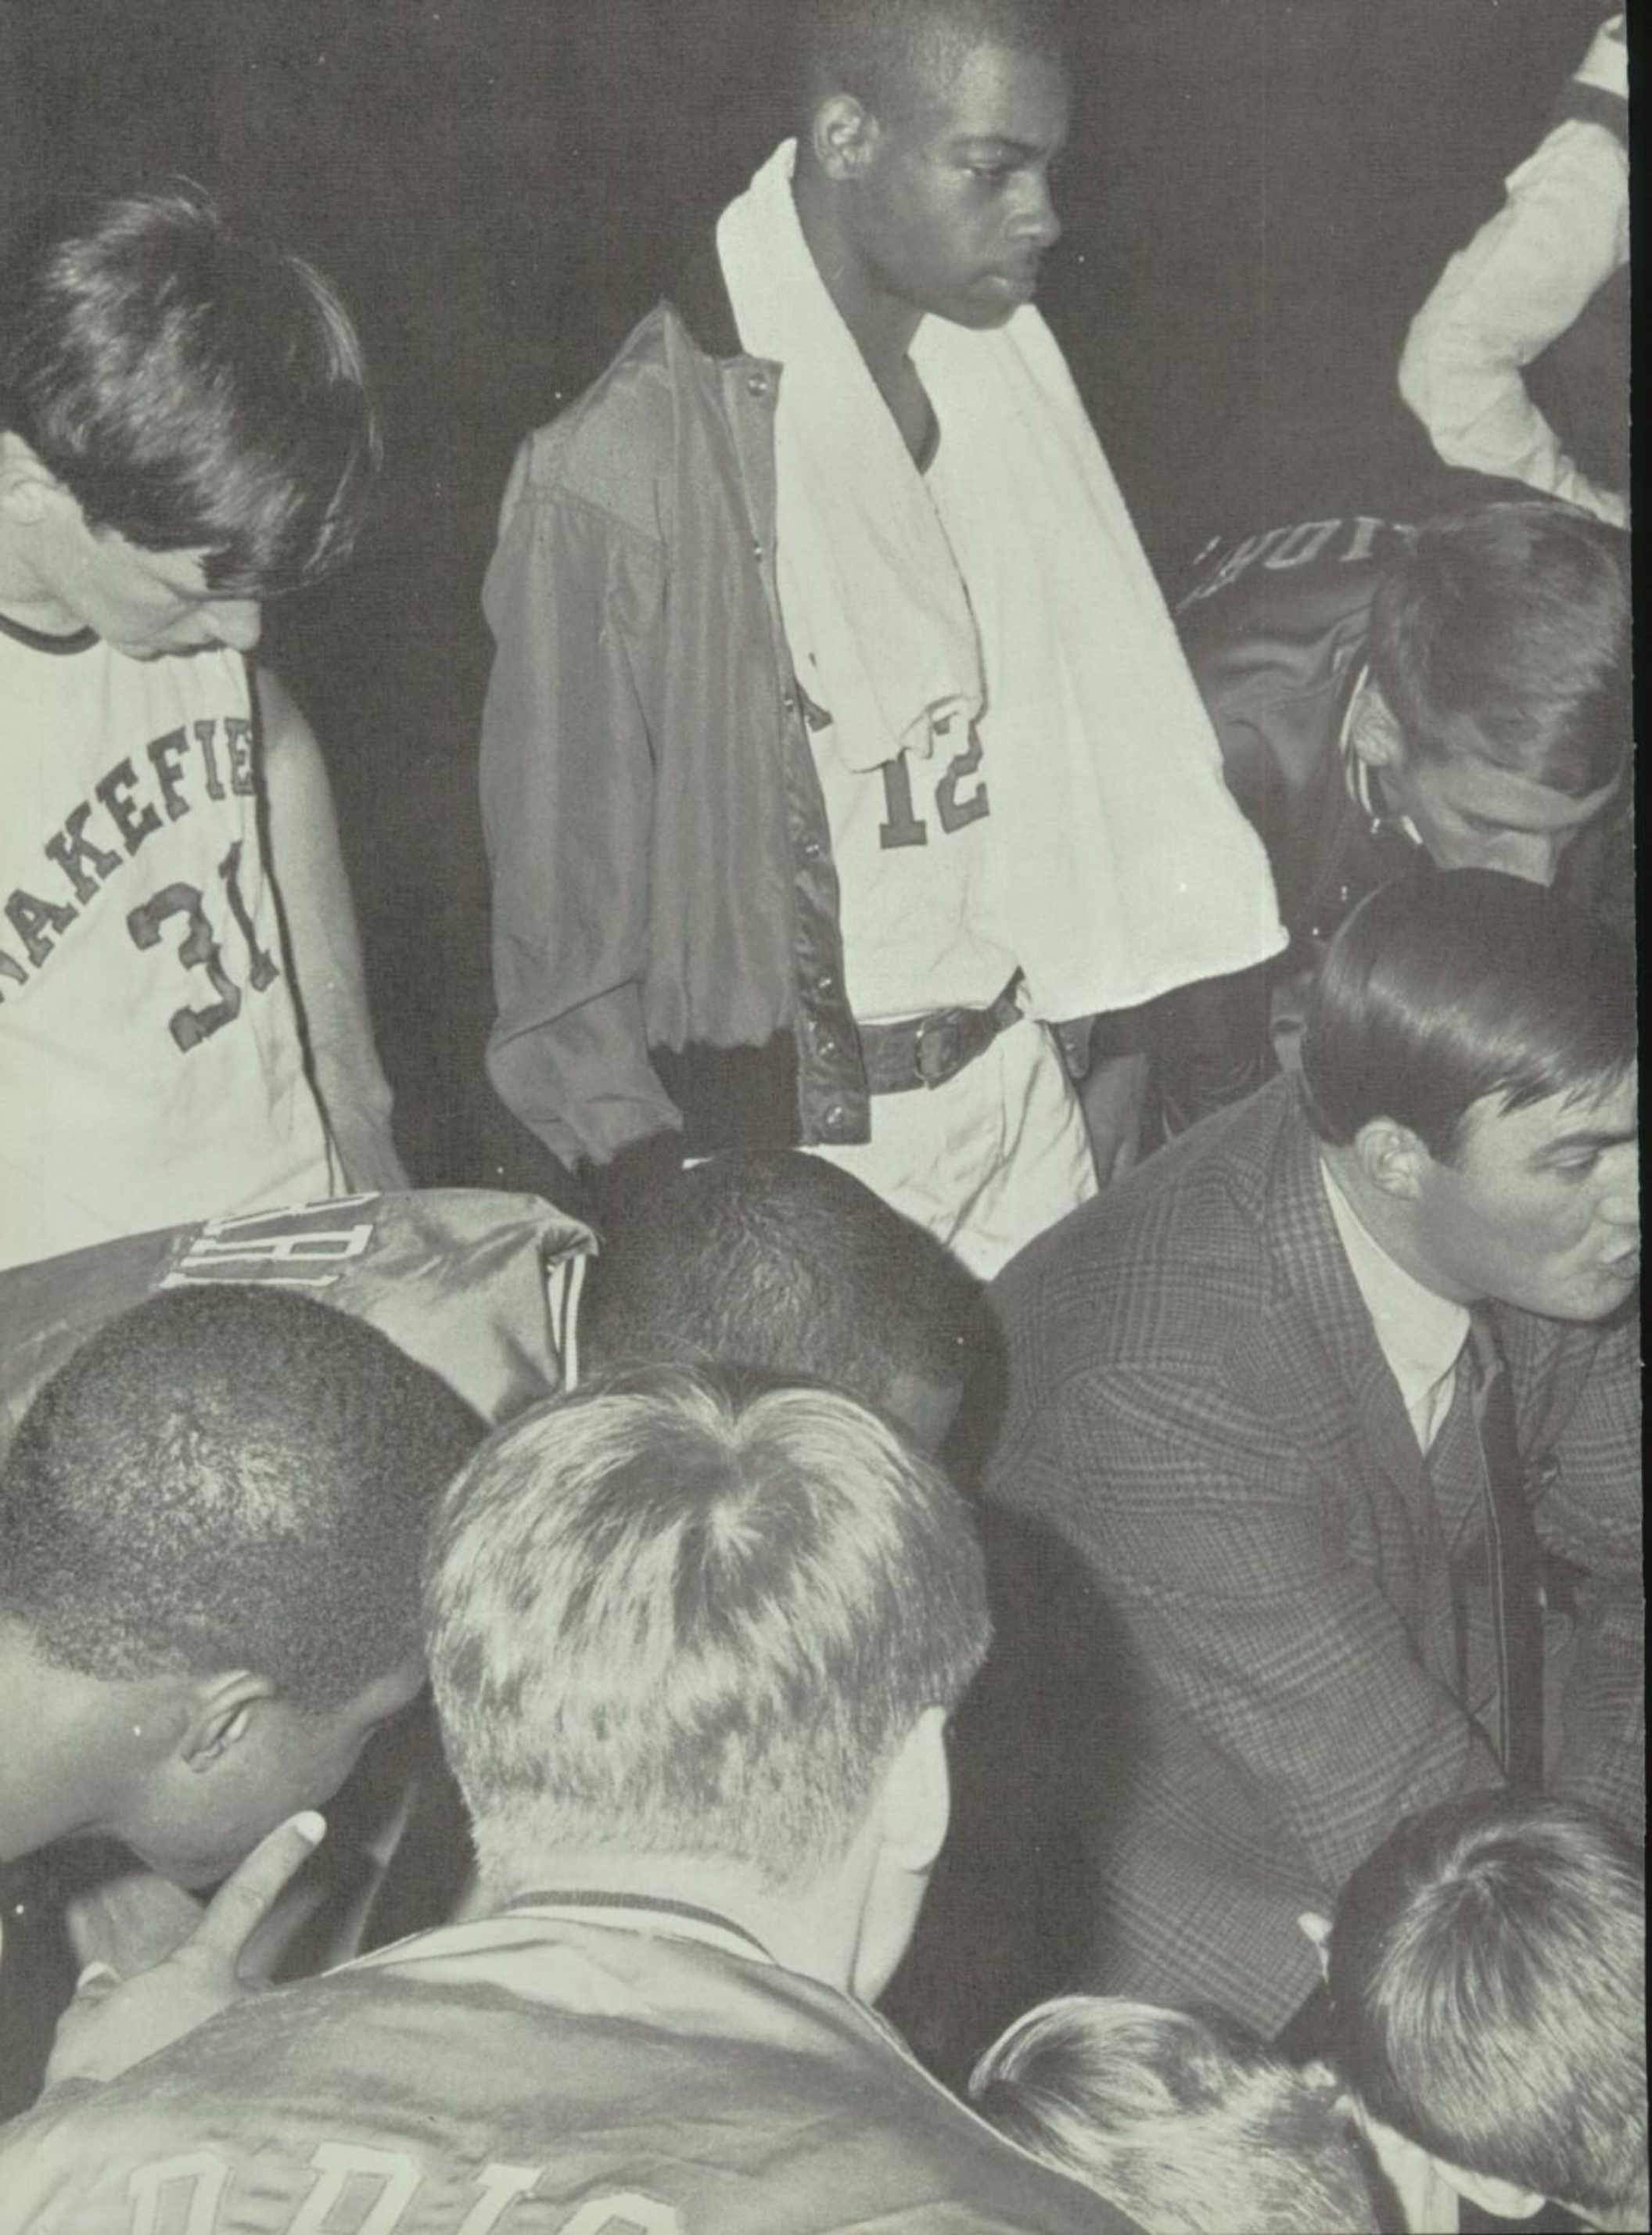

Successfully completing classwork and 540 hours of on-the-job training, students receive two credits toward their high school requirements for graduation. Upon graduation, students in accordance with their training and experience, are guaranteed placement on a job.

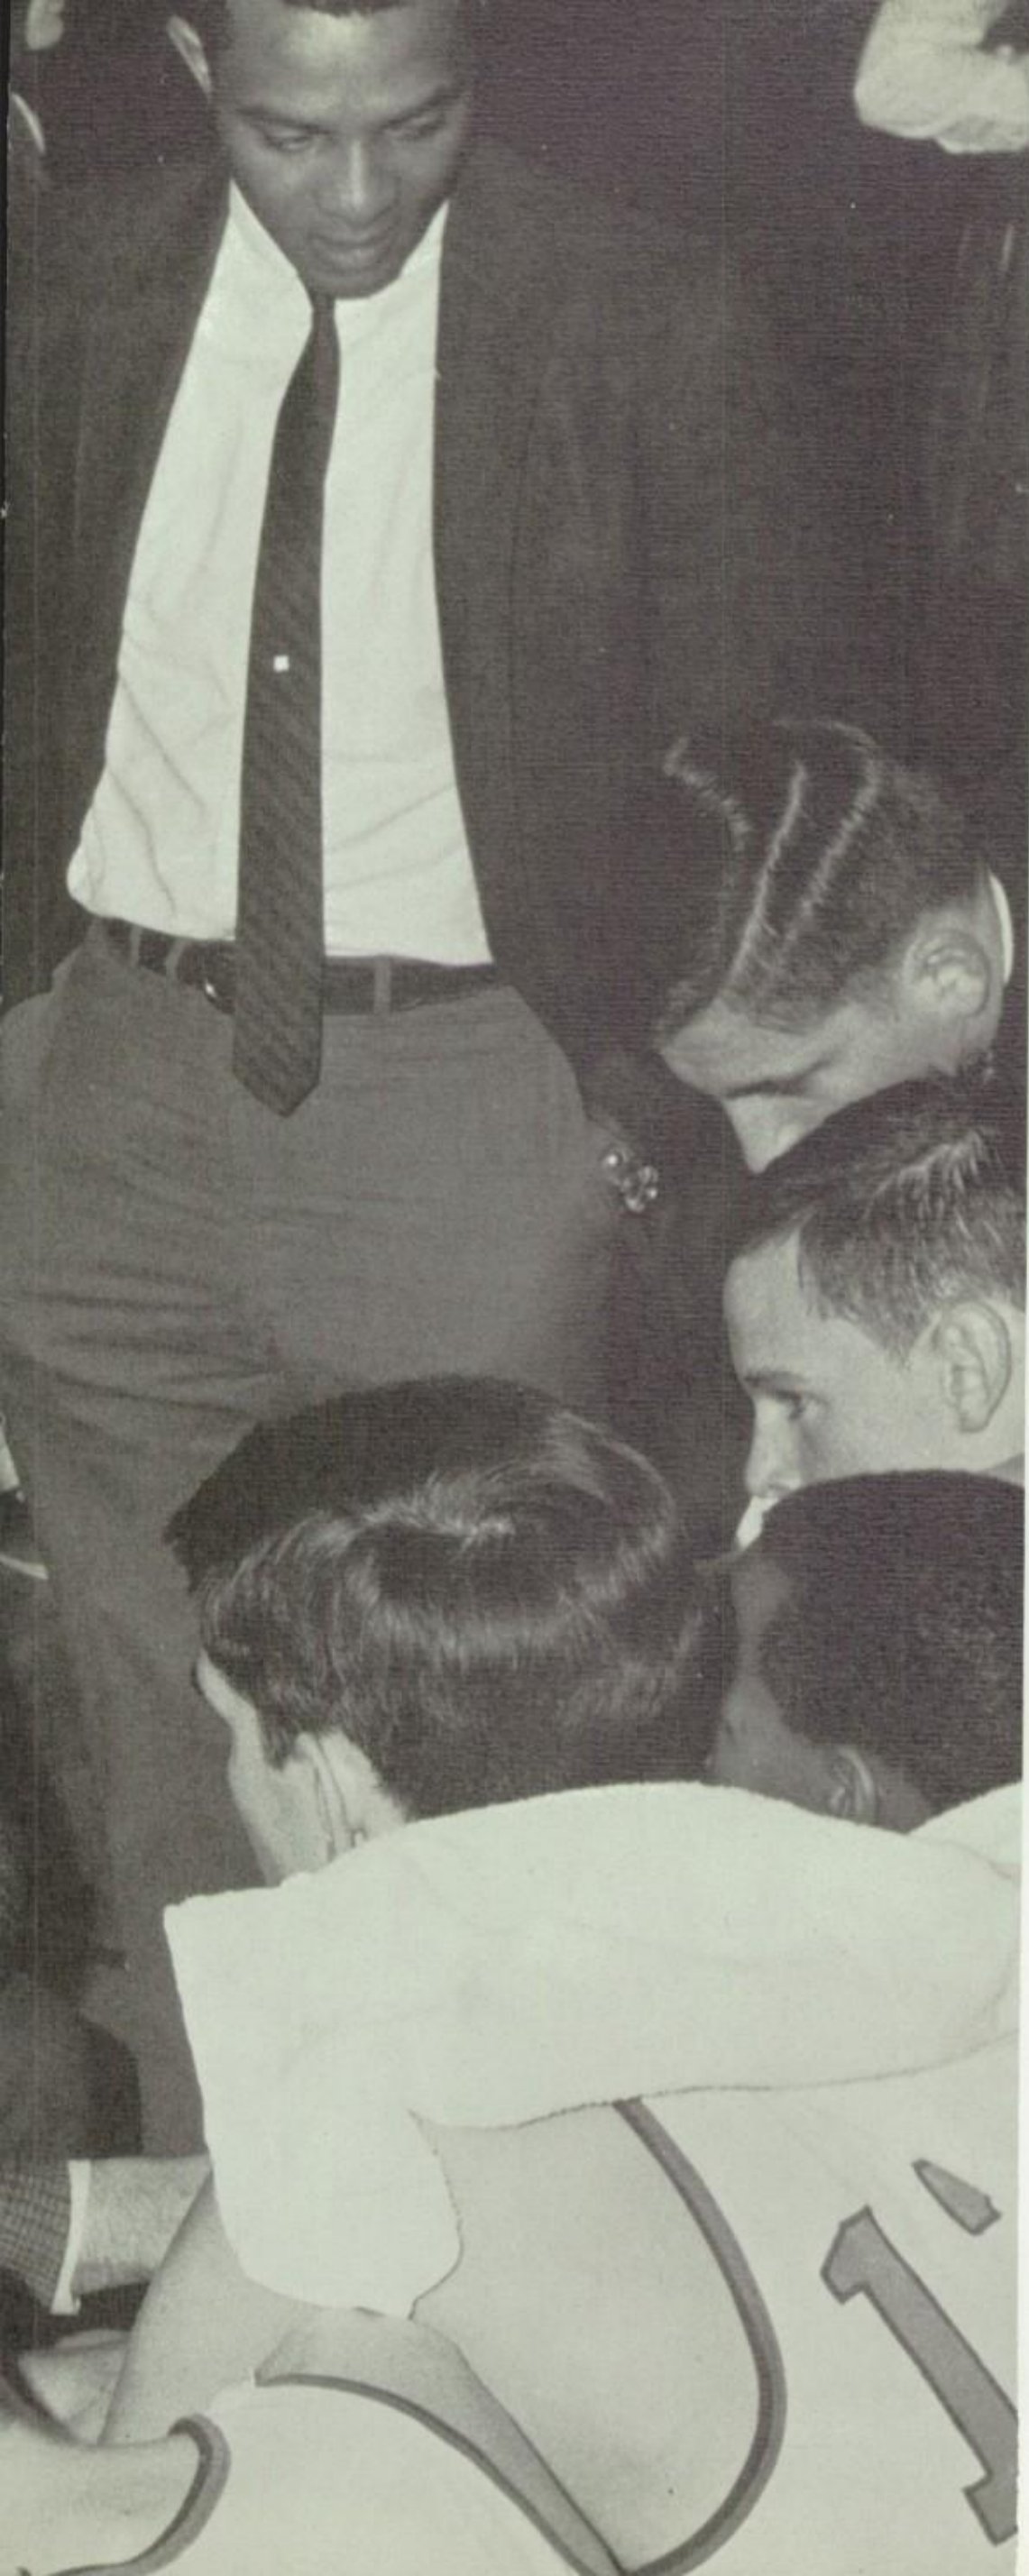

Activities of this club include monthly business and/or program meetings, open house for parents and employers, field trips based on some phase of business administration, community projects, fund raising drives to cover the costs of the club's activities and the Annual Employer-Employee Dinner.

VOT Officers: Barbara Boyles, Vice President; Sandy Hall, Recording Secretary; Rosalee Bowles, Corresponding Secretary; Clare Smith, President; Mike Torpy, Treasurer.

ATHLETICS

Athletics is

- . . . aches and pains received from practicing long hot hours
- . . . achieving perfection through constant practice
- . . . the embarrassment of dropping your baton in front of a crowd at half-time
- . . . a cheap place to take your date
- . . . the heartbreak of defeat and the joy of victory
- . . . where all prejudices are forgotten in the struggle to victory
- . . . having some dopey girl ask you why you're running in the halls
- . . . starving yourself to make weight
- . . . where individual skills are pooled together to make a team
- . . . a contest against the clock
- . . . listening to some "expert" tell you what you did wrong
- . . . losing but still willing to try again next time
- . . . a way to get your name in the paper
- . . . being number ONE!

This year for the first time there has been close cooperation between the Junior Varsity and Varsity Cheerleaders, chiefly because both are under the direction of Miss Wolfe. The highlights of the year were the W-L Pep Rally, the Basketball Assembly, and the cheerleading clinic in Washington. At this area-wide competition the combined group placed third.

Led by co-captains Vicki Dimitras and Chris Reidy, the J.V. girls learned many new cheers and chants. Perhaps the most influential type are the new "soul" cheers, such as "S-O-U-L Team," "Ah Beat Beat," and "Our Team Has Soul, Yeah Yeah." For the B-Ball season the girls broke away from the traditional wool uniforms and designed new green corduroy ones.

Since the J.V. Football and Basketball teams have both had excellent seasons, they have attracted large crowds with more spirit than ever before.

Ah, Beat Beat! Ah, Beat Beat!

What's green and white, cute, and roams around the school spreading school spirit? Other than a teenage leprechaun, one of the few things that fits that description is a Wakefield cheerleader.

The cheerleader's responsibility doesn't end on the athletic field as most people know. The girls make posters, hold parties for the Wakefield teams, and do countless other good deeds all around the school. But of course, by far and away the most pressing responsibility is putting a little female activity into Wakefield sports.

But girls will be girls, all work and no play, etc., so the girls held slumber parties and went out to dinner. All the new cheers were due to a cheerleading clinic held this summer.

Majorettes March Forward

Providing good half-time entertainment for football and basketball games was the aim of this year's Majorettes. Beginning early in June, working hard and long, throughout the summer and into the school year, the girls achieved near perfection in their many twirling and marching routines. During football season the Majorettes twirled flaming batons, marched proudly, and made formations with the Marching Band.

Not stopping to rest, they practiced to appear at our basketball games. Here they showed off their individual talents while wearing their new white uniforms. Under the leadership of captains Janet Smarr, and Judy McCrea they marched with the Marching Band in the Apple Blossom Parade, Safety Patrol Parade, and various contests throughout the state; proudly representing their school.

Throughout the year they appeared in green and white on the days of all varsity games, to promote the pride and spirit of Wakefield.

Drill Team On Parade

Once again the Wakefield Drill Team repeats its past performances by marching at all home football games. This year the Drill Team renewed a former tradition of entertaining at Basketball half-times. With the help of the Marching Band the girls have enhanced the quality of drill formations.

Under the leadership of captain Dottie Nyland and co-captain Ann Daniel the girls certainly brighten up a drab football field. However their basic intention is to increase spirit, which is vitally needed to support Wakefield teams.

Drilling might look easy, but the girls will tell you it takes a lot of hard practice to achieve an effortless performance.

Two Named to All-Metro Team

With the most shut-outs in Wakefield's history the soccer team completed a successful season. Coached by Mr. Ed Reynolds the Booters began the season with one letterman and three boys who had limited game experience. Winning their first game against George Mason, the Booters went on to settle for a 1-1 tie with Wilson, and a scoreless game against Harker. As the season continued on the Warriors lost to American University, Georgetown, Blair, and Walter Johnson. Finishing up with wins over George Mason, Harker, American University, University of Virginia, and Georgetown, and added a tie against Einstein to their record.

This year Robbie Sparkes, the leading scorer was named All—Metropolitan fullback; and Bob Munson was named All—Metro second string goalie. The team selected Robbie Sparkes as the most "valuable player." Also, among the awards, Coach Reynolds received from the soccer team an award for the "Greatest Coach."

Though small in stature, soccer forward Marc Beekman proves he is more adequate on the field as he prepares to assault the object of the game.

In a pre-game pep talk, Coach Reynolds outlines the strategy to his team as they meditate in the home dug-out.

Warriors Are Fifth In District

No current Wakefield student had ever felt the crushing blow of an unsuccessful Warrior football season . . . until this year. Despite fine coaching and hard playing, the team's record wound up on the minus side of the ledger. This is not, however, to say that it was a very poor season. As football people are fond of saying, "We never got any breaks."

The Warriors opened at home but still proceeded to put their worst foot forward against the Federals of Fort Hunt. At the final gun the score was 25-7, Fort Hunt.

Any hopes for a 9-1 season were promptly dashed by a powerful Yorktown team. The Patriots, our local Potomac District rivals, handed the Warriors a resounding 36-13 setback. This was to be the Warrior's greatest losing margin of the season.

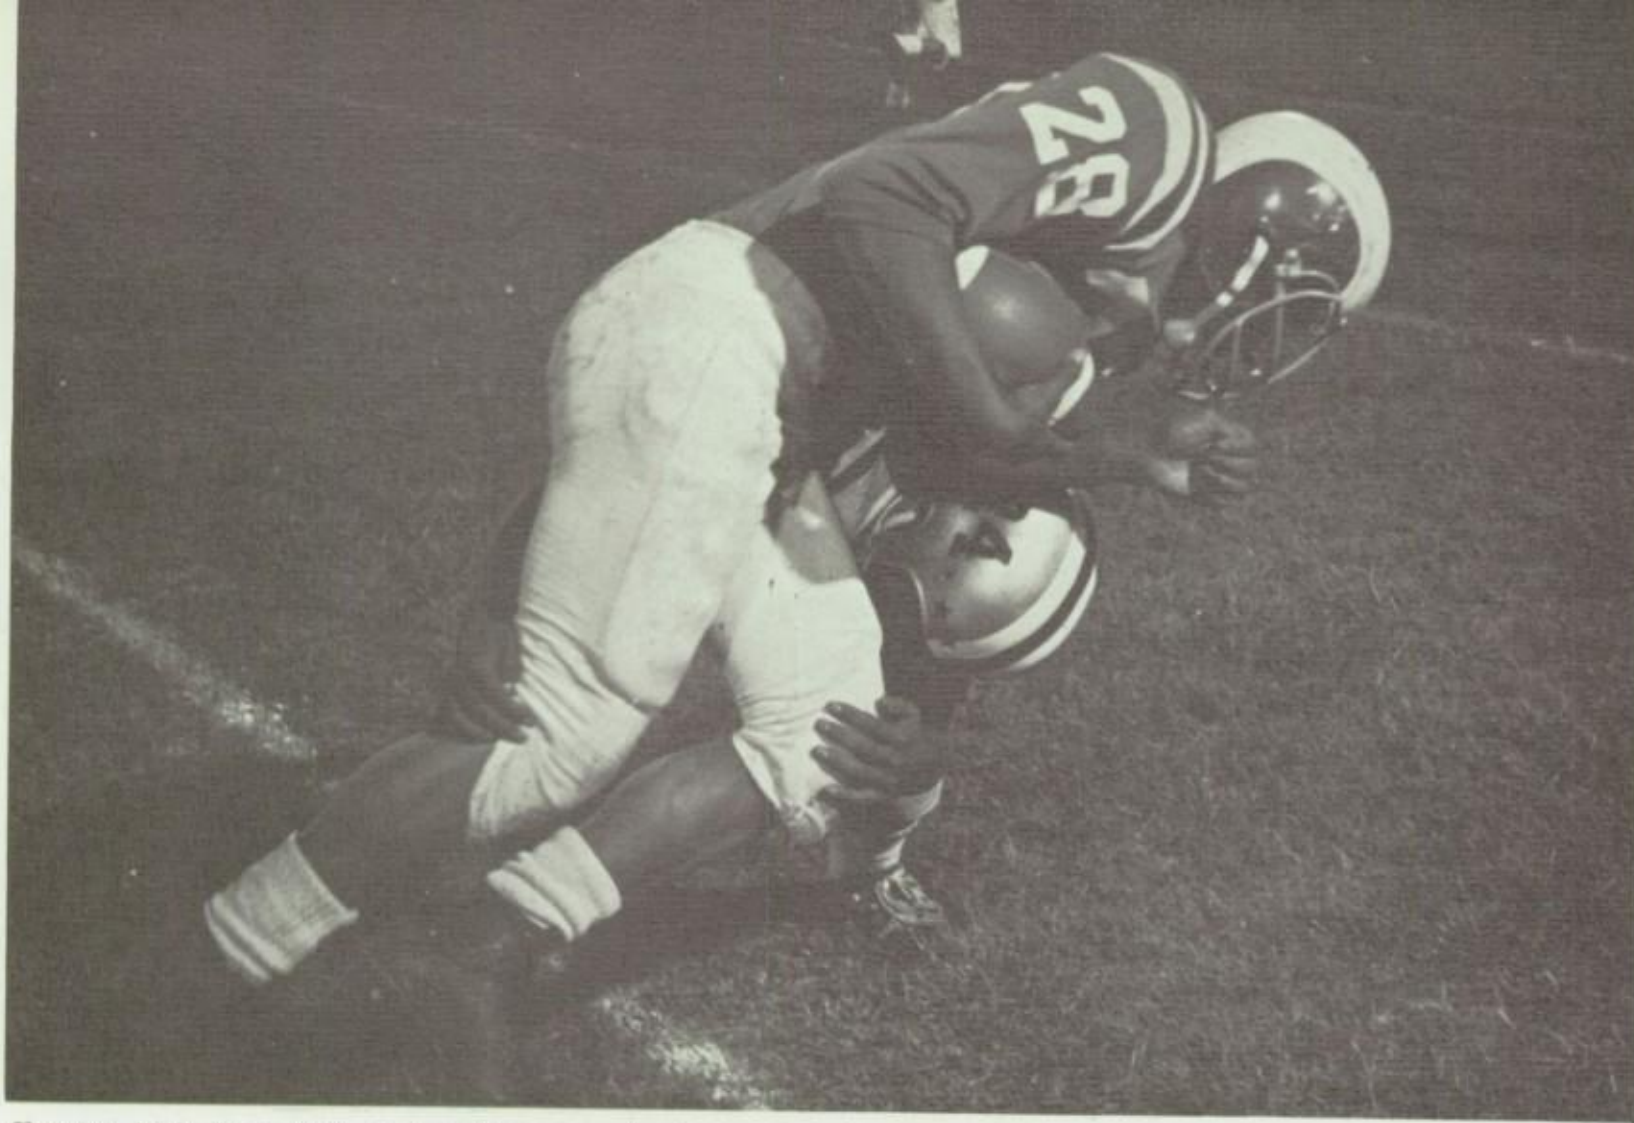

Against O'Connell, a last minute Wakefield rally fell short, thus depriving our boys of a deserved first victory and dealing them a third defeat. Final score? A heartbreaking 16-13 tally.

Warriors Beat Ireton 34-0

Mike Tixier, who valiantly piloted our team all season, sets up for another ingenious play during the hard-fought W-L game.

After a particularly fierce collision, running back Jim Trice is sidelined while trainer Jim Motes checks an injured foot.

Well, maybe he got away this time, but our defense caught up with him. Wakefield won 34-0 against Ireton.

That's when the new kid on the block appeared and to the great delight of our much maligned Warriors, this guy wasn't so tough after all. Bishop Ireton, playing in their first Potomac District season fell victim to a devastating Warrior attack, out of which Wakefield emerged with a 34-0 win.

The Warriors were sky high for the Marshall game, but neither the Warriors or the Statesmen could get untracked in the unplayable mud and Wakefield slogged its way to a 6-6 tie. The Warriors' 1-3-1 record was to be the high water mark of the season.

The traditional game with Washington-Lee resulted in a 20-6 loss for the Warriors, but as any Wakefield student will tell you, we had them in spirit!

The T. C. Williams Titans handed the Warriors a 21-0 shellacking, and at this point the spectators were staying away in droves.

Scratch one jug. Our boys fought hard but a 20-7 victory gave Hammond temporary possession of the victory jug.

"Go for a hundred!" was an oft heard saying the week before the Warriors took on fourth ranked Dematha led by monstrous Bruce Mitchell. However, the Stags must have been reading their press clipping as an inspired Wakefield team left at the halftime leading! But a fairy tale ending was not in the offing as our newly-beloved Warriors were caught from behind 26-13.

The "Super-Cellar Bowl" pitted Wakefield against the Presidents of George Washington. The Warriors finished the season with a sweet taste in their mouths as they drubbed the Prexies 28-0.

Our quarterback, Mike Tixier, looks apprehensive as he talks to the press box via field telephone.

Bob Glenn sweeps around the left end, but not quite in time to avoid being nabbed by a W-L player.

Baby Warriors Undeclared

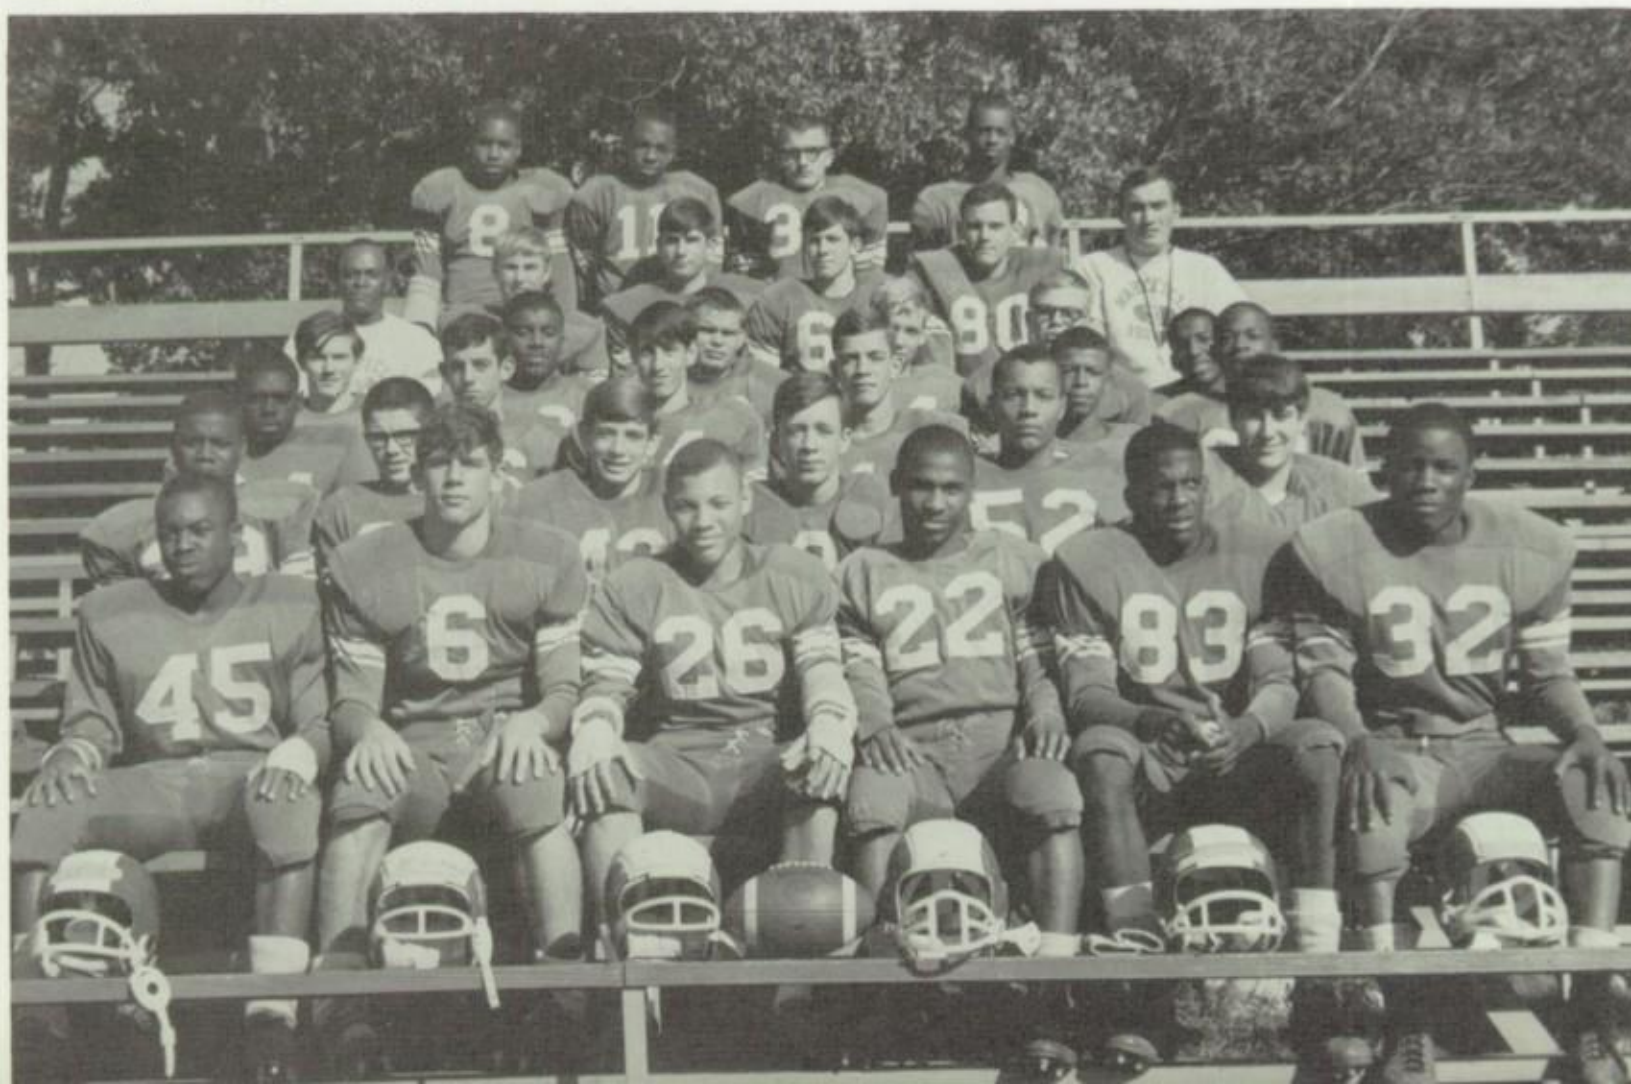

"Dump" Somers zips behind a sailing O'Connell defensive player to catch a pass.

This year was the first time in the history of Wakefield that a Junior Varsity Football Team had an undefeated season. Under the direction of Mr. James Vandell and Mr. William Lee, the team compiled a 7-win record. The Warriors got off to a good start by downing George Washington 31-6. The next week the team shut out O'Connell 42-0. The Baby Warriors repeated their performance the next two weeks by shutting out Ireton 32-0 and Marshall 26-0. The team went on to clobber Washington-Lee 34-13 the following week. With their luck holding the Baby Warriors thumped T. C. Williams 35-0. The Junior Varsity finished the season with 26-6 victory over Hammond, which ended a perfect season for the Junior Varsity Football Team.

Harriers Take Third At State

Under the direction of Coach Charles Ballew, Wakefield's cross country team completed another triumphant season. Led by Frank Newbold, Tom Munson, Harris Koenig, and Charles Skeirik, the Harriers were selected the Number One Team in the Metropolitan area.

Undefeated in dual meets, the Harriers placed first in the District and in the Northern Virginia Regional. At the Wakefield Invitational the Warriors placed second in a field of 22 schools. Harrier Frank Newbold set a new two mile course record. The team went on to place third at the Virginia State Meet.

Co-Captain Frank Newbold was named the Number One Choice of the Coaches in the Metropolitan area. Also, Co-Captain Tom Munson was named first selection for All-Metropolitan.

A combination of anguish and exhaustion distort Frank Newbold's face as he crosses the finish line in record breaking time at the Wakefield Invitational.

Warriors Tie For District Title

Spurred on by the memory of last year's team, which took a third place in the state championship, the 1967-68 edition of the Wakefield basketball squad looked for bigger and better things. With only a minor change in script it all could have happened, but there was to be no fairytale ending in the offing this time. Led by everyone's all district center, Jim Warns, and a brand new coach, Mr. Jim Vandell, the Warriors compiled a 15-4 record in regular season competition and tied for the Potomac District Championship. However, the tournament proved quite another story.

The Warriors started off well enough, leaving Mt. Vernon in shambles, 78-37, and drubbing highly touted Groveton, 72-44, before giving Washington-Lee its comeuppance by a 53-50 margin. Our roundballers then proceeded to Woodson and hung an 85-71 setback on the Cavaliers.

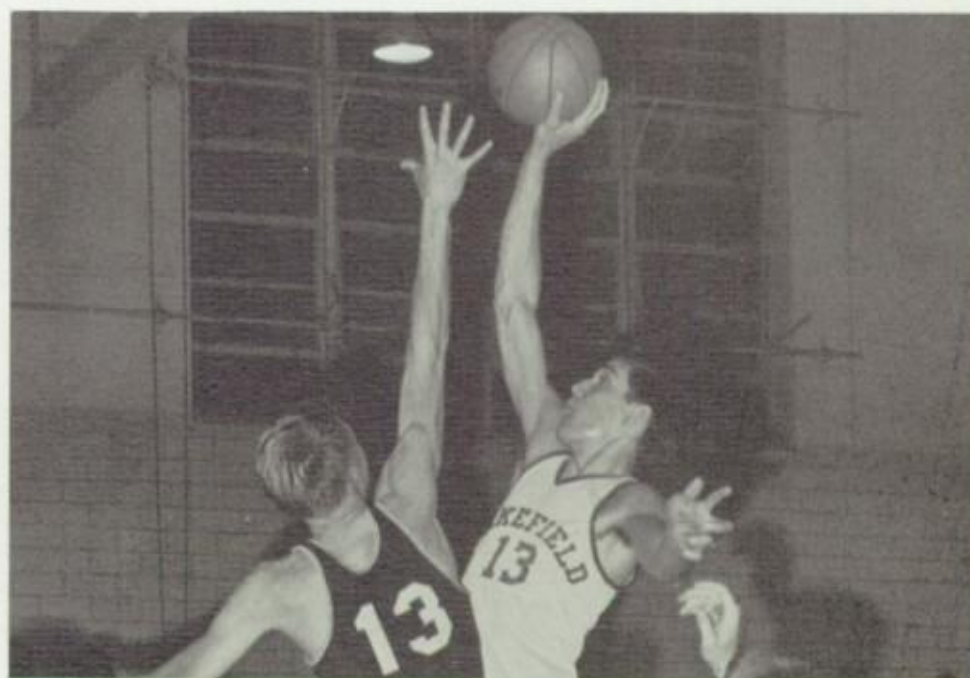

However, all good things must come to an end, and Wakefield was unceremoniously scuttled by Hammond's Admirals. Things got worse, too, as George Washington (who later took second in the state) devastated the Warriors 67-58. But the fellow who makes the schedule must have had revenge in his mind as "Our Gang" made their annual pilgrimage to Yorktown and swamped the Patriots, 84-66.

Bishop Ireton was added to the Warrior's "Hall of Humiliated Hosts" as the Cardinal's gym provided the backdrop for a 64-51 debacle. Six foot ten inch Greg Longshore and the Knights of O'Connell proved no match for Wonderful Warns and his Weekend Warriors as Wakefield romped, 95-62.

But then came Black Tuesday as a last minute 10 footer gave Edison a 65-64 victory over the Warriors.

However, the Warriors rebounded quickly (no pun intended) and within five days of each other, Wakefield had picked up victories over Williams, Washington-Lee, and Hammond.

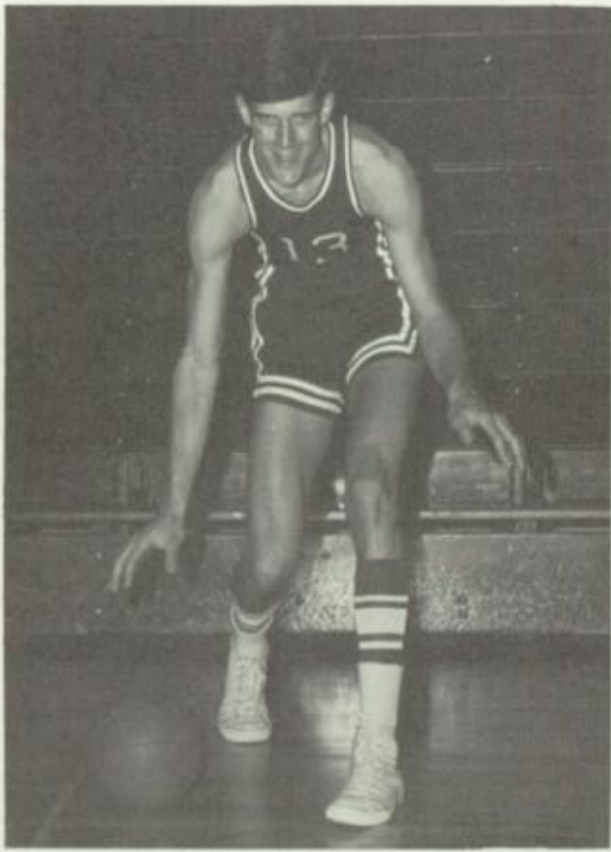

Next conquest on the agenda was the annual "Riot-Bowl" also known as the Wakefield-G.W. game at G.W. But the action in the stands was nothing to compare with that on the court as the B-Ballers overcame a 19 point deficit to emerge with a 54-50 win and throw the Potomac District race into chaos. Yorktown once more fell victim to the Warrior's war club. O'Connell, too, was soundly beaten as Wakefield began to look more and more like the class team of the area. Ireton became the test case for Mr. Vandell's new book, "How to Score 101 Points and Still not Have the High Scorer of the Game," as Bruce McLennan's 16 points were handily topped by Jeff Deslory who sank 23 for the vanquished Cards.

Hoopsters Compile 15-4 Season

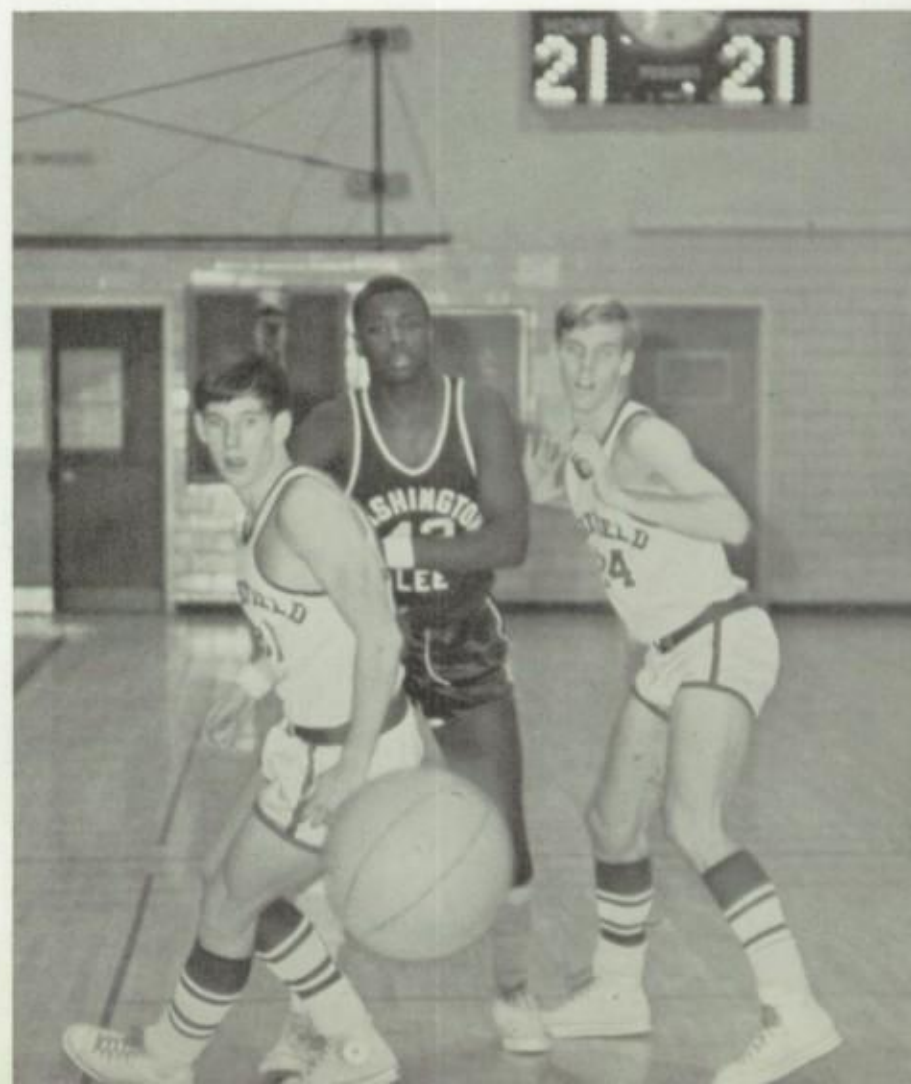

Hoopster Jim Warns prepares to stuff a Hammond Admiral as Steve Allen aids from behind.

The "must" game of the season came on Friday, February 16, at the Warriors took on T.C. Williams, perhaps the hottest team in the Potomac District at the time. The game 51-51 after regulation, but with only seconds left, Jim Warns, who had scored only four points previously, sank a two pointer and intercepted a desperation pass to clinch a 53-51 win, and a share of the Potomac District Title.

But the sad thing was that the Warrior's tournament action began and ended on the same night, as the Titans from Williams gained their revenge with a 66-57 victory, only to lose to G.W. two nights later.

"Hey, man! What's that??"

Baby B-Ballers Have Winning Season

This season the baby B-Ballers finished with an impressive 12 wins and 6 losses. The boys started off by winning five straight games against Mount Vernon, Groveton, W-L, Woodson, and Hammond. After a close game that ended in victory for G.W., the team went on to beat Yorktown, Ireton, and O'Connell. The next two games ended in defeat, first to Edison and then to a strong T.C. William's team. Beating W-L and Hammond again, and losing to G.W. brought the boys near to the end of the season. Seeming to lose some of their early "GO" power the boys lost, by one discouraging point, to O'Connell. Easily beating Ireton, and finishing off by losing again to T.C. the team brought to a close three months of Basketball.

Next year with promise of strong competition from T.C. Williams and G.W. we look to these players for our traditionally strong Varsity squad.

Warriors Host State Tournament

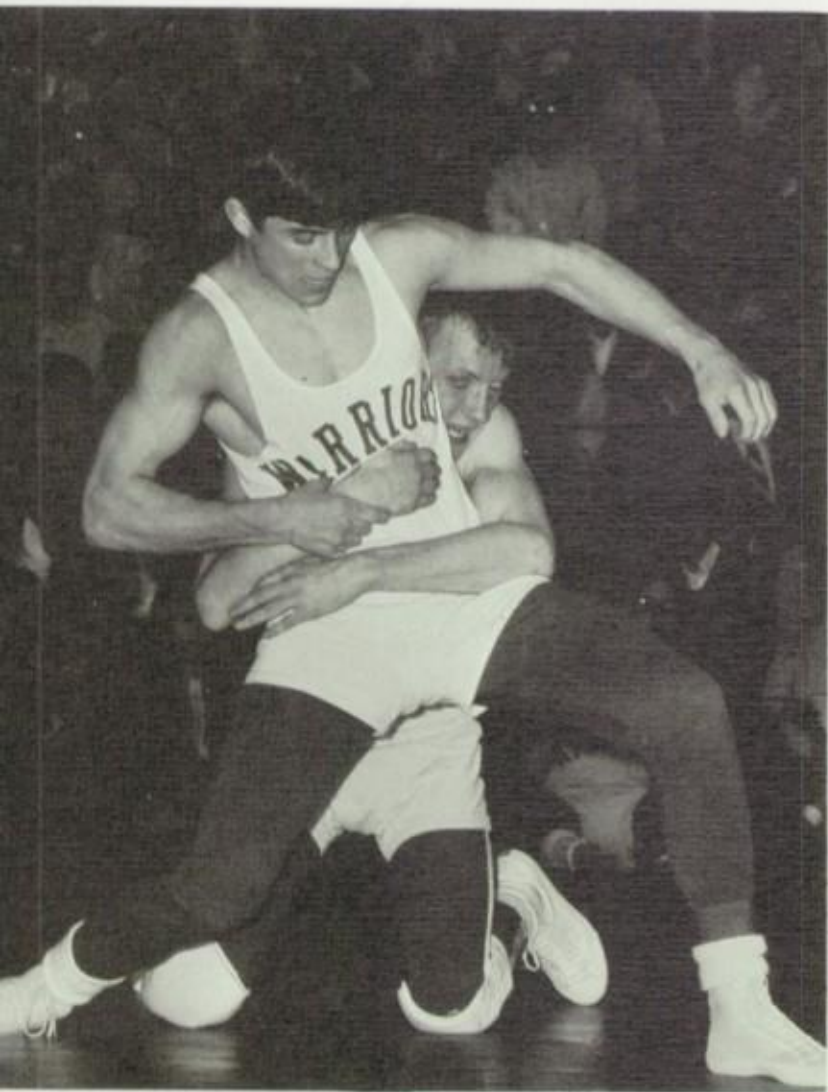

A relaxed Jim Bradshaw looks on for instructions.

Wakefield's Varsity Wrestling team had another triumphant season, compiling an 11-1-1 record. Under the direction of Mr. John Epperly, the matmen opened the season with a 48-2 victory over Fairfax. With winning on their minds, they went on to clout Woodson 27-10, Hammond 41-3, and George Washington 38-3. As all good things must come to an end, the Warriors were downed by the undefeated Annandale team 13-23. This loss was to be the only one of the season. Fortunately, the Warriors sprang back to defeat O'Connell 29-9 and Washington-Lee 21-17. The team next shut out T.C. Williams 50-0. The following week the Warriors and Fort Hunt settled for a 20-20 tie. Redeeming themselves, the matment smashed Bishop Ireton 43-2, and in the most exciting match of the season beat Yorktown 22-20. Capturing once again the District title, the team defeated Mt. Vernon 31-13.

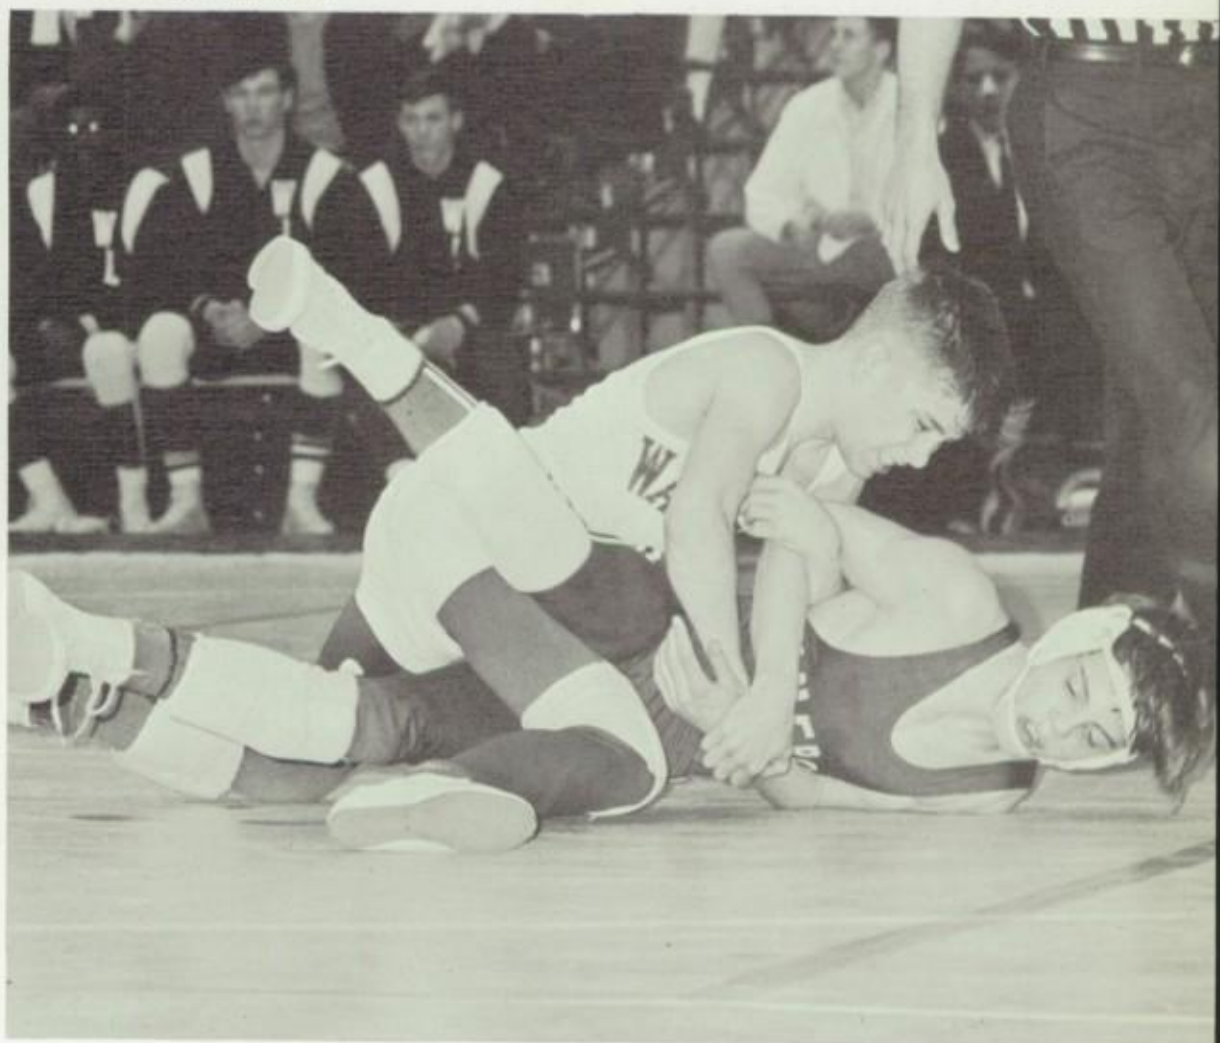

Undefeated in dual-meet league competition, the Grapplers placed third in the District Tourney and went on to place third in the Regional Tourney. With Regional champs Richard Taylor, James Bradshaw, and Howard Wilson, the Warriors hosted the State Tournament at Wakefield. The matment finished fourth in the State Tournament with James Bradshaw winning the 133 pound class championship, Barry Wilson taking second in the 95-lb. class, Howard Wilson capturing third in the 138-lb. class, and Richard Taylor placing fourth in the 127-lb. class.

JV Matmen Master Muscles

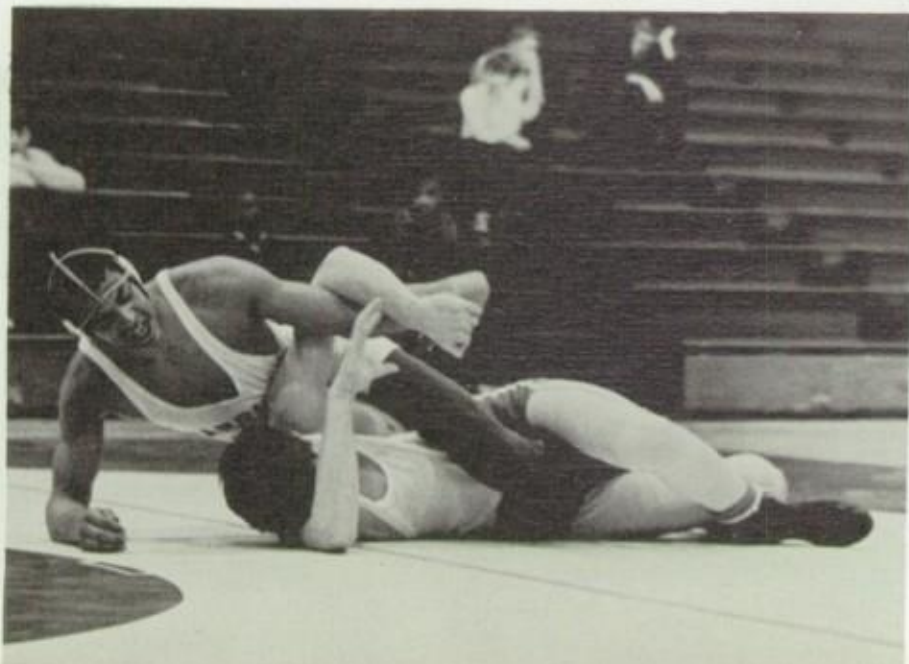

The Junior Varsity Wrestling Team proved one of the most capable in recent memory. The "Mini-Matmen," under the iron rule of Mr. Groves, fought their way through fourteen rugged matches, emerging triumphant in all but three of them. This, coupled with a fine nucleus of underclassmen on the varsity squad, would seem to indicate that next year's unit should be of top quality, as Wakefield students have come to expect from their grapplers.

On many occasions, JV wrestlers substituted for ill or otherwise indisposed Varsity matmen. More often than not they showed themselves to be highly talented, and on several occasions defeated more experienced opposition. All in all, the Warriors proved more than equal to the task at hand.

All wrapped up in the job at hand, Howard Coleman prepares to annihilate his opponent.

Peter Carroll smiles as he finds himself in a good position.

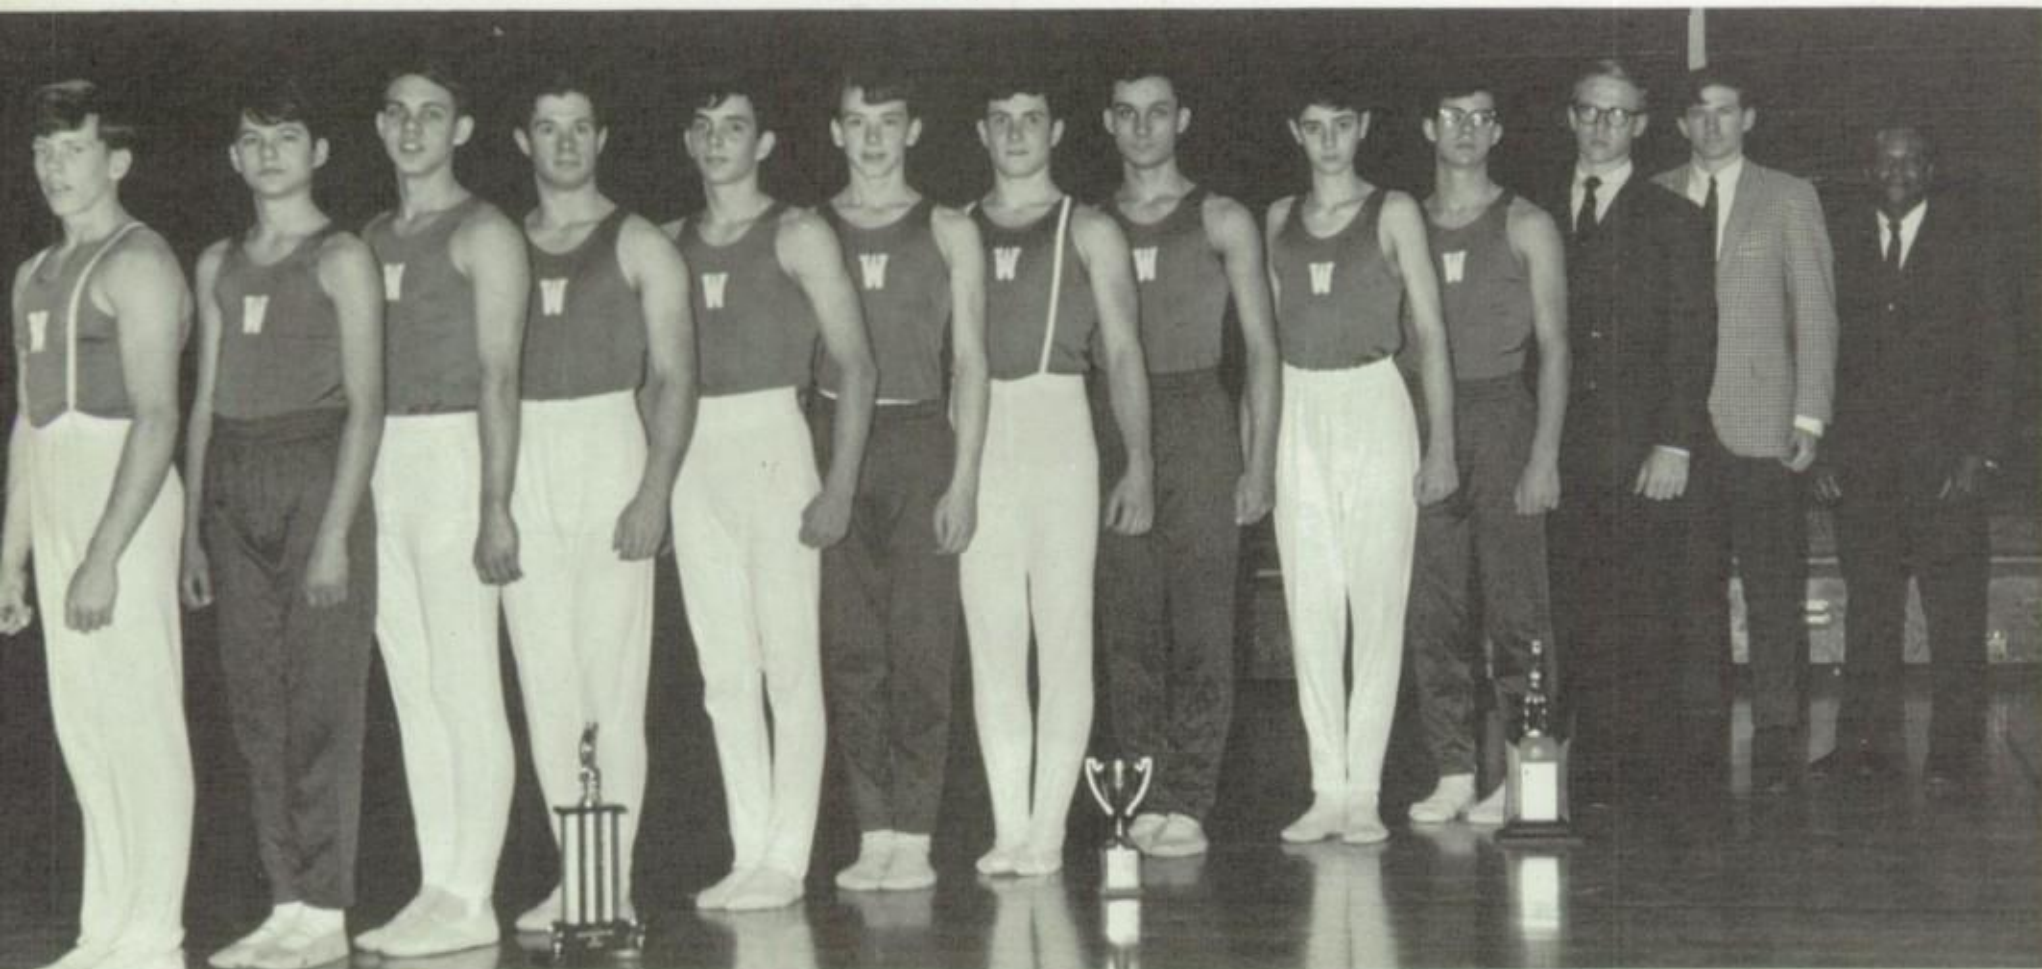

Mr. Sonen LOVES those trophies, brought home by the gymnastics team.

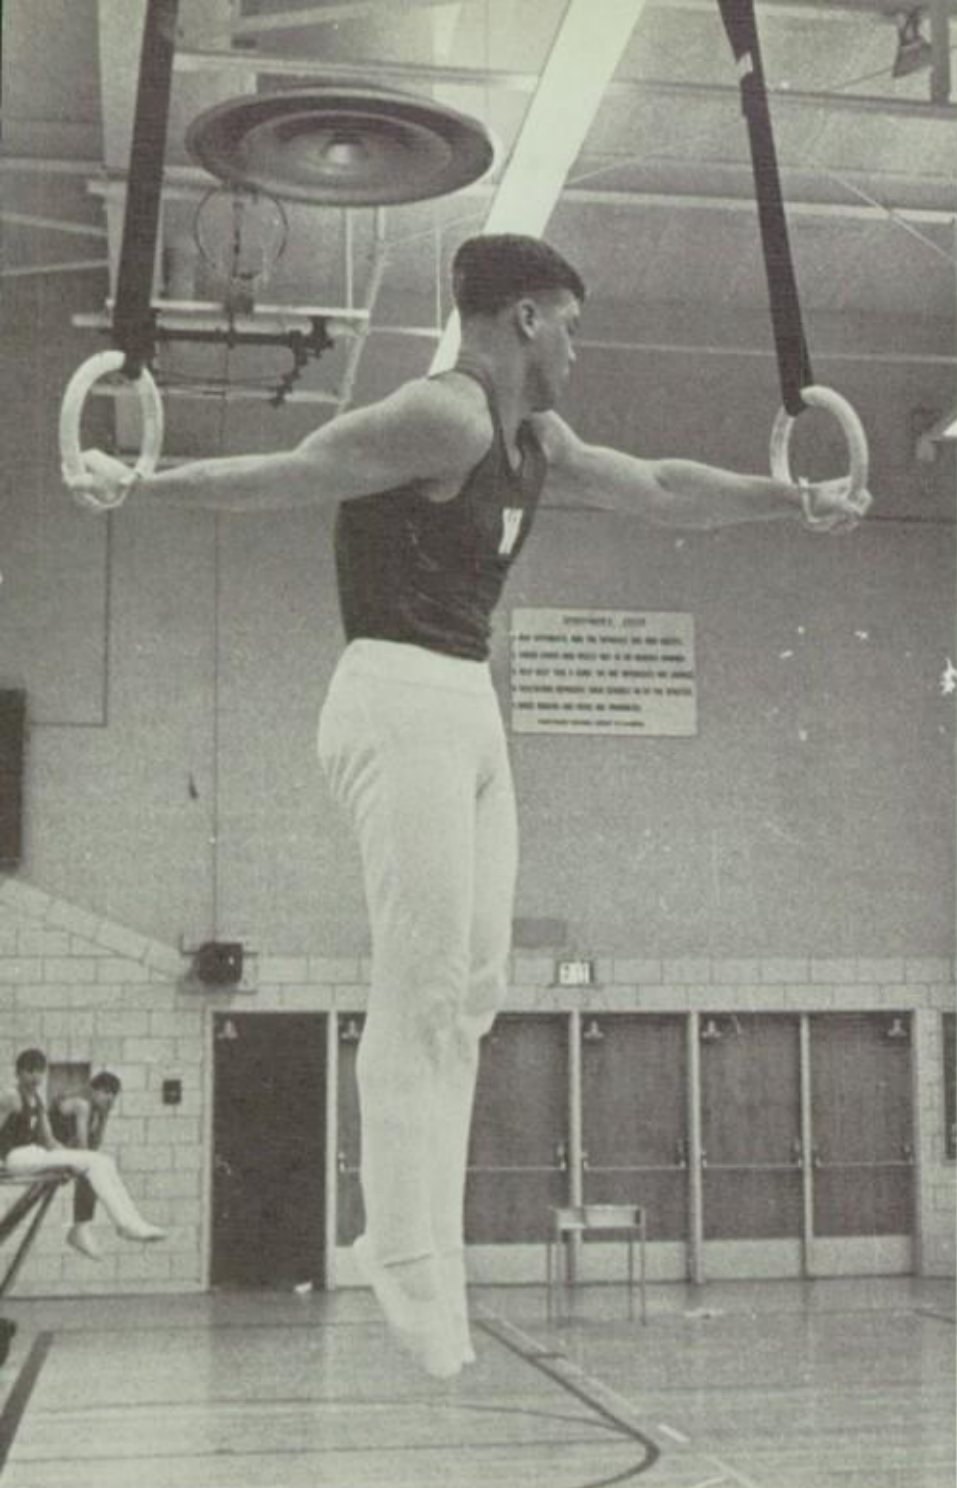

Two years ago the Varsity Boys Gymnastics Team were first in the state, however, last year they dropped to third place. This year the team moved up to a very respectable second place at the State Meet, held in Charlottesville. Senior Gymnast Mike Taffe Placed first in floor exercises, second on the long horse, vaulting, and fourth in all-around. While teammate Jay Mike placed first in the still rings, second on the parallel bars, third in floor exercises, and second in all-around.

Under the direction of Coach William Lee the Gymnasts had a perfect dual-meet record of 4-0 against George Washington, Washington-Lee, Yorktown, and T.C. Williams. Gymnastics is an individual sport, but one champion is unable to win a meet; it is a combined team effort that made possible these many victories.

Linda Jo Wilhelm is at ease right side up . . . or upside down.

This year the female flying warriors consisted of eight hard-working girls. Coached by Mr. Lee and Miss Copenhagen, the girls practiced late each afternoon in order to perfect their many routines and develop their form.

At the Yorktown Invitational Linda Jo Wilhelm, an outstanding gymnast, placed first on the balance beam. On March 1-2 the girls traveled to Richmond for the state meet. Nancy Michael captured a second in advanced beam, while Andrea backed her up with a third place. On the advanced uneven bars, and in intermediate tumbling Lee Hearn placed second. Andrea Linton also, received a third place in intermediate vaulting.

While not officially recognized as a varsity sport the ladies have earned much recognition in the last two years, and will hopefully gain this status again next year.

Thinclads Take Third At State

In the annual Winter Awards Assembly, our track members were rewarded for their achievements.

Under the direction of Mr. James Motes, Wakefield's Winter Track Team completed an undefeated season in dual meets. Besides being undefeated, the trackmen were first in Northern Virginia and placed third at the State Meet. Traveling to the D.C. Armory, the Thinclads brought home a third place at the Metropolitan Invitational Meet.

Batmen Top Titans

Agony . . . waiting your turn at bat.

Wakefield's Varsity Baseball Team, under the direction of Mr. Al McCulloch opened the season on a winning note by downing T.C. Williams 4-2. Against the Ireton Cardinals the Warriors came out on the short end of a 1-8 score. The O'Connell contest brought nothing better as the Warriors' big guns were silenced while the Knights pushed two runs across the plate. Retiring to the relative safety of their practice diamond, the swingers attempted to learn how to hit 'em where they ain't.

Net Results: A Winning Season

Charles Benedict, number two man.

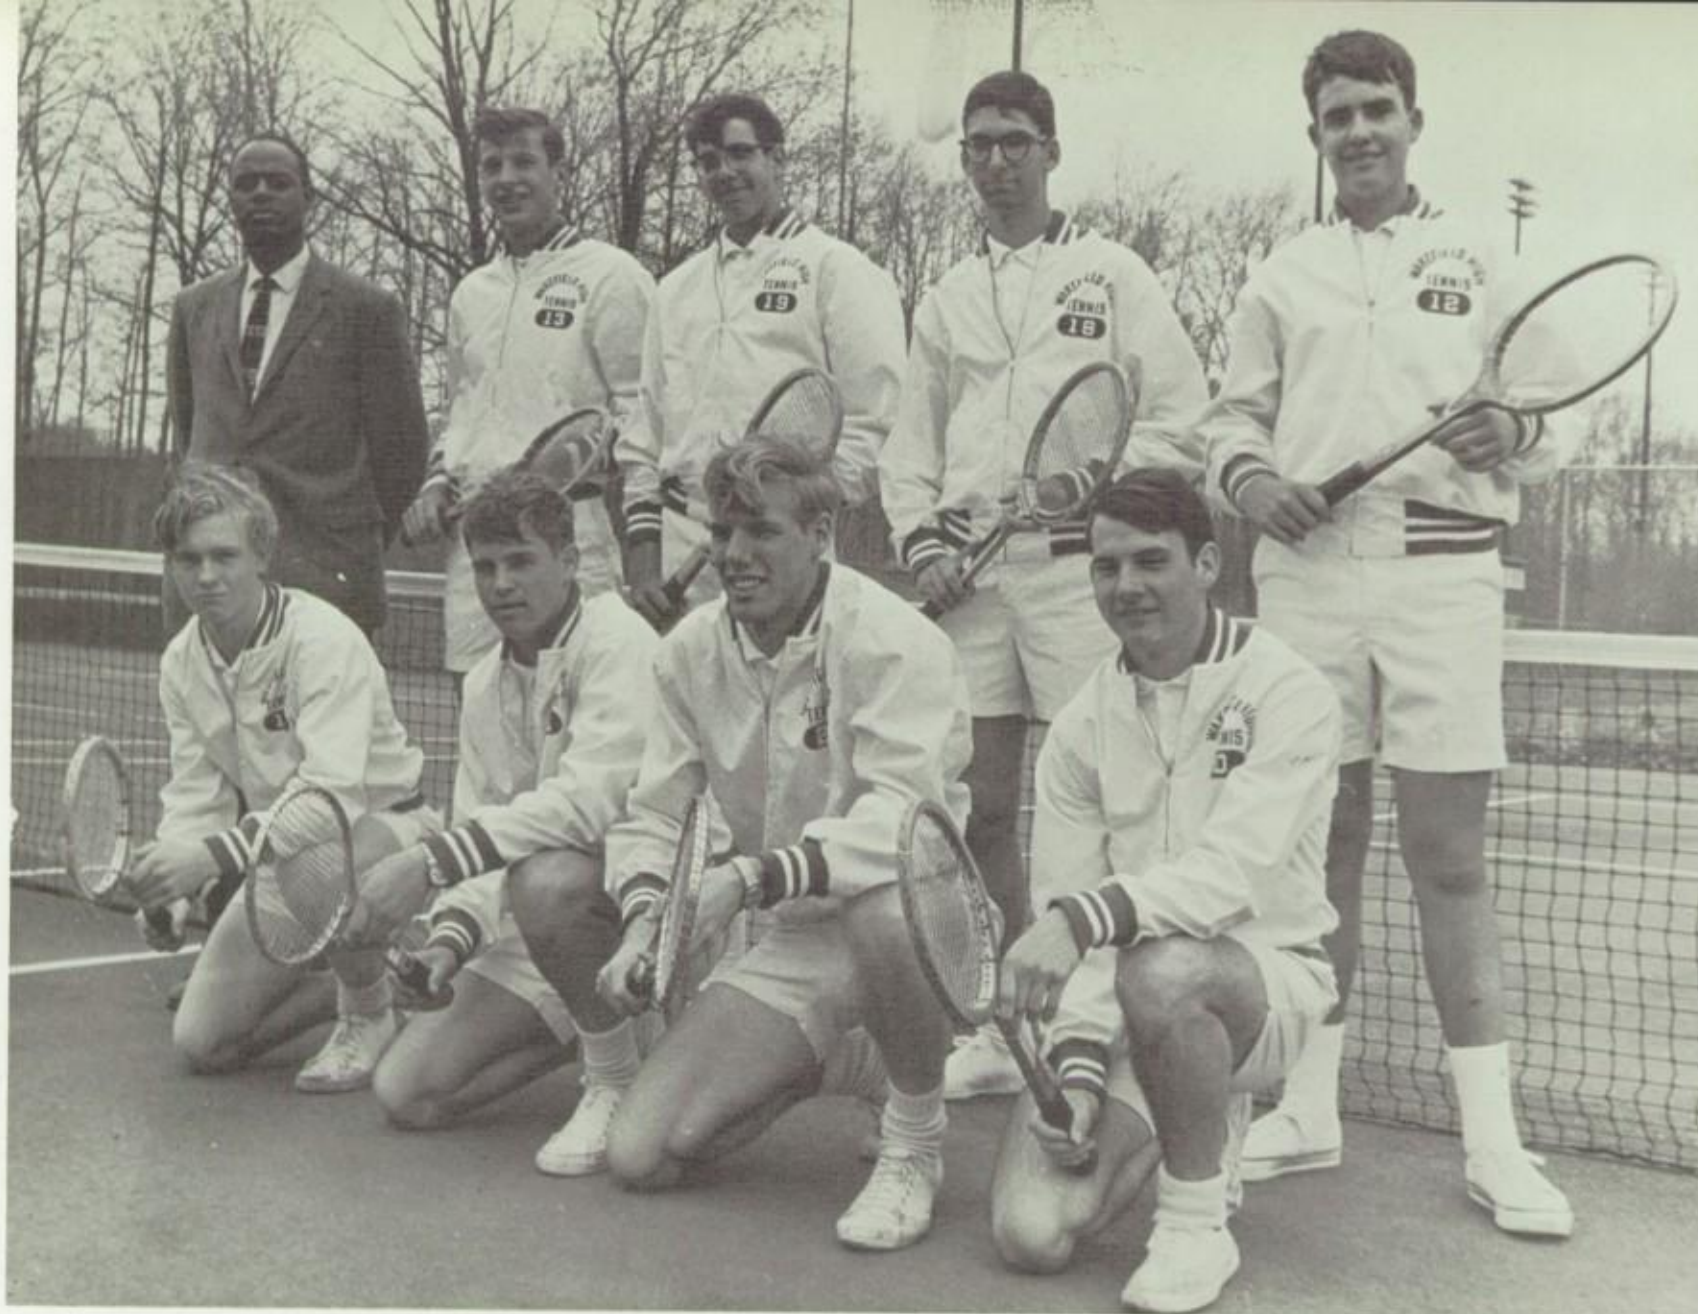

Starter John Price.

Coach Neal Haygood and his "Racqueteers" entered the 1968 season with strong hopes for winning the Potomac District Championship. Bob Brewer, the only returning letterman and state doubles champion, was the number one man. This year Chuck Benedict filled the second spot on the team with the four remaining places still up for grabs.

This year the team was strong in the top few spots but somewhat weaker in the lower brackets.

Letterman and Captain Bob Brewer.

The "Ked's Kids" Win Dual Meets

Muscles at the ready, Jay goes for the record.

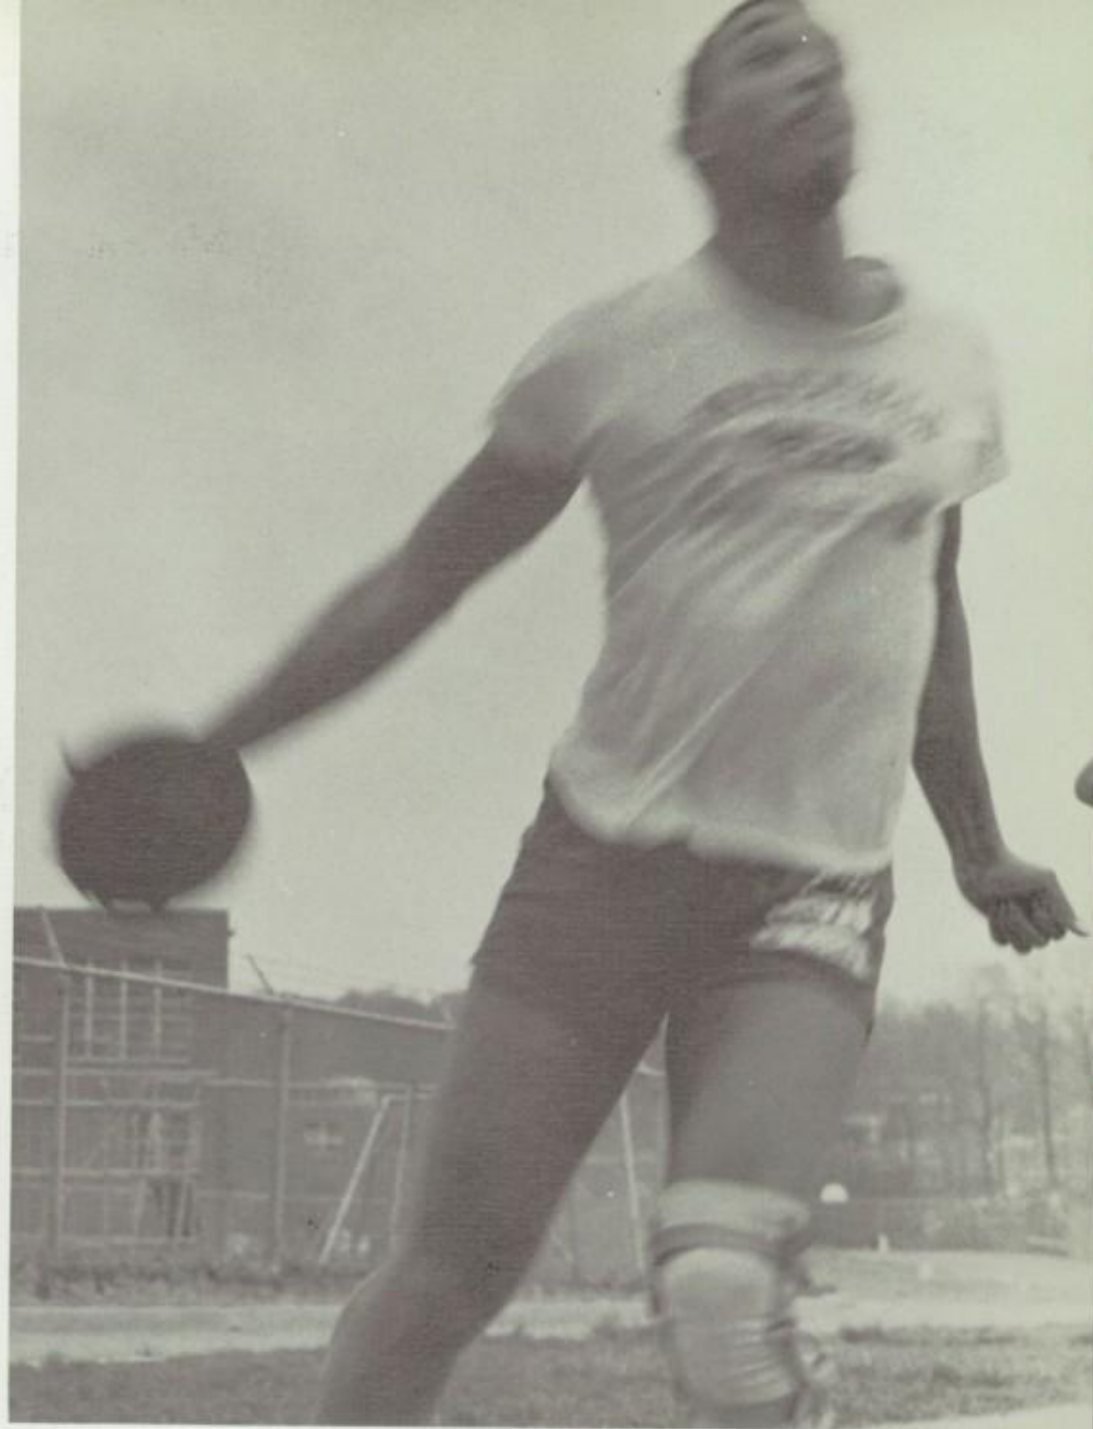

This year's Varsity Trackmen compiled an undefeated record in dual meets, and placed first in the Alexandria Memorial and the St. Johns Relays. Continuing on, the Thinclads placed second at the Hammond Relays and recaptured the District Title at T.C. Williams.

MIKE TAFTE

Mike "Taffey" bounced and somersaulted his way through various Gymnastic feats and emerged with State Championship on the Trampoline as a Junior which he matched with a State First in Free Floor Exercise as a Senior.

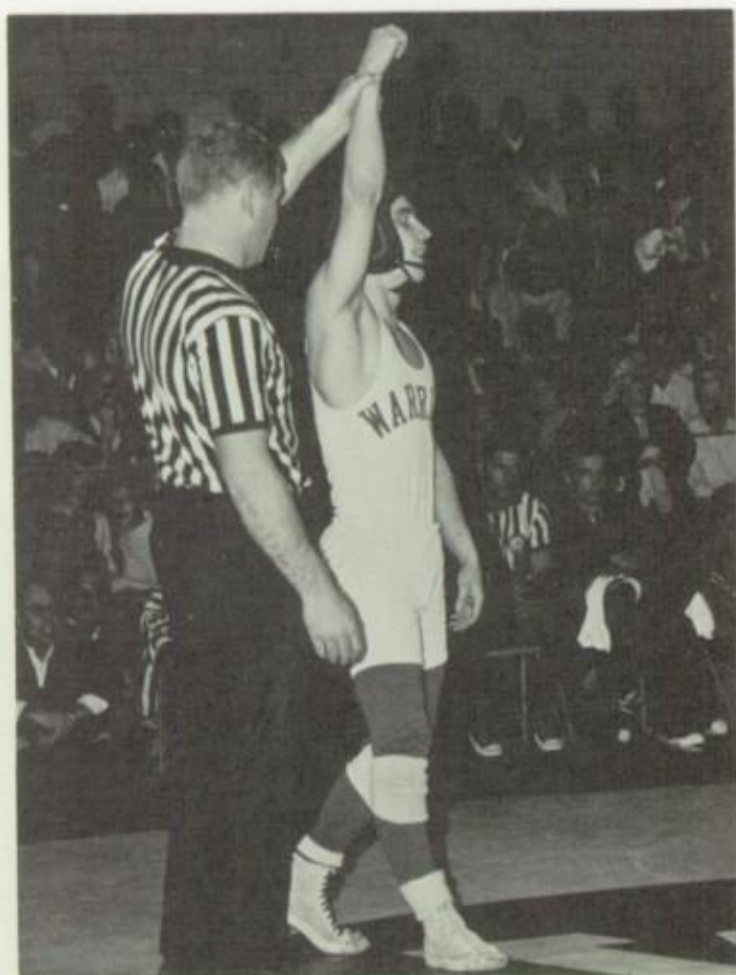

TOM MUNSON

Another "endurance enigma," Tom ran his way to Varsity letters in Track and Cross Country all three of his years at Wakefield, picking up an All-Metro selection for the latter along the way.

JIM BRADSHAW

Only a Junior, the "Animal" mangled his foes on the mats to post a fantastic 24-0 record and muscle to the District, Regional, and State Championships in the 133-lbs. class.

BOB BREWER

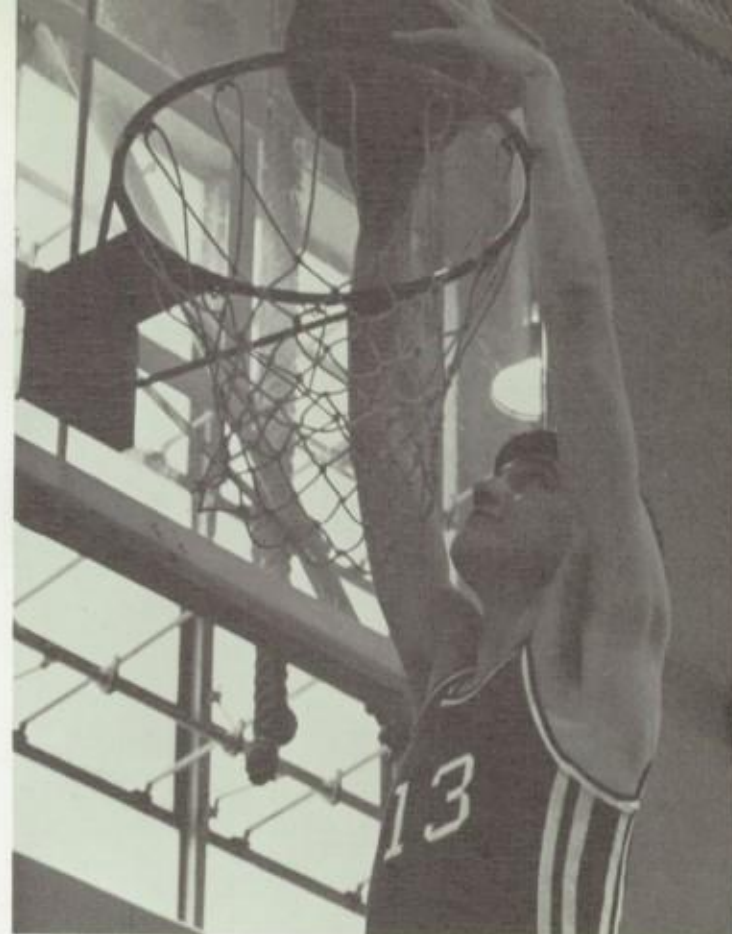

Bob gave his opponents fits on the tennis courts by racking up District Championships in his Sophomore and Junior years and teaming with Dixon Levant to take State last year in doubles competition.

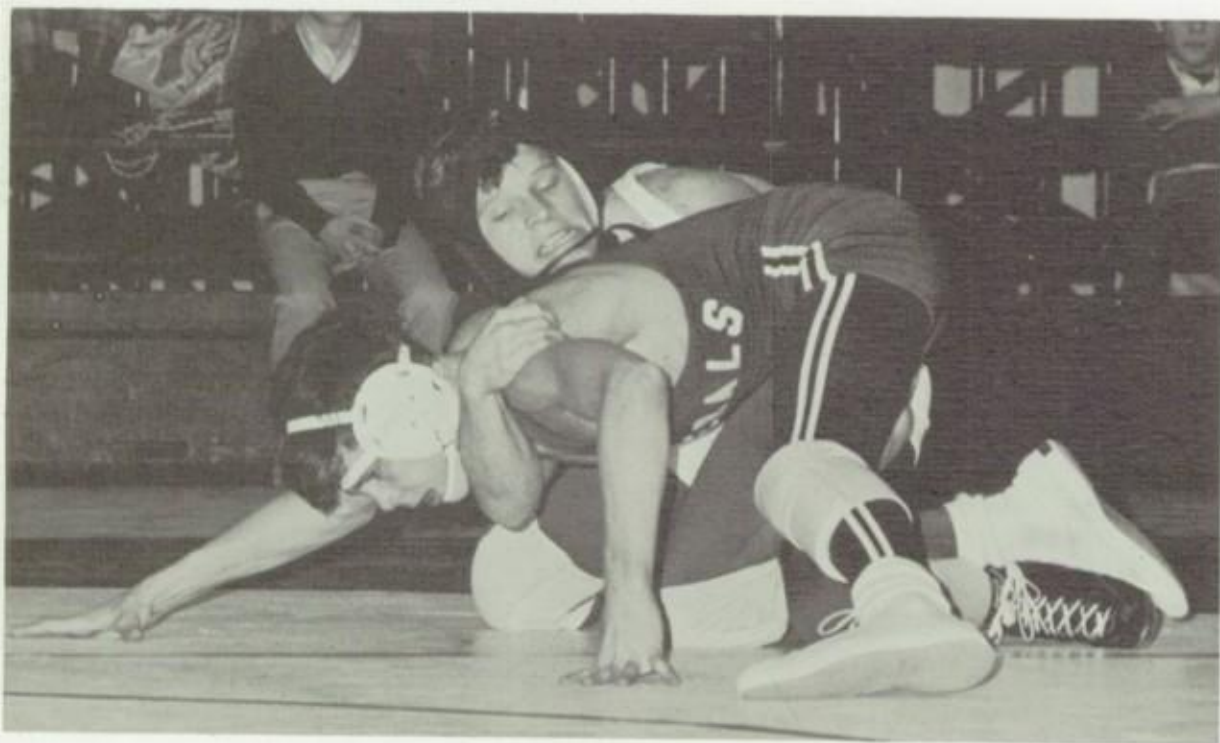

FRANK NEWBOLD

Frank ran records to death as he won the Northern Virginia Cross Country Championship three years straight and was selected to the All-Metropolitan Squad both his Junior and Senior years.

JIM WARNS

"Give it to Jim" was the familiar cry at Warrior B-Ball games. "Stick" Warns, a member of the All State Third Team, satiated his appetite for lopsided scores, intimidated opponents by his mere presence under their basket, and dazzled all with his arsenal of hot-handed shots at the other end of the court.

RICHARD TAYLOR

As a standout wrestler, Richard compiled an impressive record over his three years on the Varsity squad, taking first in the District and the Regional both his Junior and Senior years.

BOB RIVERA

The "Iron Man" lived up to his name by taking a beating on the football field last fall and coming back with the State Championship in the High Jump as an indoor track star.

LEWIS WILLIAMS

The "Happy Hurdler" proved his worth to the Track team over the past three years by consistently placing in the top five in the State in the high and low hurdles both in the Winter and Spring season.

GAA Sponsors Parent-Daughter Night

Under the direction of Miss Louise Heier, Wakefield's Girls' Athletic Association provided an opportunity for girls to participate in team competition and to develop individual skills and sportsmanship. For the first time this year, GAA held a Parent-Daughter Fun Night. Also the girls sold concessions during the Basketball season and competed with other local high schools in Activity Days. Twice a year the members held a tea and presented GAA awards to deserving girls.

Row: Jacque Wilcox, Alice Stevens, Betty Draheim, Janice Somers, Karen Perry, Terry Fury, Candy Hegvold, Betsy Clark, Mirian Schreckinger.

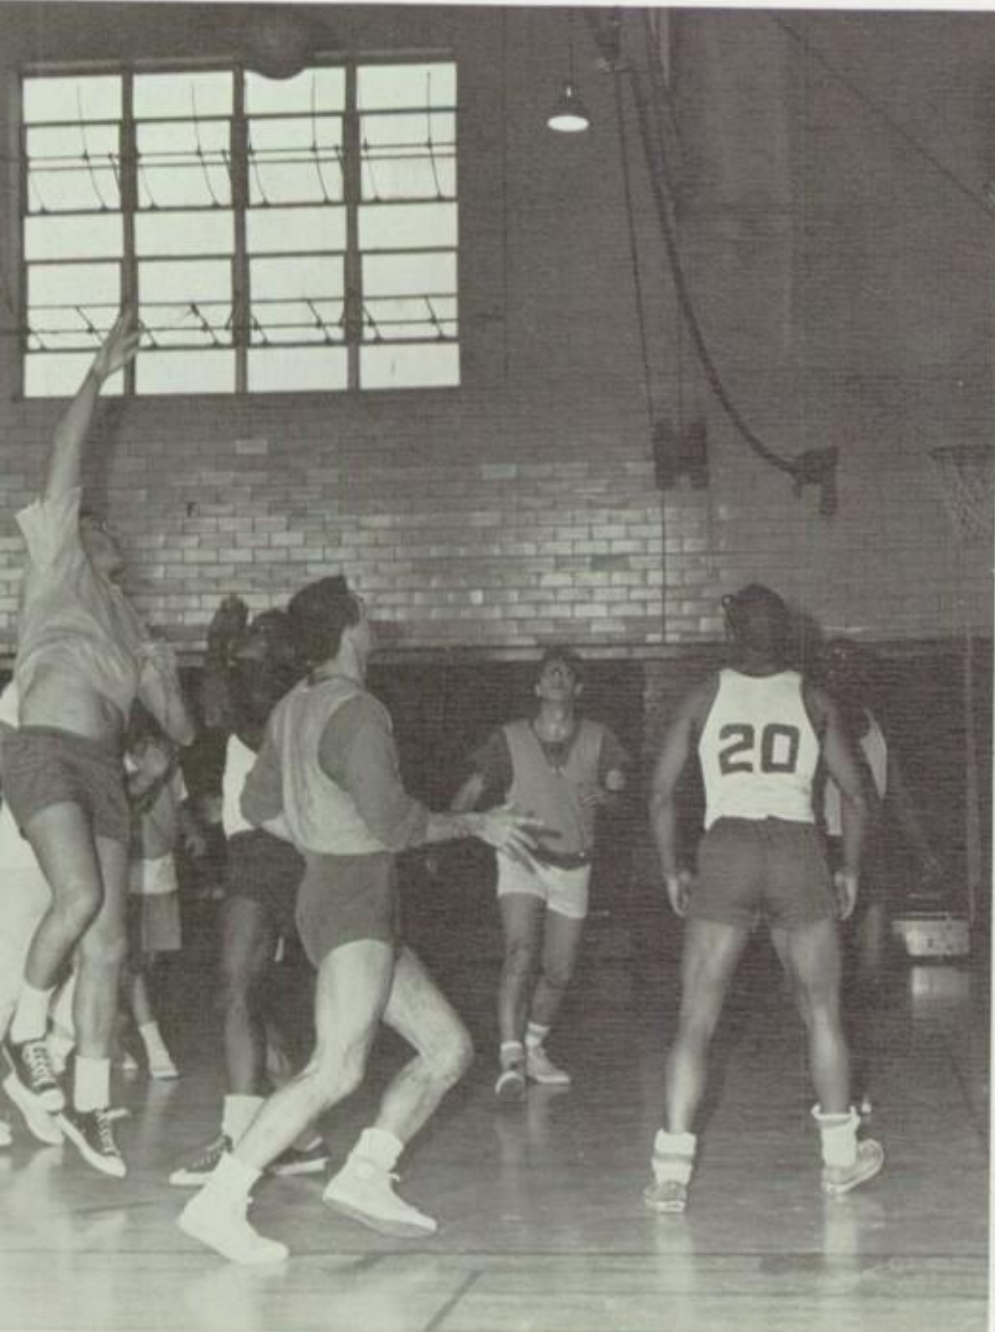

BISA Holds Cross Country Meet

"You can take the darn ball but just stop tickling me."

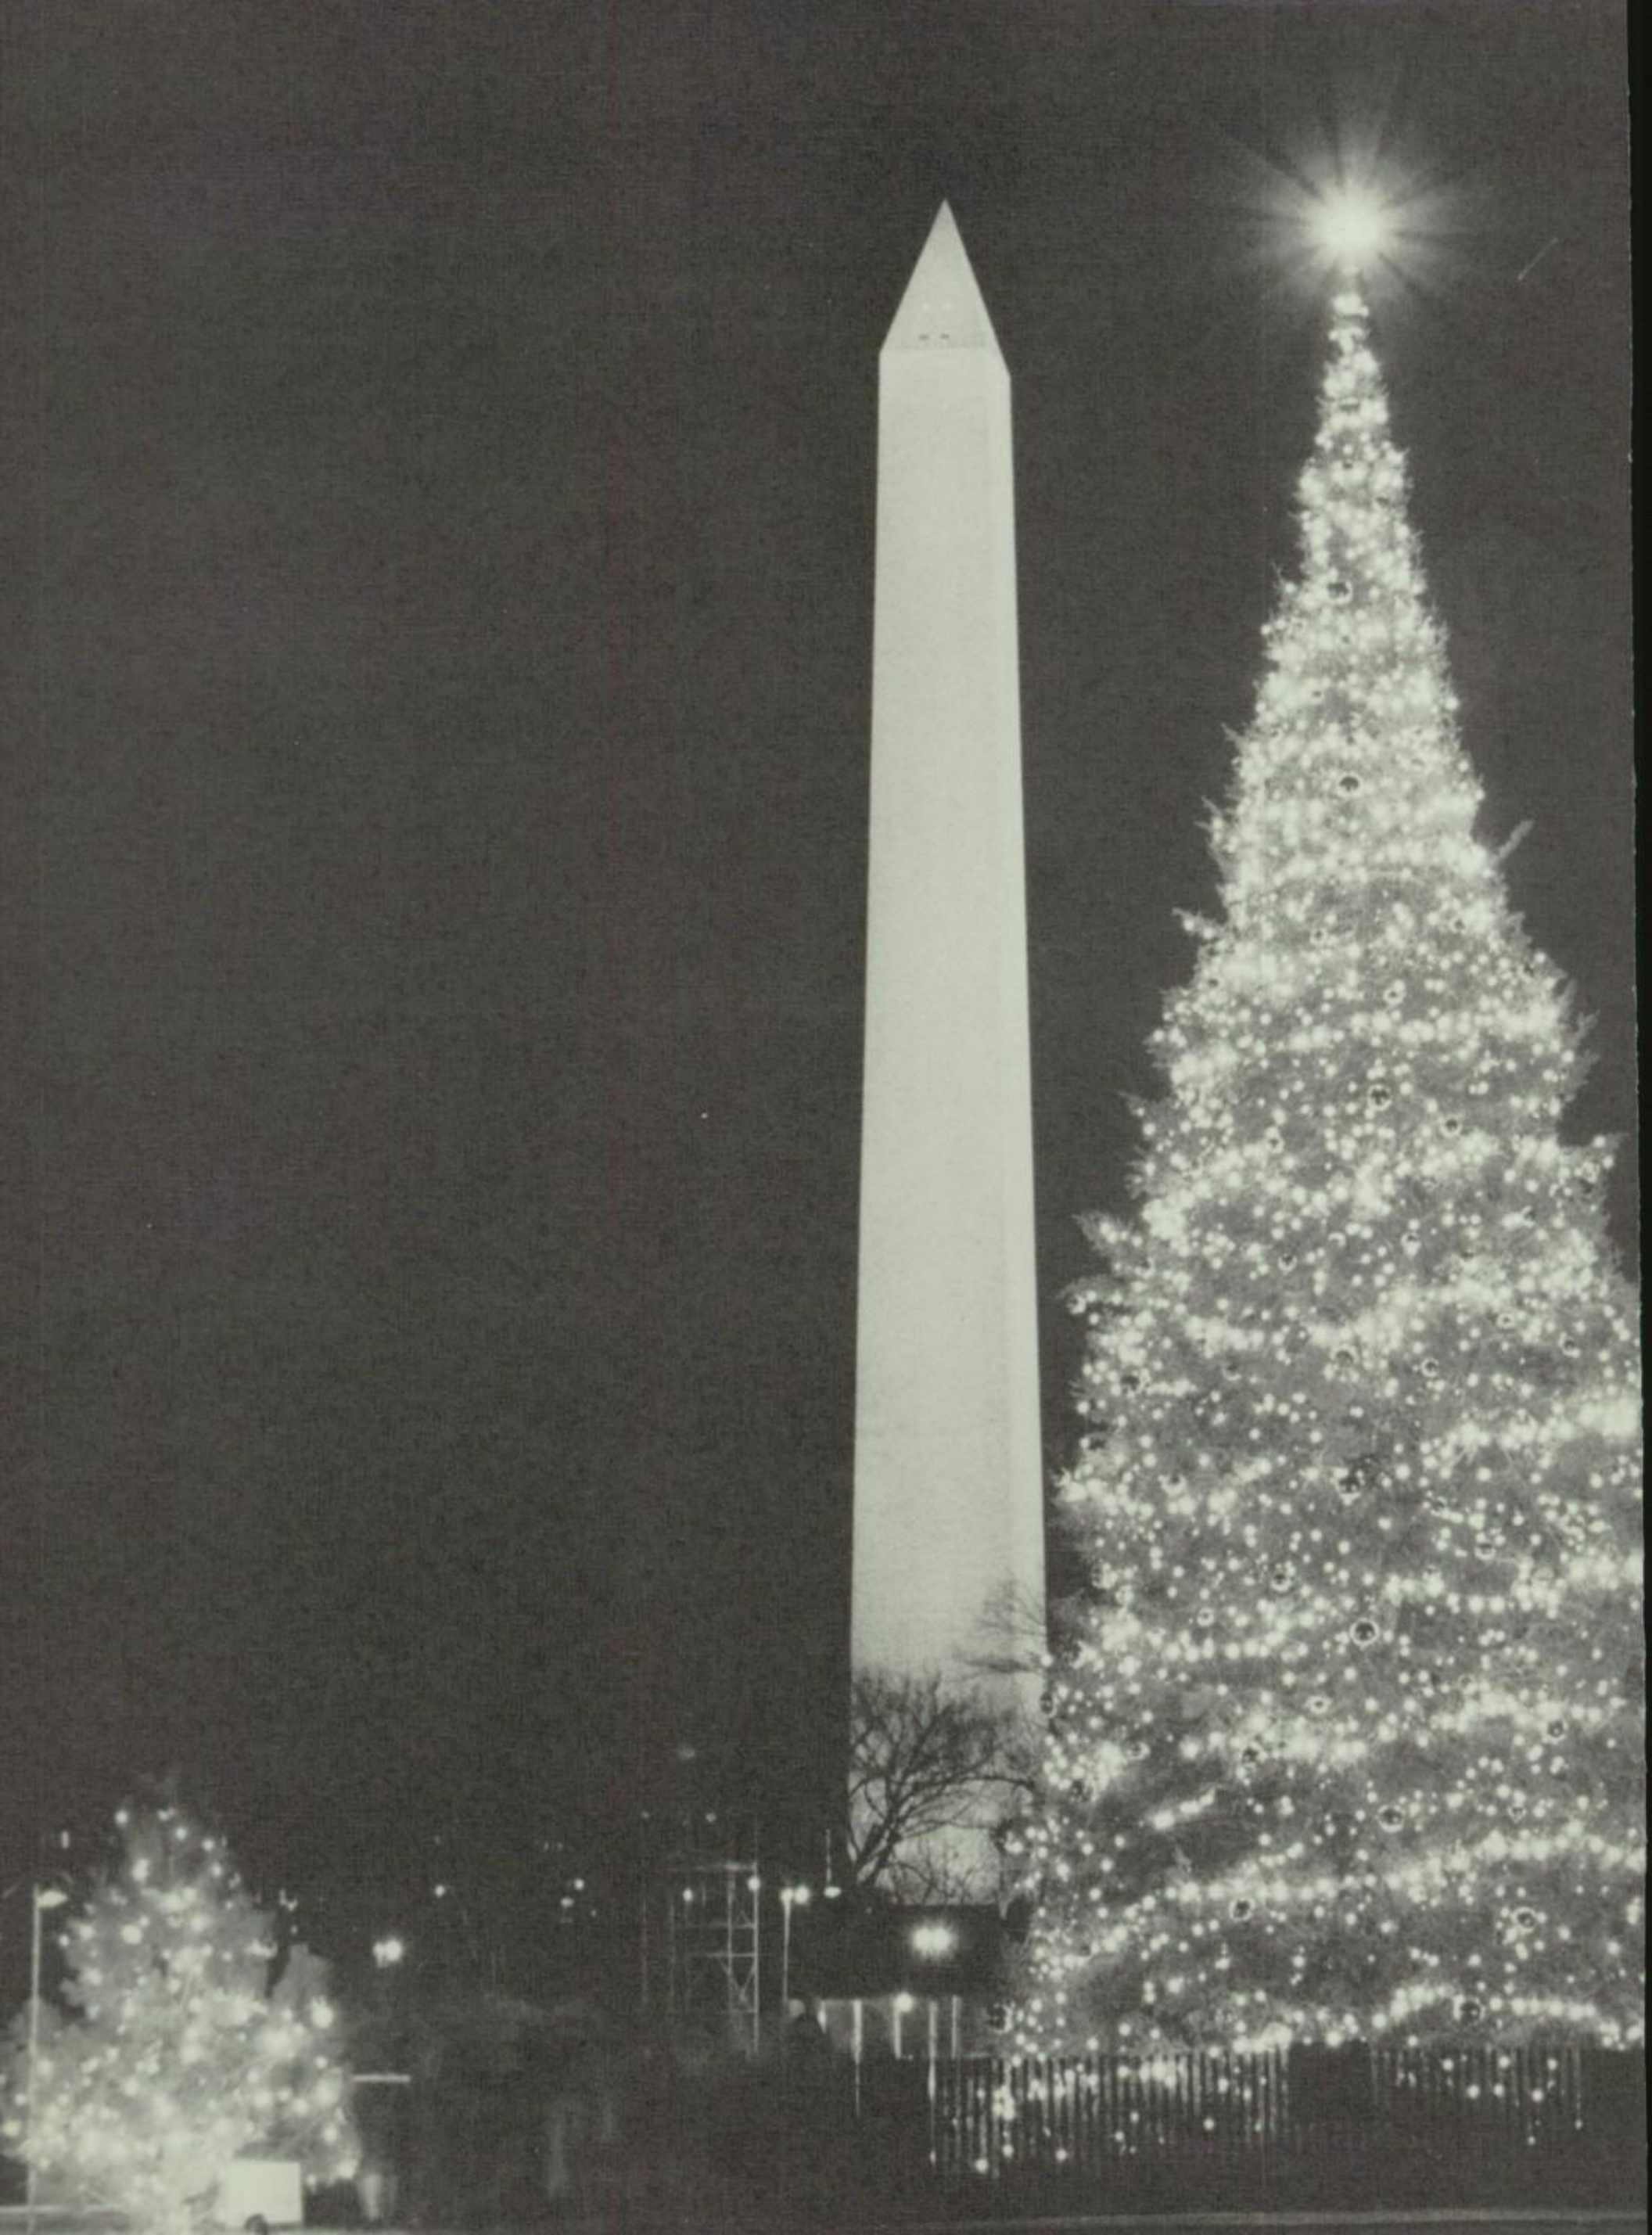

Jumping Jim Vandell hooks in a two-pointer as the Wobbly Warriors trounce the Green Valley Knicks.

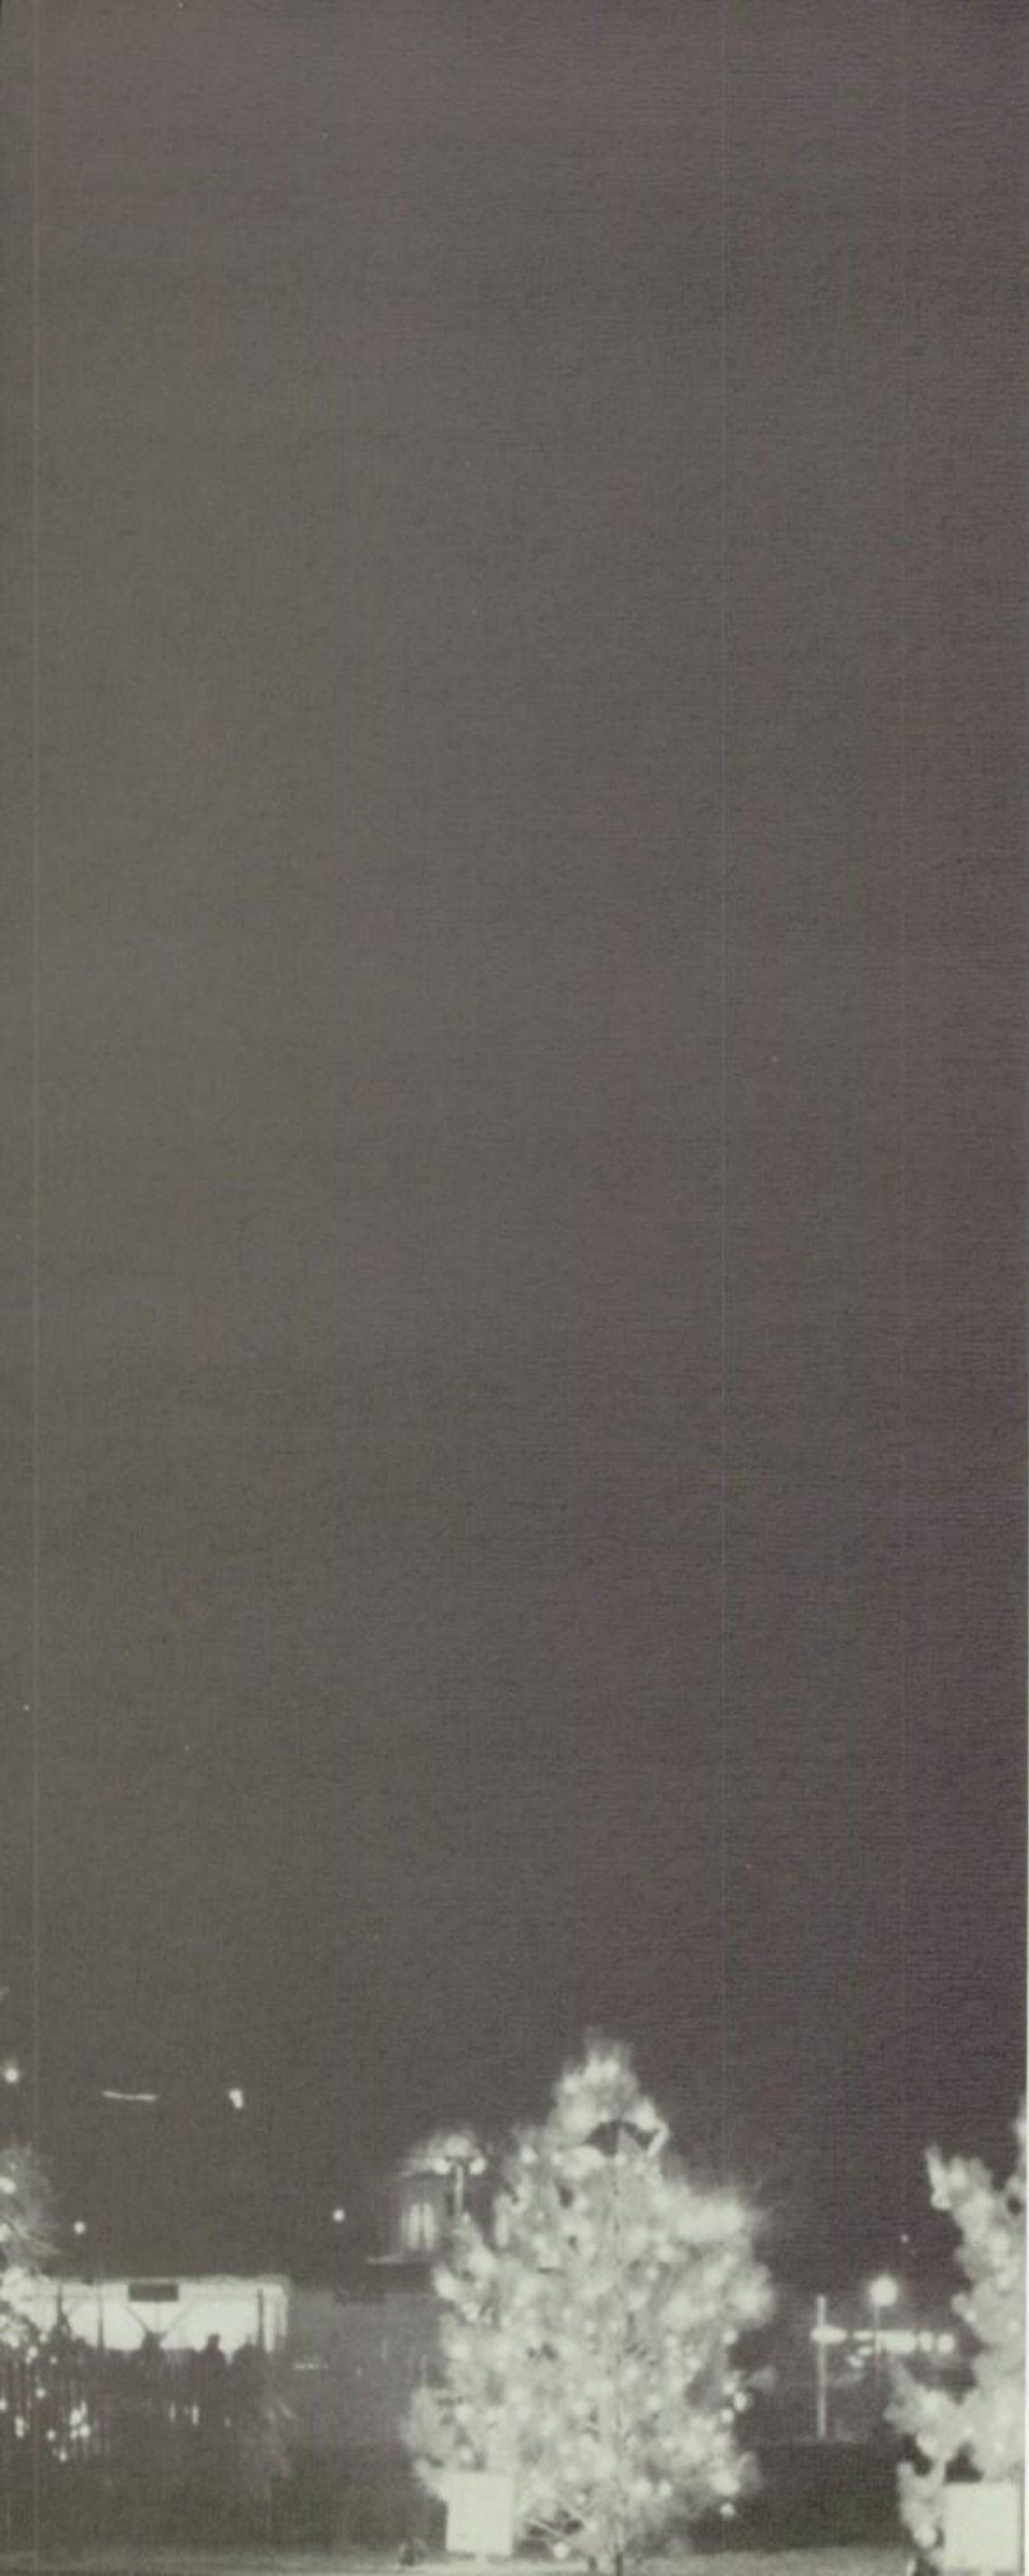

The usual wide range of sports was offered to participants in the Boy's Intramural Sports Association, plus an added attraction; a Fall Cross Country Meet. This year's basketball champions, however, departed from the usual conception of what an intramural championship team should look like, as the "Wobbly Warriors", a faculty composed team, copped the title amidst cries of "Ringers!"

Mr. Minton finds himself on the short end of his encounter with Don Randall.

Sandy, and tho' i'll knows you for a few weeks
you're a real sweet girl and i wish you'd the luck in the world with every thing you do. Take good care of Danny. i'm sure you will! i don't suppose i'll see you anymore after this week - so raise hell this summer and take advantage of your youth cause you're only young once - stay sweet and remember me sometime as Andy. "the old married woman"

Love Always,
Cindy

Sandy,

Well, it's the end of another year - a short time but long enough to have new experiences and grow-up a little. Sandy, you're a real sweet and lovely girl who seems to know what she wants and will work hard to accomplish it. Take your time and love
every minute. Good luck with Danny and have fun this summer.

IN MEMORIAM

RAYMON KLUTTS

CLASS OF 1968

P.S. You're the nicest is "the bunch".

Mr.
Florence

SANDY,
WELL, THIS YEAR HAS REALLY GONE BY TO FAST, AND A LOT HAS HAPPENED.
DON'T FORGET THOSE TIMES LAST SUMMER AT MELANIE'S. WITH MELANIE OUT
THERE DRUNK ON HER BUTT, MOODING EVERYONE. THOSE WERE THE GOOD OLD DAYS. BEFORE CACY LAYED DOWN THE LAW I HOPE YOU AND DANNY HAVE THE BEST OF LUCK. AND STAY AS SWEET AND GOOD-NATURED AS YOU ARE, AND YOU'LL KEEP HIM ALWAYS.

SEE YA THIS SUMMER, (OOOPS! NEXT YEAR!)

LOVE,

SUSAN C.

So this ends
the friendship, but not the last year. Cause I know we'll still be friends when we'll old and gray and have 50 million kids.
Always remember the good times we had in lunch and out to lunch. (and the little trips to the toilet room)

Remember the football games, the ones that we missed because we were to busy preparing for them??
The dances, parties, sponsors, and of course our loves and loves. I can't tell you that this has been the best of all cause they're all best great. But next year I hope we see more of each other and all in each others classes. Remember now next year we'll be big juniors and will be grown up so don't let me down, be a good little girl so next year you'll be a good big girl. God bless you and yours.

Love, Lynn

Handwritten notes in the top right corner, including "Lynn" and "Love".

lanky, I just can't believe how time has gone
by. I just think two months of going to the senior prom with my mind was to be going steady with the fun we've had, I hope we never lose to go through another time and Debbie but I'm sure that with Terry & me, the situation that everyone was in.
I can understand it was difficult to find anything to say well all I said that you is that I love you always heart.. you always
Donny

[illegible]

always stay that way. See ya in tomorrow morning
 I think you're one of the dullest to sit and talk to such a privilege to be
 it was really
 I may
